CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, dated at noon to-day says: The Conference have had 250 ballots without making a nomination.

At the Republican County Committee meeting, held at Franklin, Robt. Moffit, Esq., withdrew his name as a candidate for Jury Commissioner. Samuel McElroy, of Salem, was nominated in his stead.

At present there is a gang of sneak thieves operating in this vicinity. Last night the store of Schonblom & Wing, adjoining this office, was broken into from the back way, but nothing of value was carried away. Other houses have been entered recently and articles of value carried off, consequently it is well enough for the citizens and business men to be on the look out for these petty rascals, and if caught give them a warm reception. It would be a wise precaution to load up all the extra revolvers and guns about the house and let the thieves have the contents whenever they "put in an appearance." A little killing will cure them.

Last night Peter Nolan and Geo. Baker, having from that paradise on earth, according to the immaculate correspondents of the Oil City Times, Rousseville, came up to this place to have some "fun with the boys." Before leaving paradise for Petroleum Centre they indulged in divers and sundry "noggins of benzine," and their spirits rose in proportion as the spirits went down. Upon arriving in town they imbibed vast quantities of fire water, and like the Indian imagined they weighed a ton apiece, and concluded to tear down the town and commenced business at the upper end of the street, only to be interrupted by our efficient night watchmen and taken to the lock-up, after considerable resistance, where they now languish awaiting an examination. It appears they had been in the habit of visiting Oil City and doing as they pleased on the street without fear of arrest, consequently concluded they could do the same here, in which they were mistaken.

WAIFS FOR THE LADIES.

The lady who bordered on distraction is going to try real thread lace.

The way to get a good wife—Get a good girl and go to the parson.

The prettier the foot and ankle, the easier it gets up stairs.

A female tooth-carpenter is the last development of "the movement in Kansas.

Miss Symes, a wealthy lady of Montreal, now in Rome, has given the Pope $8,000.

Chinese ladies go calling with square pieces of red paper for cards.

A Trenton lady of high family lately died of delirium tremens.

Female undertakers are becoming quite numerous in Philadelphia.

An eccentric chuck—Chuckling an old maid under the chin.

A woman with a hand organ is one of the newest arrivals at Newport.

A New Albany, Ind., lady is building a $45,000 hotel.

The President of Misma College has directed the young lady students to refrain from whistling in the halls.

Though men boast of holding the reins, the women generally tell them which way they must drive.

A dress for the concert room—Organdie muslin with fluted bouffants.

Red Clouds wife is as straight as an arrow. Her name is The Woman Without the Bow, or, as we say in English, the woman without the Grecian bend.

In the Connecticut legislature, the other day, the Rev. Olympia Brown received one vote for major general of the state militia.

Miss Rose Ellis is the best shot in Scott county, Indiana. She is described as 17, and as "pretty as a pink."

If a man's wife has a complaint to make, her husband should give her a herring. If that won't do, give her a pair of them.

A one legged woman, who claims to be the daughter of a very distinguished confederate general, and to have lost her leg while acting as a rebel spy, is soliciting pecuniary contributions in Indiana.

A brute of a bachelor, on being informed that "marriages are made in heaven," said he wished that a prohibitive duty had prevented their export from the place of their manufacture.

The sole object of a certain ladies' society in Louisville, Ky., is to provide employment for women in indigent circumstances.

A housekeeper in East Pointney, Va., states that one can live comfortably on one dollar a week; and that, when she lives at the rate of two dollars a week, "it is good enough for the table of a prince." It would be interesting to have the details of that style of housekeeping.

OIL IN MISSOURI.—A very flattering prospect for petroleum is found about four miles west of Quincy, in Hickory county, Missouri. The discovery of the richness of the prospect was made by a Mr. Henry of Wheatland, late of the oil region of West Virginia. The neighbors have been in the habit of greasing their wagons with oil found there some time past. Messrs Henry and Cooke have leased the lands for twenty years, and have sent for machinery to open wells. Mr. Henry has had large experience in the oil region in West Virginia, and is very sanguine of success. He also discovered another good prospect near Humansville a short time ago. Coal oil has been struck in many parts of Vernon County in boring for water. Messrs Fuller, Jones, Pinegar, Nash and four other farmers in the same neighborhood, all living Southwest of Nevada, have bored wells from which oil in small quantities was obtained at first. But their object being to obtain water, the wells were partly refilled in order to shut out the oil.

