NEW WELLS .- Our old friend Adams is again in luck to the tune of 250 barrels of oil per day. McCray & Adams well No. 2. McCray farm, was completed yesterday, tubed last night, and commenced testing at midnight, striking oil almost immediately after pumping began. She is now yielding a good 250 barrels per day. The well has about 42 feet of third eand-rock, and a strong volume of gas. We are pleased to again record Mr. A.'s good fortune. Knowing the history of his hard struggles against the tide of ill-luck that almost engulphed bim, as most of our citizens do, his success has caused rejoicing among his friends, who could not be much better pleased had they struck big wells themselves. We hope his good fortune may continue.

Phillips & Boyles well No. 5, McCray farm, was also completed and tubed last tionaries thinking they are doing some night. At starting it yielded nothing, and neighboring store a favor. many predicted a "dry hole." Upon drawing the tubing, however, it was found that the valves in the working-barrel were clogged up. This detect was remedled and the well commenced pumping this morning at the rate of 250 barrels per day. It promises to be one of the largest wells on the bill.

Mr. James Mackaral, who it will be remembered had his foot badly crushed on the railroad, at Boyd Farm, a few days since, suffered the amputation of his leg yestercovery are exceedingly doubtful.

Growth of Petrolia, On t.

Less than half a dozen years since the oll wells at Petrolia were few and the vii. lage hardly commenced, while the scattered population toiled at their respective occupations scarcely knowing each other. Five years the coming December, on the occasion of a visit to this place, we had to din e at a private house, and the main street of the village had the appearance of a concession road. But now hotels, business places and private residences present a pleasing appearance, and the whole population is believed to be bordering upon 4,000. The spirit of enterprise is visible in every direction, and the people are not more worldlings, as the commodious churches, religions bodies, town hall, public halls and excellent schools prove. The lock-up is seldom occupied, crime is of rare occurence ig this place and vicinity. As to oil wells, they can now be counted in groupes by the score, and refineries have grown to be institutions of the place. New wells are almost daily commenced, capital liberally supplied, and employment given to the masses; thus is prosperity ensured, and the spirit of progress is onward. While it will be our cheerful duty to record the oil yield | and development, it will be gratifying to be enabled from time to time to notice the general improvement not only of Petrolia and neighborhood, but also the whole Dominion .- Petrolia (C. W.) Adver-

BLOWN OUT OF DOORS .- At Corry a few nights since, a merchant in Seneca street gave an impromptu exhibition of the uses of gas. Of course everybody was proud of having the illuminator started, and of course some of the gas pipes leaked. The merchant's store smelled | especially strong. and it appeared to be densest in the box shaped show window. Some one advised bim to light a match, so as to ascertain where the leak was, and, holding his nose while performing the operation, be went to the in side of the window, struck a match, andlanded on his back on the pavement, with broken glass all around him. He now considers the expediency of hunting for gas lenks with lighted matches as more than questionable

A reminiscence of Farragut tella this temperance lesson for young men by the old Admiral: "At the same dinner, taking in hie hand a glass of wine, he said to me, 'The wine goes round pretty freely tonight. I take a glass with my dinner, but when going into action, I never allow myself to take a drop of any kind of stimulant. For when my country has frusted me with grave responsibilities. I could not bear the thought of doing anything that might lead me to distrust myself, or might shake the confidence of officers and men in my command. To do my duty I must respect my-

Well No. 4 on lease No. 3, Tuttle farm, West Hickory, which was struck a few days since and started with a production of ten barrels per day is now doing seventy-five barrels. This well is owned by Messra. Fisher, Grosdock & Herrington.

The well at Reno struck day before yesterday, and reported at 250 barrels per day is doing about 200 barrels. It is reported that this well is but 375 feet deep, which would not indicate long life according to previous experience.
