Yesterday a warrant was issued by Justice Reynolds, on information of Mr. Bailey, against two boys named Daniel Mooney and James McNeil, charging them with the larceny of a quantity of blankets and bedding. After the constable had made the arrests, a young man named Charles Levitt, came forward and acknowledged himself to be the thief, declaring the innocence of the boys Mooney and McNeil. Young Levitt will have a hearing this afternoon. He claims to be a son of Levitt, the well known printer and stationer of Buffalo; that he ran away from home last summer with a minstrel troupe and was left here without a cent, and that he had worked most of the time while here, but lately had no where to sleep, and took the bedding a week or more ago and was using them at the time the other boys were arrested. Levitt is about 18 years of age.

This morning a young man, formerly from Mercer county, was brought before Justice Reynolds, on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. It appeared from the evidence of Constable McHugh, that the young man was in a house near the Presbyterian Church, and greatly disturbed the inmates, one of whom was ill, by his misbehavior. The young man, whose name we suppress for the sake of his friends, plead guilty and was sentenced to pay a fine of $3.00 and costs.

The new passenger depot of the Jamestown & Franklin Railroad, at Oil City, will be taken possession of by the company on the 15th inst. On Monday next passenger trains will run through the tunnel, making connections at the Union depot with trains on the O. C. & A. R. R.

Mealyville has an amateur dramatic club.

Trains are now running over the Union & Titusville railroad.

THE LONG AGO.

By H. M. TAYLOR.
A wonderful stream is the River of Time,
As it runs through the bosom of Time,
With a faultless rhythm and a beautiful rhyme,
And a broader sweep and a surger sublime,
As it blends with the Ocean of Years.
How the winters are drifting like flakes of snow,
And the summers like buds between,
And the year in the street—as they come and go
On that river's breast with its ebb and flow,
As it glides in the shadow and sheen.
There's a magical tale on the river Time,
Where the waters of life are playing,
There's a cloudless sky and a tropical climate;
And a song as sweet as a vespere chime;
And the dunes with the roses are staying.
The name of this tale is the Long Ago,
And we bury our feet in the snow,
There are heroes of battle, and heroes of love,
There are heroes of glory and heroes of woe;
There are trials and tribulations of fate.
There are fragments of songs that nobody sings,
And a lot of an actor's groans,
There's a large newspaper and a little without strings,
There are broken vases and pieces of things,
And the garments that are used to wear.
There are hands that are waved when that fairy
By the mirror is fixed in air,
And we sometimes hear through the turbulent roar,
Sweet voices we heard in the days gone by,
When the wind down the river is fair.
O, remembered for aye be that blessed Lie,
All the days of our life to a night,
When the evening comes with a beautiful smile
And our eyes are closing to summer's smile,
May that Greenwood of soul be in sight.

GAS WELLS—Gas wells are assuming considerable importance in some districts. Some which were opened in Ohio, near Kenyon College, in 1865, and were then visited by Professor Newberry, he asserts in the Chemist, to be still flowing with undiminished volume. One of these at that time spouted an intermittent column of salt water to the height of 100 feet. Gas was mixed with the water, and also poured out in the intervals. The derrick over the well became incased in ice, and the effect when ignited, especially at night, was something grand, as the column of mingled water and flame was shooting up to a height of 120 feet through the transparent chimney pipe.

During the recent spell of sleighing several parties from Tarr Farm and Rouseville, hired horses and cutters from Mr. T. McDonald, livery stable keeper of this place, for the ostensible purpose of going a sleigh-riding. Instead of which they drove the poor beasts nearly to death, keeping them out all night, besides smashing up the cutters and breaking up things in general.

For these misdoings Mr. M. claims damages and has made information against them. Warrants have been issued.

Fire—The engine house enclosing the large engine and boiler used for running the Barcroft & Boulton wells, on the Kenyon farm, was destroyed by fire last evening.

The fire is supposed to have caught from the gas. Loss is estimated at over $700. By this fire five producing wells are temporarily shut down. The damages are being repaired as fast as possible, and the wells will soon be pumping again.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, at Sobel's Opera House, will be presented for the first time in this place, for the benefit of the fund for the widows and orphans of the deceased soldiers, the great military drama in six acts, entitled "The Battle of Gettysburg; or, The Festival of Roses." Seats can be secured at Griffes Bros. Drug Store.

The following patents have been granted to citizens of this place and vicinity, by the patent office.

Pump—Herman Camp, Rouseville.
Tube-Holder—Thomas Arnold, Petroleum Centre.

The lumber business of Williamsport, Pa., amounted for the year 1870, to 250,764,078 feet, sent to market.

Miss Anna Dickerson is to lecture at Rouseville, April 3d, and at Titusville, April 4th.

The house of M. Henry, at President, was destroyed by fire on Friday. Cause—a defective flue. Loss $2,000.

The Western Union Telegraph company are about to open an office at Tionesta.

Every Saturday will soon publish an illustrated description of Pittsburgh and the coal and oil regions. It promises to be of great interest.

