The well on Pachel Run, mention of which we made in our issue of yesterday as yielding only fifty barrels per day, we learn from good authority is pumping fully one hundred and fifty barrels.

Dr. G. Stamburg's well on the Yarnel farm, adjoining the Davidson and Skinner farms, is now down 960 feet. The black oil sand rock was struck at a depth of 820 feet and found to be 20 feet thick. The drillers are now "going for" the green oil sand rock. The Yarnel farm is comparatively new territory.

The black oil sand rock was struck in the Shepard and Mason well, Soderus farm, today, at a depth of 820 feet. The Soderus farm adjoins the Wilson farm, and has not been tested as yet.

We are informed that the youngest daughter of Mr. Geo. K. Anderson, aged six years, died in Titusville this morning, of diphtheria.

The attention of the travelling public is called to the advertisement of the Oil Exchange Hotel. Mr. S. Johnson, the gentlemanly landlord, thoroughly understands how to keep a hotel, and pays strict attention to the wants of his guests. The Oil Exchange is very pleasantly located on the Boyd farm, and is a desirable stopping place for travelers. The guests of the house are passed free over the Boyd farm toll bridge.

From a gentleman just from Corry we learn that good sleighing prevails there.

PINEGROVE OIL DISTRICT.—The Canning well, on the H. J. Sayers tract, reported last week as a ten barrel well is doing about twenty barrels. Three wells in the vicinity of this new one are in process of drilling, and the rigs for two more are erecting. On the Lloyd Oil Company's tract, adjoining Sayers', there is a well 956 feet deep ready for testing.

KENTUCKY PETROLEUM.

A correspondent of the Louisville Commercial, writing from Glasgow, Barren county, under date of December 9th, says:

Along Boyd's Creek, in this county, an d three or four miles from Glasgow, there are the best coal oil wells found in the State of Kentucky. By boring through the black slate to the depth of 150 to 300 feet coal oil is invariably found. The best wells are about 200 feet deep. The oil was long known to flow out in springs at different places, but no exploration was made until 1865, when Messrs. Graham and Thomas, having leased a wide scope of country, bored down and found just as much coal oil as they desired. Mr. Graham lives in Rockhaven, Mr. Thomas is a partner in the Louisville pork house of Thomas & Co.— There are now between thirty and forty wells along Boyd's creek, and each can be made to yield twenty barrels a day of crude petroleum. Some wells have flowed fifty barrels a day for two or three years, and now have to be pumped. The Kincheloe well run thirty barrels a day for three years and then ceased flowing. It yields abundantly by pumping. There are a number of oil well companies. Perhaps the strongest is that of Ches. Corley & Co., who refine their oil at Louisville. The oil is carried from the wells to the railroad depot at Glasgow in ten barrel tanks, and is there emptied into car tanks that hold seventy-five barrels, and bring it direct to Louisville.

This Barren county coal oil, properly refined is said to possess greater illuminating power than any other coal oil known. One well, bored in 1865 or 1866, yielded 300 barrels a day. When prices of oil fell this well was temporarily abandoned. It is now worked, but does not yield as it did before the abandonment. When the Kincheloe well was at a depth of two hundred feet without finding oil, a bit used in boring was broken in the well and could not be got out. All that could be done was to bore a new well and this was done within a foot of the old one. When this new well was not within several feet of being as deep as the old well, a fine oil spring was struck.
These oil wells will form a source of immense wealth to Barren county. They will make money plenty and will aid every form of development.

The drama of the Octoroon was brought out in excellent style at the theatre, last evening. Among the characters deserving of special mention, and who performed their parts in a natural and life-like manner was that of Zue by Miss Virginia Howard; S. K. Chester as Jacob McCloskey; M. J. Jordan as Wahnottie; J. W. Garner as Salem Scudder, &c. The balance of the characters were carried out in good shape and gave general satisfaction.

To-night will be presented the great Parisian comedy entitled "Frou-Frou," in which Miss Virginia Howard will appear as Frou-Frou, and Mr. Chester as Henri, with the entire company in the cast. As this is the last night but one of Sherry's appearance in this place for some time, our citizens should avail themselves of the opportunity of witnessing their performance.

