GENERAL WAR IN EUROPE Latest and Most Important War News.

The following dispatch was received by the P. & A. Line, this afternoon. Appearances indicate a general war in Europe: New York, Nov. 16-2:30 p. m.

Rumors of a general war in Europe. England calling in her navy. Russia and Prussia form an alliance against the whole of Europe. Excitement intense.

LATER. A Herald special from London to-day says: The utmost excitement prevails here in reference to the attitude recently assumed by Russia regarding the treaty of 1866. It is generally understood that Government will act with firmness and suffer no breach of obligations entered into at that time.

Special orders have been dispatched for the recall of all vessels of war from every every station except where they are actually needed abroad.

Large concentration of ships at Portsmouth already and the greatest activity prevails in naval depots.

A powerful fleet will be immediately despatched to the Mediterranean. In best informed circles it is regarded that in present position of Russia a general European war is inevitable.

A rupture between England and Russia is certain and imminent. It is also believed that Prussia is in close alliance with Russia against the rest of Europe.

London, Nov. 16. A French firm of this city has received a telegram announcing that Gen. Trochu has made another grand sortie against the Prussian lines, and that the town of Versailles is on fire. The despatch is not confirmed.

An official despatch received by Gambetta announces that the French have recaptured Dijon driving out the Prussians, 5,000 strong, who retreated to Gray.

Tours, Nov. 15. Von Der Taun's command is deserting in considerable numbers, and peasants capture and bring them in.

The Moniteur thanks the National Guard of the Department of Seine et Maine for gallant conduct in capturing a body of Prussian cavalry, and mentions their exploit in an order of the day.

Nothing official from Paris or the army of the Loire is published to-day.

Gen. De Palgouens is by decree of the government appointed Commander-in-Chief of the army of the Loire.

In addition to the forces now organized and in the field, five entrenched camps are to be formed where, in all, five hundred thousand men may be drilled.

A despatch from Gen reports the enemy at Sens.

On the German prisoners taken around Orleans, were found large quantities of French jewelry and gold.

Dole, Nov. 15. The Prussian force at Chevigny, about 4,800 strong, has been recalled to Gray, in the Department of Haute Saone, owing to the recapture of Dijon by the French.

Three thousand Prussians attacked this place yesterday, but were handsomely repulsed by the National Guard.

Tours, Nov. 15. Thereseolve on the part of the Russian government to withdraw from the treaty of Paris creates a profound sensation here. It is said that the English envoy has gone to Versailles to demand King William's view of the matter.

A Tribune correspondent at Verdun writing the 9th says: I have just entered the town, the fortress of which surrendered to Gen. Von Gayle with 4,000 prisoners, including two generals and about 100 officers.

The Western Union Telegraph Company have a number of men engaged in taking down a portion of their old wires and replacing it with new. So great has been the increase of their business between Pittsburgh and the oil region that they have been recently compelled to put up a new line of telegraph between Oil City and other points in the region.

Lew Voucher, at his restaurant near Simmons' Drug store, is constantly receiving fresh oysters, direct from the seaboard. These cool nights there is nothing nicer than an oyster stew, and Lew knows just how to get them up to suit the tastes of all. Try a stew or fry and be convinced.

We have received the first number of the Rouseville Daily Bulletin, published at Rouseville by O. H. Jackson. It presents a neat and tasty appearance, and is well gotten up throughout. We wish him success in his new enterprise. Long life to the Bulletin.

A Brockville oil company is testing oil territory at Lawsonham, on Redbank creek.

ANOTHER FATAL ACCIDENT. - On Saturday afternoon, about two o'clock, an accident occurred on the A. V. Railroad, in Venango City, which resulted in the death of a man named Jones A. Davis, an employe of the road and a resident of East Pikeand, Chester county, Pa. It appears that he was standing on a box car facing the locomotive when the train was backed under the bridge and he was swept off by the timbers and thrown under the cars. The train was brought to a stop, after moving fifty or sixty feet, and the driver of the engine was found to be standing; across his hips. The body was of course fearfully mangled and was a sickening sight to behold. The unfortunate man was supposed to be twenty-two or twenty-three years old, and was unmarried. His body was sent to Philadelphia for interment. - Times.

They have a new way of obtaining a drink in Plumer, as will be seen by the following dialogue, which occurred between the landlord of a hotel at that point, and an old travelling demi-john named Jones

Jones - Have you any good whisky? Landlord - Firstrate short range. Jones - Gimme a drink. Here the benzine operator proceeded to slip half a pint of the fluid, and then said: Do you know anything about the great American Tea Company of New York? Landlord - Yes I have dealt with them. Jones - Perfectly reliable company, ain't they? Landlord - I believe so - perfectly.

Jones - Well, are you certain they are a responsible firm? Landlord - Yes, positive. Jones - All right, then just charge this drink to them; I'm their travelling agent. The plan succeeded, for the imbiber 'lit out' while the landlord was thinking about it. - Herald.

Picked Up. [From the New Orleans Picayune.] It is a peculiarity of mankind to love kissing. So at least, thought Mr. Dabney, who, seeing Miss Catherine Wood peeping lustily from behind the window blinds into the street, approached the window stealthily, and impressed a loving salute upon her very lips. The spinster cried vociferously, and halloed 'Watch!' which caused the appearance of Mr. Dabney before the Recorder. 'Why did you insult this lady?' inquired the Magistrate. 'Now Judge,' said Mr. Dabney, 'let me ask you a question. If you were to see a piece of money, or some other valuable, lying around, wouldn't you pick it up?' 'Yes.' 'Well, then, I saw that kiss hanging on the woman's lips, and I picked it up.' 'Well, sir, I'll just pick you up for thirty days in the parish prison,' - and he did.

The Erie Observer says that the story that a daughter of Robert Toombs is in Corry is a canard, and adds that he has no daughter, or at least says he hasn't. To which we have to reply that his daughter, living here, says he has. - Corry Republican.

After a long examination the application for an extension of the Singer sewing machine patent has been refused. Two million dollars of protection will thus be taken off the manufacture of machines using the Singer improvement, and a reduction in the price of all kinds of sewing machines will be effected, amounting to at least fifteen dollars in each instance.

Eighteen hundred men make a locomotive engine in one day - boiler, cylinders, frame, driving wheels, truck, stack, cab, pilot and tender complete, the speed of forty miles an hour and the power of a thousand tons are created in a day.
