PRESENTATION .- Our old-time friend, Capt. D. W. Bailey, the popular postmaster of Pithole, was the recipient of a bandsome present on New Year's day, at the hands of a number of his triends, in the shape of an elegant Silver Service consisting of an Ice Pitcher, Salver, Goblets, &c. The presentation address, which was highly flattering and complimentary, was made by Capt. W. C. Howe. Capt. B. was so completely taken by surprise that he could hardly find words to express his thanks to the donors. After the presentation the company partock of an excellent repast furnished by the Captain's amiable lady. It was the manimous wish of all present that many more such Happy New Year's might be witnessed.

Mesers. Stratton & Kip, the well known oil brokers of Franklio, have erected a large bulletin board near the Central House, upon which they keep posted a description of the oil lands, leases, &c., which they have for sale throughout the oil region. Among the number san be found a lot of choice lenges situated on Pachel Run in the heart of the Frenklin labricating off district. These gentlemen offer rare inducements to o'l operators and others desiring to invest in firstclass territory. The attention of oil men is called to their bulletin board. Further particulars can be learned by addressing Stratton & Kip, Oil and Land Brokers, P. O. Box 1200, Franklin, Pa.

The "pious fraud," the "Rev." Frank Whiteomb, with endiese aliases, has been shamlog illness at a hotel in Williamsport for several days past. DANGER OF " NON-EXPLOSIVE

The New York Times of December 30tht contains an account of a terrible accidenat Ponghkeepsie, on the 28th. A young woman named Mary Gibson, was horribly and perhaps fatally burned by the explosion of a lamp in the room, containing what is known as Danforth's Non-Explosive Oil. At the time of the accident, she was sewcompany with a little girl, a daughter of the Lockbart's. According to the child's statement, the lamp exploded quite suddealy, scattering the oil which immediately was caught by the flames, over the person of the unfortunate woman. The latter enveloped in flamer, ran to a pantry, caught up some blankets, and made desperate efforts to smother the fire, but falling feil to the floor, exhausted by the excruciating pain; and the child with a terri tying shrick rushed down stairs to inform the family. Mr. Lockbart, burrying up, found, to use his own expression, that "the fiames were then three leet high all around the poor girl;" she was crawling upon her hands and knees, uttering heart-reading eries, toward the door leading to the entry. Mr. Lockbart endeavoyed in three attem t to tear the clothes from her person, was each time unsuccessful, burning his own hands and arms in a terrible manner. By this time the sufferer had reached the southern end of the hallway, where all sorts of clothing was heaped upon her by Mr. and Mrs. Lockbart, who had joined ber hast ad from below stairs, and they floatly succeeded in smothering the flomes. Then the g ri had becomeunconscious. When the clothing was removed, a borri ide sight met the view.
