The base ball club contested for on the 4th of July, by the Columbia Club of Story farm, and the Stevenson farm club of this place, and won by the former, through some misunderstanding only arrived yesterday, although it was ordered by Father Dunn before the 4th. The club is a fine piece of work, and has engraved upon a silver plate on the end the following inscription: "Contested and won at Petroleum Centre, July 4th, 1870."

Character Bits from the Silhouettes of Paris Life.

A CHAGRINED HUSBAND.

A certain husband who is noted at the clubs for his amiability and stupidity, entered the Rambling club the other evening, very much disturbed.

"I am all upset," he volunteered. "Why, what has happened?"

"Would you believe it? When I opened the door of my wife's bed chamber a little while ago, I found her in the arms of a par amour."

"Of course you killed them both," suggested one of the card players.

"No, I didn't do that," was the reply, "but they must have seen by the manner in which I slammed the door that I was by no means satisfied."

A POLITICAL PRINCIPLE.

A gentleman presented himself at the door of a Cabinet Minister, and the guard refused to let him in.

"It is all changed here, sir; your friend has been removed."

"Impossible," was the answer; "my friend is always the man who is in of floor."

THE MODEL HUSBAND AND FATHER.

The Paris Journal reports the following conversation between two young girls:

"If you only knew how badly papa treats mamma and me!"

"Indeed!"

"Yes, indeed. You can judge for yourself, when I was ready to be 'brought out' in society, he might have gone with me might he not? Well, instead of that, when mamma and I went to his room to find him, we discovered he had been absent from the house a whole year."

M. V. B. Fisher advertises in to-day's issue that he has bought out the store of A. S. Prather, and will continue the business at the stand on Main street. He proposes to keep constantly on hand a complete assortment of groceries and provisions, dried fruits, &c. Give him a call.

From the number of drunken men to be seen on the streets daily, we should judge the price of whisky was falling.

During the thunder storm a day or two since, considerable damage was done at West Hickory. The oil tank at the Bird well was struck by lightning, but not containing much oil but little damage was done.

"Music hath charms," &c. To hear good music visit the Opera House Saloon and listen to the singing of Gschwandner Tyrolean Troupe. As they remain here but one night more after this evening, all should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear them sing.

The O. C. & A. R. R., are building a new depot at Trunkeyville, about forty rods from the site of the old one.

SOME SNAKES.—On Tuesday last, while a man in the employ of J. G. Searles at Trunkeyville, was cutting away the grass and underbrush near the depot buildings, he came across a female garter snake quietly nestled in the grass. On killing it, there were found inside of the mother no less than sixty-seven young snakes, five inches and a half in length and about as thick as an ordinary lead pencil. The old snake measured three feet and four inches.

The hotels at Niagara Falls are not filling up very fast.

Brook trout sell in Salt Lake City at ten cents the pound.

Detroit follows Erie in organizing a young ladies' boat club.

Five hundred more Chinamen have been forwarded east from San Francisco.

The first ripe Peaches of the season have been received at Schanblom's, next door to the Eggcorn office. They are nice and no mistake.

ALMOST A ROW.—On Friday last at Trunkeyville, there came very near being a row—the circumstances being these: Mr. C. S. Richardson, who owns a tract of land adjoining the new depot, sometime since built a bridge across a small stream known as Jones Run, and on Friday last the Railroad Company sent a posse of men to tear it up, claiming that the bridge was on the Railroad Company's land, and Richardson and his friends attempted to prevent the destruction of the bridge whereupon a general row was imminent. The Sheriff was appealed to for the protection of the bridge by Richardson, but the Sheriff was powerless to do anything unless there was some overt act committed as the Company claimed the ground over which the bridge was built. It will, no doubt end in a law suit.—Forest Republican.

The Boston Post says India has a ladies' newspaper edited by a woman. Is there no part of the world that can produce a woman's newspaper edited by a lady?
