By a dispatch from Painesville, O., we learn that two nitro-glycerine magazines containing 15,000 pounds, exploded at Fairport, about half-past four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

In this connection we are informed by Mr. Mason, agent of the Roberts Torpedo Company in this place, that there is not at present 2,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine in the country, consequently the price of torpedoes for oil wells will be high this winter.

The installation of Rev. David Patton and services connected therewith, at the Presbyterian Church, this evening, promise to be of a very interesting character.

A Japanese rabbit, otherwise known as a skunk, imprudently got in the way of a Patterson train Thursday night, and was chewed up in a twinkling.

THE PETROLEUM TRADE.

It is gratifying to learn, from statistics which have been furnished to us, that the European war has not interfered with the export of petroleum—one of our most profitable products.

As Philadelphia is the great petroleum port, we take the official figures of the exports from that city as a fair indication of the trade at other ports.

Table comparing petroleum exports from Philadelphia in 1869 and 1870, listing Crude, Refined, Benzine, and Naptha gallons and values.

The aggregate shipments of all kinds foot up 35,938,777 gallons, against a total of 21,989,748 gallons in the corresponding period of 1869—an increase of 13,949,031 gallons.

The exports of refined petroleum in the corresponding periods to different countries were as follows:

Table listing petroleum exports to various countries like England, Ireland, Gibraltar, British West Indies, Spain, Cuba, Porto Rico, North Germany, France, Holland, Mexico, Italy, Venezuela, Belgium, Uruguay, Russia, Denmark, Portugal, Sweden, Austria, Dominion of Canada, Brazil, Dutch West Indies, and Liberia for 1869 and 1870.

The yield of petroleum keeps pace with the demand and has been steadily increasing of late. During the month of September the daily product was 19,429 barrels, the monthly aggregate being an increase of 7,000 barrels, compared with September, 1869.

"THE PANCAKE SEASON."—A Chicago Bohemian indulges in delightful anticipations after this puny style: "The delightful pancake season dawns upon us—the season of cold mornings, hot grid irons, and the pantomimic flourish of a turning shovel thereover.

Do not forget the entertainment to be given by the Junior Dramatic Association, at the Catholic School House, this evening. As it is gotten up for the benefit of the school, to aid in purchasing a library, all friends of education should attend and aid a worthy cause.

NEW WELLS.—Well No. 12, Phillips & Boyles lease, McCray farm, commenced testing last night, getting but a few barrels of oil at starting.

PERSONAL.—We notice the genial countenance of our old friend, Rev. J. T. Oxtoby, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church at this place, in town to-day.

The new well at Fagundas City, mention of which we made a day or two since, is now yielding 325 barrels per day.

"When a steady, well-behaved young man is seen shaking hands with a pump, and bidding it an affectionate good night or saying, 'Poor old Corblion Robscrew,' there may be faint apprehensions that he has been 'taking something.'"

Latest and Most Important War News.

London, Nov. 1. The Germans will open the bombardment of Paris with 250 siege guns. Bazaine's order of the day announcing the capitulation of Metz, is published. It justifies the act, and exhorts the troops to submission.

Tours, Nov. 1. Francoise says: The popular feeling toward Napoleon's dynasty is not mere coldness, but hatred and contempt. The women's club at Marseilles propose to erect a guillotine, and behead the Bishop of that city as a beginning of the work.

A negro visitor to Ames's circus in Macon, Georgia, backed up against an animal cage and lost a liberal pound of flesh from the bite of a chained bull dog. He sued out an attachment for $1,000 damages, and Sheriff Martin went down to serve it. In the exercise of his legal right, Colonel Ames pointed out a fine Bengal tiger, and told the Sheriff to "level" on that. He didn't do it.

FATAL BURNING ACCIDENT.—An accident of a very distressing nature occurred at Miller Farm, October 1st, by which a very estimable old lady named Mrs. Moore came to her death in a most shocking manner. In attempting to start a fire by pouring oil out of a can into the stove, the can instantly exploded, saturating her clothes with the burning liquid.

An exchange inveighs against scolding as follows, but forgets that some people take great store of comfort in the exercise, but here is his piece:

What good does scolding do? It does no one the least service but it creates infinite mischief. Scolded servants never do their work well, their tempers are aroused as well as their mistress's, and they very often fall in their duties at awkward moments, simply to spite her and "serve her out."

A hummer boasted that he could tell any kind of liquor, blindfolded, merely by the taste. He tried one kind after another and readily named them. At last a glass of water was handed him. He tasted it, hesitated, tasted it again, smelt it, retasted it, and then said, "I give it up. That's a brand of liquor I never got hold of before!"

An Illinois ghost that had become a midnight terror, was effectually "laid" last week by a charge of buckshot lodged in his phantomatic backards.

"How long do you wear a shirt?" severely asked an inspecting officer of a soldier. "Twenty-seven inches, sir," was the respectful reply.
