Messrs. Robinson & McCleary, contractors for putting down oil wells, a week or two ago drove 57 feet of 8-inch pipe in eight hours and thirty minutes.

New Buildings.

Petroleum Lodge I. O. of O. F. are about to put up a building on Main street, between Capt. Hull's building and the New York market, to be occupied as a lodge room.

We also understand that the Good Templars are about to erect a building on Washington street, to be used as a lodge room.

We are requested by Mr. John Theobald, proprietor of the Opera House Saloon, to state that on account of the non-completion of the saloon, which is being newly papered and painted, Gachwandner Tyrolean Troupe will not appear before to-morrow evening, on which occasion will be presented a new and elegant programme. Drop in to-morrow and hear them sing.

The Democratic County Convention met at Franklin, on Tuesday, and nominated the following ticket by acclamation:

For Congress—J. B. McAllister of Oil City.

For Assembly—E. L. Keenan, of Pleasant Hill.

For Jury Commissioner—D. McElpatrick, of Suddy Creek.

For County Commissioner—Pinner Harworth, of Allegheny tp.

The new well on the McCray farm yielding about 125 barrels per day. It's a good thing to have in the family.

The newspapers of Cincinnati are declaring themselves against the storage of petroleum within the city limits.

From the Lawrenceburg Independent we copy the following oil news:

The Rockingham well, in Lawrenceburg, owned by John H. Haines, of Brady's Bend and others, was sunk several weeks ago, partly through the third sand, and the tools stuck therein so tight that it was impossible to extricate them.

The Cornplater well, the engine house of which was burned some time since, continues to flow about forty barrels per day. A new boiler has been attached to the engine, the engine fixed up, an engine house erected, and everything is now in readiness for pumping; but those having charge of the well consider it best to permit it to continue to flow.

Mr. Thompson Kyle, who has an interest in the Mary Hannah well, on the Conley farm, informs us that it has averaged a production of forty barrels per day since it first commenced pumping.

The Smith & Stewart well No. 3, on the Fowler farm, has been torpedoed, and may now be estimated at forty barrels.

The Cannon well, on Big Bear Creek, is in the bottom of the third sand, with a good show of oil.

The Timblin, No. 1, on the Fowler farm, on the hill, is just about through the third sand, with a good show of oil.

The product of Parker and Lawrenceburg daily, is held at 3,000 barrels.

A Virginia negro cocked a gun and blew down the muzzle to see if it was loaded. He didn't state his conclusions, but the bystanders, who saw his head fly off, think it was.

A correspondent of the Washington Chronicle, writing up the oil regions, states that Johnny Steele, the ex-petroleum millionaire, is dead. This will be much news to Johnny, who is said to have lately received a dispatch from New York that there was $20,000 which he deposited there several years ago, and had probably forgotten all about.

STRICTLY.—James Follett, who lived near the summit of the O. C. & A. R. Ry., about miles from this city, committed suicide last night by hanging himself in his barn. He left a lengthy written communication to his friends, the contents of which we have not seen. Justice Brooks went out to look for the body of the deceased, but he has not, at the hour of writing, learned the verdict.—Corry Republican.

The Laramie Sentinel, of Saturday, publishes the following in regard to the Big Horn expedition: Judge Jones informed us that but little was known of the party since they left Camp Brown and struck out into the wilderness, further than that they were beyond the reach or hearing of friends among the hostile Indians, and the Judge expressed the belief that not one of them would ever get out alive. Judge Jones would not express such an opinion, if there were not the best grounds for apprehension of the worst.

A gentleman of the Teutonic persuasion, in this place, was asked his opinion of the oil business and defined himself thusly: "I shant tell you vat I dinks of the oil beeziness; I don't like him. I puts $25,000 in him, and I never more gets him out! Dat's vat I dinks of the oil beeziness. Now, then!"

A foot race last evening, between Grant a colored individual, and a white man from Story farm, for a purse of $50, resulted in Grant being defeated.

Mrs. Joseph Ward, of Orwell, Vermont, having eloped with William Baker, returned after some clothing, but Joseph refused to let her have any. So, because she couldnt go off dressed as well as other women, she staid at home, and wouldn't go at all.

Messrs. Boyles & Phillips, well known oil operators, have a well ready to drill on the Jas. S. McCray farm. Also, one on the Messersoll lease, Sam. Boyd farm.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Sunday last at White Oaks, a man deliberately threw himself from a boat in the river, and but for the timely efforts of a few friends, would no doubt, to-day, have been a prey to the fish. No cause is assigned for the rash act but it is supposed to have been caused by the fickleness of his betrothed.