NEW WELL.—McCray & Donaghy well No. 1, Jas. S. McCray farm, mention of which we made yesterday as being nearly ready to test, commenced pumping last night and is now yielding 50 barrels per day and increasing. It will be remembered that this was the first well that was put down on the bluff territory of this farm and when nearly completed the tools were lost in the well, and were not taken out until within a few days past. The well has a strong volume of gas, and acts at starting similar to the other big wells on the farm.

TITUSVILLE RACES.—The races in Titusville yesterday, for horses that have never beaten 2:40 was won by Black Mac. Time, 2:44 3/4, 2:45, 2:46. The three minute race was won by the sorrel gelding. Time, 2:48 2:14, 2:41. The half mile running race was won by Belle Mabone. Time, 51, 53, 55.

The superintendent of the Special Services Division of the Postoffice Department has gone to Omaha to complete the postal railway service on the Pacific Railroad from Omaha to San Francisco.

Latest and Most Important War News.

London, August 23—9 p. m.

General headquarters of the French army, Sunday night, were a few miles west of Rheims. Edmund Texier writes thence to the Siecle that the deepest depression prevails and the Emperor receives nobody.

The object of Prince Napoleon's visit to Florence was to protest against the neutrality of Italy.

The extraordinary forces called out by the Swiss government are returning to their homes to protect the neutrality of the country.

Details of the battle of the 18th at Gravelotte are still wanting even at Berlin.

German dispatches to-day are meagre, but from them we gather that the military situation is as follows: The Twelfth Prussian Corps is now between Metz and Thionville and serves to keep up communication between Prince Frederick Charles and Steinmetz. The fortress of Metz is enclosed on all sides and communications between Chaligny and Paris are cut off. The headquarters of the Crown Prince are at Basle Duc.

McMahon and Falley are still retreating to cover Paris.

London, August 23

The following dispatch has just been received from Alexandria: The Prussian frigate Herta, carrying 28 guns, has been captured by the French. No particulars given.

Herbert Bismarck, one of the sons of the Prussian Prime Minister, was wounded in the foot, and his brother William had his horse killed under him.

The Standard's correspondent is confident Paris will be defended even if bombardment takes place.

The Post is authorized to deny the letter published yesterday, said to have been written by Queen Victoria to the Empress.

The prize promised by the Prussian government to the captor of the first French gun has been awarded to a sergeant of the Prussian Fifth, and Goelitz Rifles.

A letter from Baden, published here to-day, says the French peasants as so fanatical as to perish in wells.

An Alsace correspondent of the Daily News says: In the battle of the 18th the French were flung back on St. Quentin and Gravelotte villages, in the neighborhood of Metz, where the hostilities of the past ten days have occurred.

The war news in the London morning papers is meagre.

The bombardment of Toul has been commenced.

The Emperor's headquarters are now at Rheims.

McMahon's headquarters are at Conticelles.

Paris, August 23.

Journals to-day say that a dispatch has been received here from Bazaine in which the Marshal declares his intention of remaining near Metz, without giving fuller explanations. The dispatch admits that Bazaine's communications were at one time broken, but asserts they are now secure.

From all appearances the first bit of British America that "inevitable destiny" is likely to annex to the United States, is the region of the Red River of the North, though it must be confessed that the people of the Dominion of Canada are making rapid strides towards representation in the Senate and House of Representatives at Washington. Riel's fiasco is said to have terminated in an attempt at a closer political union between the Red River country and the Dominion, but unfortunately topography interferes with that. By land and water, by railroad, steamboat, forest trail and bark canoe, it is farther from Ottawa to Fort Garry, through British possessions than it is from Washington, via the United States, to Fort Garry. Not in actual distance, maybe, but in time and in facilities for travel. To get around this difficulty some enthusiastic Britons have proposed to build a railroad from Ottawa to the Red River and on through British territory to the Pacific. Imagine a railroad through the rough, wintry and almost tenantless country north of Lake Superior. It would certainly be the most wonderful achievement of English engineering, for it would be the most expensive work yet attempted and would not need a station oftener than every five hundred or one thousand miles. The fact is, there is only one avenue of communication between the people of Riel's late dominion and the civilized world, and that is via the United States, and the Red River valley. As we said above, topography interferes with Canadian schemes and is the strongest ally of American annexation.

The police should accommodate the young men who go about our streets at night, singing "Put me in my little bed."