On Monday, Sheriff Harpst, of this county took Walde and Miller, two of the Benninghoff robbers, and a man named Eastwick, sentenced at the last term of Court, to the Western Penitentiary at Allegheny City.

In 1870, 4,860 vessels arrived in the port of New York, 789 of them being steamships, of which 204 were American. Of the entire number, 2,181 vessels were American, 1,979 British, 310 North German, no other nation having one hundred.

The Little Church Around the Corner.

The story of "The Little Church Around the Corner," illustrates from what apparently unimportant events in the affairs of men most important results will follow. At the solicitation of a committee of actor, Joe Jefferson called on the Rev. Mr. Sabine to arrange with him for reading the funeral services over poor George Holland. Mr. Sabine had consented without hesitation and Jefferson was about departing, when it suddenly occurred to the latter that Mr. Sabine might not understand who Holland was, and Jefferson said: "Mr. Holland was an actor, will that make any difference to you?" Mr. Sabine hung his head a moment and then replied, "Yes it will, I cannot read the service for an actor." Mr. Jefferson then inquired, can you tell me who will?" to which Mr. Sabine replied "There's a little church around the corner where they do such things." Jefferson bowed and quietly remarked, "All honor to the little church around the corner," and bade Mr. Sabine good morning. He then went around the corner and secured the services of the Rev. Dr. Houghton. Jefferson made no mention of the event save to the committee, and the whole affair seemed likely to pass by without the slightest publicity. A day or two after, however, one of the editors of the Globe, chanced to repeat the incident. In the next issue of the Globe the story appeared headed "God Bless the Little Church Around the Corner." The next day the morning papers took it up, and during the day Jefferson was besieged by reporters, none of whom, however, gained audience Mr. Jefferson declining to aid in the publicity of the affair. But it was too good to keep, and the "Little Church Around the Corner" has become immortal. The great prejudice against the dramatic profession, has crumbled at one blow, and the true spirit of Christianity seems better understood than ever before. The change is wonderful, and a master of bigotry or lover of the good can refrain from exclaiming with Jefferson, "All honor to the church around the corner."—[N. Y. Globe.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM ON WHEELS—The New York correspondent of the Boston Journal says: Barnum's museum, comprising a museum menagerie, caravan and big podrome, is ready to start its career. The world has been swept for curiosities. White camels, black panthers, giant kangaroos, with stunning chariots drawn by elephants and dromedaries, have been secured; mitrailleuse guns, and arms from the field of Sedan, and arms taken from the French and Prussians, with all the appliances for a first class circus, menagerie and caravan; with trained Australian horses and a troupe of genuine Arabs. The small army of assistants are all totalitars, and the whole thing is to be in high moral style. Orange Judd, to encourage industry and economy, offered prizes for the best specimens of patching and darning clothes. Over 1,300 garments came in for competition, and he distributed twenty prizes. The clothes were sent to the Old Brewery Mission. Barnum offered $100 for twelve garments, which took the highest prize. He proposes to exhibit the "darned things" in connection with his show.

"Boys will be boys" is nonsense. Boys will be men—if they live long enough.

Whose children are we apt to think the sweetest flowers?—Ours.

A citizen of Chicago has received a letter from his father who resides in Goerlitz, Prussia, informing him that during the present struggle he has lost three married sons and four son-in-laws, and that their seven widows, with twenty-four fatherless children, are now dependent on him for support.

An Arkansas editor says of a paper in the Cherokee Nation in the "native dialect": "It is the worst specimen of pickled tongue we ever saw. It looks as though a nitro glycerine explosion had occurred in a type foundry."

Lucy Stone likens boys to vinegar—the more "mother" in them the sharper they are.

The first name of the Chinese giant is Chang. His full name is probably Chang High.

Industry and economy will get rich while sagacity and intrigue are laying their plans.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump for Pumping Oil or Water in Deep Wells.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump is acknowledged to be the best pump now in use. One of its leading features is that it not only produces a continuous flow of oil or other fluid, but that it creates and sustains a constant and powerful suction, by means of which the seams or veins of the well are in a great measure cleared of paraffine and other obstructions, and the oil in the veins is drawn towards the well. It has been ascertained by actual test that the use of this pump causes a gradually increasing flow of oil. It is well known by oil operators that this improvement is of great value, and one that has been long sought for. The ablest mechanics of our country have for years been at work trying to find out some new and untried plan to prolong the life time of an oil well; and nothing yet to our knowledge has been brought before the public that in any way equals the power of the Kenyon Pump, experience having taught that it is the long continued suction that has the power to keep up and increase the production of oil wells. Oil operators are referred to Mr. Geo. Boulton, Superintendent of the Columbia Farm, for information in regard to the practical workings of the Kenyon Pump. We append the following testimonial from the managers of the Columbia Farm:

MR. H. K. KENYON:
Dear Sir:—We are using your Double Acting Oil Pumps in three of our oil wells and take pleasure in stating that we are getting more oil and gas from each of them than was previously obtained by the use of working barrels. We believe your oil pump to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. BOULTON, Sup't.