Congress has finally passed the funding bill which provides for the issue of $200,000,000 5 per cent. bonds, $300,000,000 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, and $1,000,000,000 4 per cent. bonds, running respectively ten, fifteen and thirty years. Congress adjourns to-day.

Mary M. Miller, a girl of sixteen, residing in Reading, got herself into first class condition for a funeral by pouring coal oil into a stove to kindle a fire.

CRUDE AND REFINED.

A Pennsylvania paper tells of a local preacher who has received for salary this year nothing but a currycomb, a kog of varnish and two dozen clothes pins. Whenever his children cry with hunger he gags them with a clothes pin, scratches them with the currycomb, and lays on a coat o' varnish.

"Jenny," said a landlady to her help, the other morning, "Jenny, was there any fire in the kitchen last night, while you were sitting up?" "Only just a spark, ma'am," was the reply. The landlady looked suspiciously at Jenny, but the innocent girl went on scrubbing, and humming "Katy Darling."

Lotta was singing "Guess Who," in a Boston theatre the other night, and when she repeated the lines: "Some one I'm wishing and longing to see, Guess who, if you can, guess who," an enthusiastic individual in the parquet sprang to his feet and exclaimed: "I can't guess, but I'd give $1,000 if I was the man!"

James O'Neil was hanged on Sunday night on Brown's Bridge, nine miles from Denver, by unknown parties. A placard was attached to his body with the inscription of "cattle thief" upon it.

Dean Swift at one time proposed to put a tax on female beauty, and to leave every lady to rate her own charms. He said the tax would be cheerfully paid, and would be very productive.

Of the "poet" the miser writes: A cautious look around he stole— His bags of chink he chink— And many a wicked smile he smole— And many a wink he wunk.

The latest instance of a rose being made to smell as sweet by any other name, comes to us from Sidney, Ohio, where a young lady asked at a music store for "feline instincts for lyrical purposes."

At the late Ascot races a French attaché, over elated with the victory of his countryman's horse, Sorrettee, remarked to the Princess of Wales: "That admirable race, madame, revenged us for Waterloo." "True," answered the Princess, "But at Waterloo you ran better still."

The precious story that Lady Franklin traveled to Alaska in hopes of recovering certain papers, said to have been found there in a castaway bottle, turns out to be pure fiction. But there is more and better than romance in the fact that Lady Franklin did go there to approach as nearly as possible the region in which her noble husband was lost. He has been too long gone from among men, and she is too far gone in years, that she should now seek tidings of him on any earthly shore.

The Gardner Journal gives a pleasant account of the marriage of Miss Tennie C. Claffin, at Sycamore, Illinois, in 1861, to a James Bartle, a farolist. She was then a traveling clairvoyant, known as "The Wonderful Child," and was not over twenty-five or thirty years old.

The O. C. & A. R. Railroad Company have added two more new palace cars to their already fine lot of coaches.

On Sunday, Mr. Schilling, a saloon keeper at Corry, was attacked in his house by three Irishmen and badly cut and beaten.—He had refused to supply them with liquor.

A Pennsylvania Dutchman the other day refused to answer the Census Marshal's questions. He said: "Disch wings makes annudder nigger vates Dose fellers coming round in 1860 dish vays made de vays."

At the Titusville Driving Park, yesterday the races resulted as follows: Best 3 in 5 one-half mile heats. "Lady Brown" won the race over "Bay Bessie," the former's time being: 52 3/4, 54 and 54. In the second race "Lady Fremont" beat "Irish Mellic" in 51 1/2 seconds.

There was a general attendance of Oil Producers at their meeting held in Oil City yesterday. A full and earnest discussion on the subject of discontinuing the drilling of wells until after October 1st, 1870, was indulged in. Several lists were returned, containing the names of over two hundred producers, and information given showing that the movement was well endorsed.

DIPLOMATIC.—The editor of the Marietta Register is bothered with the Woman Question, but has hit upon the following diplomatic way of disposing of it:

- 1. If a woman is disposed to argue with us in favor woman's suffrage, we are in favor of it also. 2. If the lady happens to be against it, we are against it likewise. 3. If it is a mixed assembly of ladies, one or more on each side, they may have that among themselves—we holding the bounds.

Local Notices.

To all Coal Consumers: The undersigned fully endorses the cards published in the Record a day or two since in relation to false weight by coal dealers, and would say he is not a dealer in coal, but has scales to weigh coal or any other commodity, and will give a true bill of weight in each case. Respectfully, W. A. HULL.

Now is the best time to lay in a winter supply of hard coal. Codrington & Cornwell are the men to buy from. June 28th.
