A man named T. W. Evans, of Oil City, was arrested at Corry day before yesterday, by special detective McKenle on a charge of stealing a watch and a sum of money at the former place.

The Titusville Herald gives the following recapitulation of the oil refining business of that city:
Number of Refineries, 12
Capacity of stills, (bbls.) 12,155
No. of bbls. that can be refined per day, 2,856
Total amount of tankage (bbls.) 71,971
Total value of works, $445,000

NEW WELL.—A new well was struck on the James Hooker farm, at Pithole, on Monday last, which is at present yielding between thirty and forty barrels per day. It is owned by Mr. H. M. Hasbelle. Pithole is looking up.

The well recently struck on Pochell Run, near Franklin, is at present yielding about 50 barrels per day of heavy oil.

The well on the J. S. McCray farm, owned by Thos. Frothingham, was completed yesterday and is being tubed to-day preparatory to testing.

The mud on the street in front of our office is now deep enough to float a canal boat. A good sized dog in attempting to cross, yesterday afternoon, sank out of sight several times and came near drowning.

There was a fair audience in attendance at the theatre last evening. The drama of The Lancers was well performed and gave general satisfaction. In the after-piece, Mr. J. W. Carner as Solon Shingle kept the audience in good humor during the entire performance.

To-night will be produced the "Octoroon; or, Life in Louisiana," in which Miss Virginia Howard will appear as Zoe the Octoroon, and Mr. S. K. Cheater as Jacob McClosky, with the entire company in the cast. We hope to see a crowded house.

Frederick Miller and his wife were on Wednesday last brought before Judge Martindale of Jersey City, charged with having wrought the ruin of a number of young girls, who have been arrested during the week. The couple kept a low den on South Eight street, into which they enticed young girls, and, after keeping them for a time, transfer them to the bagnios of New York, receiving a fixed price for each one. Five girls who had been thus enticed were brought as witnesses. It is estimated that within a year the Millers have accomplished the ruin of fifty girls who had previously led virtuous lives. Louise Bennecker, a courtesan from New York, was also arrested on a charge of having been engaged with these wretches in their nefarious work. The party was sent to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

NEW JEWELRY.—Messrs. Isham & Co., dealers in Jewelry, Spring street, Titusville have recently added largely to their stock of fine jewelry, diamonds, gold and silver watches, silver plated ware, and now have the largest stock of that kind in the oil regions, which they are offering to the people at prices that defy competition. They also have a large stock of gifts for the holidays. Having been intimately acquainted with this firm for over five years, we take pleasure in recommending them as being fair dealers, and can testify to the fact that every article sold by them is just what it is represented to be. See their advertisement and special notices in another column.

A correspondent writing to the Erie Dispatch speaks of the article in regard to Coal/Oil Johnny, and the connection of Seth Slocum therewith, as follows:

While, in the main, the points so interestingly colored by the correspondent, at the expense of the characters of all parties concerned, may be based upon facts, it is very certain that there is no truth in the description of Seth Slocum's death. He was not at the time incarcerated in jail, for the lack of one hundred dollars' bail, but died at home, surrounded by loving parents, family and friends.

A lad named William Miller was run over by the cars, at Titusville, day before yesterday, and fatally injured.

Do not forget the social party at the new hall, opposite the Rochester House, this evening. A good time may be expected.

Corry and Titusville are discussing a project for a pipe line between those places. Corry wants it and Titusville says it can't be done.

Tidbiters are trying to make people believe they had an earthquake last week.

The Downer Oil Works at Corry caught fire early Monday morning. The entire damage will not exceed $600.

Two weeks from next Tuesday the legislature will meet. Next Tuesday the election occurs in the first senatorial District, which will decide the political complexion of the State Senate.

The mud crop in Corry promises well.—The streets are not very wide, but then they make up for it in depth.

The bee keepers of Pennsylvania will hold a State Convention in Meadville on Wednesday, January 11, 1871, the object of the meeting is to organize a permanent State association and to encourage a large attendance at the American convention at Cincinnati.

SENSIBLE BOY.—The other day a chap tied a handkerchief to the rear end of the last car of a railroad train on the Cross Cut Road, at Mayville, placed his trunk on the same, and himself on the top of the trunk.—After a journey of twenty rods he picked himself up in an adjoining field, the contents of his trunk from off the tops of barns and trees, and remarked, "durned if I hadn't rather foot it any time than travel on these pesky keers."

"Fooling with a boss-pistol" is what a coroner in Utica said was the matter with a recent corpse.

At Huron, Ohio, while a father was thrashing his son, the shed fell in and broke the old man's shoulder.

A Cedar Falls bridegroom ate too liberally at his wedding supper, and had his sleep disturbed by a night-ware. He dreamed that he was chained to a log placed on a railway track. He tugged and pulled and twisted to free himself before the train approached, but was unsuccessful until the train dashed up when he was lifted up by the cow-catcher, and awoke to find himself lying on the floor; his wife standing over him brandishing a chair and demanding to know why he had pulled her out of bed by the leg.

The weather is cold and cheerless to-day.

Havre, Dec. 12, via London, 13.
The Prussians are in force at Benzville, sixteen miles from the city.

Havre is defended by a large force and 300 guns manned by marines. The population are eager for a fight.
The Prussians threatening Honfleur have been repelled by the troops from this city who now occupy Pontevique.

Here is Fan's epigram on the statue of George Peabody in London:
To blow hot and blow cold in a couple of days
Is one of the world's greatest failings!
While alive he was always envied
With praise,
But now he's surrounded with railings.

"Mamma, can a door speak?" "Certainly not, my dear." "Then why did you tell Anne this morning to answer the door." "It is time for you to go to school, my dear."

M. S. Simmons is at present receiving a large and varied assortment of holiday goods, both useful and ornamental. It is worth one's while to drop into his store and take a look at his extensive stock. Mr. S. will please accept our thanks for the gift of one of Leroy W. Fairchild's elegant gold pens and holders, for which he is the agent. It is the finest gold pen in the market, and should be used by every business man. Call in to Simmons' and examine his stock.

The inquest on Ada Jones, found murdered at Memphis on Sunday, was resumed on Monday morning. When Van Roberts her friend and accused murderer, was brought into the room, he was much excited and stooped down and kissed her corpse.—The jury returned a verdict that "Deceased came to her death from pistol shots at the hands of Roberts, whose pistol was found near her." J. H. Savage and Pat Sullivan were committed as accomplices. Roberts resides six miles from Memphis, and has a wife and three children.

The silver mines near Salt Lake are drawing great numbers of people there. It is claimed that there will be ten thousand Gentiles in the city and mines there about next season. Three smelting furnaces are being built.

ANOTHER NEW COACH.—Yesterday another new passenger coach was put on the O. C. & A. R. Railroad, making the eighth of the new "series." It has even a more elegant finish than the preceding ones, and is one of the finest turned out by the manufactory at Wilmington, Del. The cost of these coaches is $5,000 each.—Herald.
