A SAD CASE. -- Some five years ago a drug Latest and Most Important gist named Reid, residing in Union county, Pa , met a young lady at Petroleum Centre with whom he became enamored, and subsequently married in Jamestown, N. Y .---She is a native of Richmond, Va., where she resided during the rebellion, and only came North, homeless and frieodless, after having lost her father and brothers in the terrible conflict. From Jamestown they went to Phindelphis, where he engaged in business, and where they lived together for eight or bine months. At the end of that period be instituted proceedings for a divorce in the courts of that city, but for some reason best known to himself the case was abandoned. He then deserted ber, and travalled about the country, followed by his wife. At times he would live with her for short periods. In Corry he lived with her for two weeks. Then he would suddenly step out, leaving, as she soys, the bills to be settled by her. This state of things continued until about two years ago, when in Williamsport, in this State, he applied for a depree of alvorce, and she having no notice of the proceedings, falling to appear and defend, it was granted. She tollowel him from place to place, socking to obtain those rights which, in her ignorance of the divorce, she supposed she was entitled to. At this time he was engaged as a "drummer" for a New York house, and as she proved herself a greater inconvenience than ever, he determined to rid himself of ber at all bazards.

About two weeks ago she went to Erie. learning that he was intending to visit that city, and on Saturday last had him arrested for desertion. When brought face to face with; him at the Justice's office, she learned for the first time of the divorce. In her excitement she tried to shout him, but the pistol failed to go off and she was prevented from injuring him. On Monday she was arrested at the Corry depot by her former husband, ou a charge of trying to shoot him, but the matter was arranged and she was allowed to depart. Yesterday she made her appearance in Oil City, where she stated she was in pursuit of her late hunband with the firm intention of killing him on sight. Persons who conversed with her state that she talked rationally but her personal appearance seemed to indicate that she was not entirely in her right mind. We give the facts as we glean them, mostly from the Corry Binde, and do not know which is the really aggrieved party.-Oil City Times.

The man Reid spoken of above is known to many hereabout having been engaged in business in this place for some time .-ED.

One or two new wells on the McCray farm will soon be completed.

A new well is to be put down on the flats of the Daizell farm, below the race course.

ELWOOD'S FEMALE MINSTRELS. -- This popular troupe will return to this place on October 10th and give one entertainment at Sabel's Hall. We doubt not they will re- outs of the various charges to the churches ceive warm welcome as their entertainment in this place a few days since was a very popular one, filling Sobel's Hall to repletion.