A marriage was solemnized in New York last week which has about it a species of romance. The bride is the daughter of a gentleman up town, and the groom has been for years—indeed from childhood, though American by birth—a resident of Calcutta. The lady never saw her husband until he arrived here about a fortnight since.
The gentleman had regularly corresponded with his parents. Through this means a correspondence ensued between the couple, which ended in a declaration of love and a proposal. On meeting for the first time the lovers were not disappointed in their mutual choice, and the wedding soon followed. Both go to India soon, where the gentleman is engaged in a large business.

A CLERGYMAN GOING TO THE DOGS.—
The Rev. Horace Cooke, of elopement fame, got drunk on Saturday night. Twelve o'clock found him slumbering in the gutter of aristocratic Twenty-third street, in front of Jim Mace's saloon. The reverend gentleman was lectured and discharged by Justice Cox yesterday.—N. Y. Sun.

An exchange says: "It is not good taste for a gentleman to stay after ten o'clock when visiting a young lady." We never noticed any difference in the taste after ten o'clock. It tasted good all the time.—Lima Democrat.

Another shocking accident from the careless use of kerosene, occurred near Elmira last week. The wife of Mr. Hiram Ketchum was fatally burned while holding in her hand a lamp, the top of which was loose.
In moving about the oil took fire and an explosion followed.

Latest and Most Important War News.

Bordeaux, Dec. 14.
The following news is official: There has been no serious engagement since the 10th.

The evacuation of the triangle formed by the towns of Varneuil, Brezoles and Breaux is confirmed.

In the Seine Interior the enemy are slowly withdrawing.

Dieppe has been free since the 10th.
Everanz and Zeureigny are occupied by the Germans.

A number of small engagements, in which the French were successful, are reported on the left bank of the Loire.

The Prussians occupy Contres, Mont Richard and Ramorantine.

Prisoners assert that the losses of the army of Prince Frederik Charles during their engagement with General Chauzey, have not been less than 20,000 men, and the villages in the neighborhood are filled with wounded.

News received here that the Prussians surprised at Chambord, some Gardes Mobiles and Franc-tireurs.

It is asserted that the Prussians have not injured the Cateau de Ceombord.

It is reported the Prussians have bombarded Blois and now occupy one of the Faubourgs of Tours.

Gambetta was there when the Prussians demanded its surrender.

He ordered the defence of the city and had the bridge over the Loire blown up.

This defence was needed to secure the safety of the force under general Chauzey, which moved toward the west, where it will be heavily reinforced and resume the offensive.

Gambetta repeats his statement that Bourbaki's forces are in good condition.

The reports that the Prussians are at Tours is contradicted.

A dispatch from Alencon says the Prussians retreated from Vernouil.

TO APPLICANTS FOR LIQUOR LICENSES.— Persons about to apply for license to sell liquor will be interested in the following rule adopted by our Court in relation to granting such licenses. We publish it word for word as it appears on the record:

No application for license to sell vinous spirits, malt or brewed liquors, will be entertained unless it sets for specifically the location of the house for which license is asked, naming the township, village, road, or cross road, and if in a borough or city, the street or streets, the number and name of the house, if any. Each petition before it is filed shall be endorsed with the name of the applicant and the name by which the house is commonly known, and the township, village, borough, city or ward, and the clerk shall not file the petition till so endorsed.

All petitions for license and all additional petitions in favor and all remonstrances and petitions against licenses, shall be presented on the first day of the term, and will then be heard unless by special order some future day be fixed for the hearing thereof.

Read in open Court, and adopted this 28th Nov., 1870, as a rule of the Quarter Sessions.

BY THE COURT.

A dispatch from Kittanning says: The trial of William A. Greenwood, for the killing of Alexander Fleming, at Parkers last summer, which has been in progress here before Justice Agnew, of the Supreme Court, for several days, was ended yesterday, the jury bringing in a verdict of murder in the second degree. Justice Agnew sentenced the prisoner to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for a term of nine years and six months.
Greenwood narrowly escaped hanging, four of the jury being in favor of a verdict of murder in the first degree. Many people here believe this should have been the result of the trial, claiming that there was little if any justification for the crime.

The Navy Department has begun the construction at the Brooklyn yard of new and improved steam launches, with steel hulls, and designed to be both swifter and safer than those now used.

The will of Mathew Monait, one of the erection over the Missouri, eighty feet
