Election News.

Hall's Majority for Mayor of New York 23,810.

New York, Nov. 10-1 p. m. Complete returns from the city give Hall for Mayor, 23,810 majority.

Breenan, for Sheriff, 42,292 majority. Lowe, for County Clerk, 41,336 majority.

Hoffman's majority, for Governor, in the city 49,405.

The Express, Dem., claims the election of 15 Congressmen out of 32 voted for. Democratic gain of three.

New York and Brooklyn elect 9 Democrat Congressmen.

New York, Nov. 10-3 p. m. The returns up to this hour indicate that Hoffman is elected by a little over 30,000.

All the Republican gains were made here and in Brooklyn, and the losses were sustained by the apathy of the country. But for the action of the federal government, Hoffman's majority would have been 60,000.

An Advertising Parson.

[From Punchinello.]

There is nothing like judicious advertising—at least, we have been told this often enough to believe it. So thinks a Pennsylvania parson, who advertises in a newspaper as follows:

"Cupid and Hymen. The little brown cottage at Cambridge, Pa., is the place to call to have the marriage-knot promptly and strongly tied. Inquire for Rev. S. J. Whitcomb."

While he was about it, why didn't the Rev. Whitcomb advertise the other jobs for which orders might be left at the same shop? Why didn't he say: "Funerals attended with neatness and dispatch?" or "Gentlemen about to leave the world, will be waited upon at their own residences without additional charge?" or "Cases of conscience adjudicated upon the most reasonable terms?" or "A fine assortment of moral advice just received, and for sale in lots to suit purchasers?" Let the Rev. Whitcomb take our hint, enlarge the field of his advertising, and make lots of the Mammon of Unrighteousness.

Out on the Union Pacific road, not long since, a Kickapoo Indian saw a locomotive coming down the track at the rate of forty miles an hour. He thought it was an imported breed of buffalo, and was anxious to secure it, so as to take the prize to the annual exhibition of the Kickapoo Agricultural Society. So he fastened one end of his lasso to his waistbelt, and when the engine got near enough, he threw the noose nicely over the smoke stack. Perhaps it is not necessary, but we may as well relate that the locomotive did not stop. The engineer and fireman witnessed the most successful attempt to do the flying trapeze made by any Kickapoo Indian upon the plains since the first of last January. There was an aboriginal funeral at the next station when the engine arrived. The grave was not large, for they only buried a small piece of copper colored meat tied to a string and inclosed in a sardine box.

The last "big strike" at Brady's Bend, has dwindled down from 1200 barrels per day to less than one hundred, the Pittsburgh Commercial's correspondent to the contrary notwithstanding. We learn this from good authority.

Mr. Tom. McDonald, the popular livery stable keeper, is looking out for winter already, by purchasing a number of new cutters and sleighs, buffalo robes, sleigh bells, and other articles necessary to enjoy a sleigh ride. His stock of horses is as fine as the oil region affords. "Tommy" is always up to the times and looking after the wants of his patrons. Give him a call.

Dr. Winger has cleaned out the old well on the Jamison Flats, and it is now yielding five barrels of oil per day. This well was put down last year, and yielded at one time 25 barrels per day, but the production at length decreased so as to oblige the proprietors to shut it down. Dr. Winger proposes to torpedo it soon. We hope it will prove a good well, as the Dr. has put down quite a number of wells during the past year, and has not made any very big strikes.—Forest Reporter.

The Titusville Herald's monthly petroleum report for October appeared this morning. The average daily production for October is estimated at 29,123 barrels, an increase of 640 barrels per day over September.

The reporter of the Titusville Courier, in an oil report published this morning, places the daily production of the J. S. McCray farm at 26,862 barrels!

Pittsburgh has eighty-five houses of prostitution, and considers hers inferior even at that figure.

Versailles via London, Nov. 9.

On Monday a detachment of the Ninth Prussian Infantry encountered a body of Gascles Mobile at Brittainy, between Boulogne and Chemy.

The French lost seventy killed and wounded and forty prisoners.

The Germans had two men wounded.

The Prussian forces have occupied Mount Medarek without meeting any resistance, and placed it in a state of defence as accessory to the siege of Belford.

New York, Nov. 9.

A Tribune special at Versailles, writing on the 5th inst., says:

In military circles Thier's mission was never thought serious.

His efforts to enter Paris without seeing Bismarck having failed, he was obliged to carry with him a preliminary, which practically forbids an armistice.

In Paris he was badly received.

Street crowds showed him great ill will as the bearer of news that Metz had capitulated.

A guard was required for his protection, and finally he left the city with an escort of cavalry.

Favre, who was to have accompanied him excused himself at the last moment on account of the threatening aspect of affairs.

Thiers had six interviews with Bismarck.

Except in diplomatic circles nobody paid him the least attention.

All German commanders regard peace impossible until Paris is taken, but even now bombardment is not certain.

The siege guns are actually in position on many points, but it is believed fire will not be opened before the 15th instant.

One of the New York's first families is in a peck of trouble. The mother of Mr. Albert Peck disliked her daughter-in-law, and offered Albert $20,000 if he would get a divorce. Mr. and Mrs. Peck loved each other, and they loved money. They laid their heads together and agreed to a separation; with the understanding that after the old woman had shelled out the money, they were to live together again. The husband brought a suit against the wife, to which she paid no attention beyond instructing a lawyer to admit the charges. They separated. Mrs. Peck handed her son the money. He straightway sent for his wife and, once again in their household, they were united. Mrs. Peck brought suit to recover the money. Albert had to give up his wife or the money, and, to the astonishment of every one but himself, produced a divorce for adultery, which he had obtained by fraud—that is, without his wife's knowledge. His mother was non-sold. Albert's wife now brings suit to set aside the divorce, which her husband will not defend. Thus, by the aid of a cunning lawyer, Albert keeps his wife and gets the money.

THE MAD. SUSIE DUNKINSON (COLORED) CONCERT TROUPE.—There are very few of the old citizens of Petroleum Centre, or of the oil country, who are not acquainted with Mad. Dunkinson, as she has resided among them for the last seven years, and has been a hard working and respected lady; and furthermore, a great many of the citizens are acquainted with the fact that she is possessed of rare musical ability, consequently at the request of many friends she has come to the conclusion to try her musical talent before the public as a vocalist. She has spared neither pains nor money in collecting a company of talented colored people, and with the assistance of Mr. E. P. Harding as instructor, and a great number of rehearsals, have made wonderful progress. The concert will be duly advertised, and will consist of gems from the most popular operas, songs of the day, solos, duets, quartettes, fun, pathos and everything that can please a cultivated ear, and concludes with a beautiful little burlesque opera from the pen of a well known author. Don't fail to give Madame Suste a big house and a good reception on her start as a dependent on the public. 1*

John R. Hartman, employed as a switch man on the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad at Dayton, who was crushed to death while endeavoring to couple a passenger coach and freight car, was considered by the Coroner's jury incompetent to fill the position he occupied, and in their verdict they censured the company for employing men at low wages to the detriment of others who have larger experience and capacity.

They claim that a man living near Toronto, eighty years of age, shoots squirrels without spectacles. In these parts squirrels don't wear spectacles.

Singing School.

We are happy to announce to the public of Petroleum Centre and vicinity, that Prof. Schottman, of Titusville, formerly of Philadelphia, but at last induced to visit this place. He has been engaged by Rev. James Dunn to give the Catholic Church choir a thorough musical drill; and under the Professor's instruction, the choir is making rapid progress. He received a first-class education in Philadelphia and guarantees the same to all who put themselves under his instruction. He is, we believe, the only instructor in the oil regions, who teaches the science of harmony and theory of musical composition. We feel sure that it is the merits of the Prof. were fully understood, a great many of our citizens would be more than glad to secure his services.—All persons who wish to take private lessons in singing, or on the violin, flute, Piano, organ, &c., will find in him a competent teacher.
