NEW WELL ON PACHELL RUN.—We are informed that a new well was struck on the Galloway tract, Pachel Run, near Franklin, yesterday afternoon, which started up at the rate of forty barrels per day and increasing. Promises to be a good well. It is located about eighty rods north of the big well, about which such an excitement was raised at the time it was struck.

The last mentioned well is at present yielding only fifteen barrels of oil per day. Quite a number of wells were put down on this run, but proved dry holes, with the exception of yesterday's strike.

No news has been heard from the U. S. steamer Tennessee, on board of which was the San Domingo commission. She is supposed to have foundered at sea.

The editor of the Jamestown Journal is neither a thief, liar, traitor or drunkard, although he has recently copied quite extensively from this paper and given credit for the same to the Corry Republican. His mode of revenge is purely an original one. As far as we are concerned, he can do so "some more." Poor boy, how he does ache for revenge, and how small the method of securing it. Isn't it true, Corry Republican?

The passenger train south, due here at 11:26 yesterday p. m., did not arrive till near six o'clock, being delayed by train 19 running off the track near Centreville.

Allegheny City is growing. Several fine residences having recently been put up. The inhabitants anticipate lively times in oil developments in that vicinity the coming spring. May they not be disappointed.

A number of our citizens were in attendance at the lecture delivered by Gen. Ellipson, at Titusville, last evening.

Gen. Ellipson, secretary to the Board of Education.

OIL AS AN ILLUMINATION.—At a meeting of the Society of Arts in London December 21, Sir Antonio Brady in the chair, a paper was read by Mr. Silber on the method of lighting towns, factories, and private houses by vegetable or mineral oils. The system proposed is to distribute the oil over the house in pipes, like water, from a general reservoir containing a few gallons at the top of the building. The flow is regulated by little cisterns, provided with a novel and well constructed tap, regulated by a ball-cock or self acting float, the lights being as nearly as possible on a level with the distributing cisterns. When the lamp is lighted, the oil is, by the ball cock movement, supplied automatically as fast to the wick as it is consumed, and a very perfect combustion is effected. Numerous lights, of excellent quality and steadiness, were kept burning in the lecture room during the evening, and in the long and earnest discussion which followed, there was a general concurrence in admitting the great advance which had been made in this mode of burning light petroleum oils.—There was none of the unpleasant odor so common in all the previous mineral oil lamps.

This evening, the celebrated drama from the French of Victor Hugo, entitled "Le Tour De Nesle; or, The Chamber of Death," will be produced by Miss Katie Estelle and company, at Sobel's Opera House, Miss Katie appearing in her great character of "Marguerite of Burgundy," a role to which she is especially adapted, and has played with great success receiving the encomiums of both the press and the public. The balance of the company will appear in the cast. The evening's entertainment will conclude with the laughable farce of "Barney, the Baron." Misses Viola and Mai will also appear in a new Fancy Dance. As this is positively the last appearance of Miss Estelle this season, a complimentary benefit has been tendered her, and we hope to see a crowded house. In our dealings with Miss Estelle we have found her a lady in every respect, in addition to being a first-class actress, and we take pleasure in recommending herself and company to our brethren of the press wherever they may appear.

A man who was boring for oil near Fontanelle, Adams county, Iowa, struck water of a warm temperature at a depth of 164 feet. It came up to the surface with great force, bringing chunks of coal with it.

We hear it rumored that the Union & Titusville Railroad is to be extended to Petroleum Centre next spring.

Next Tuesday is St. Valentine's Day.

Col. Drake, the man who drilled the first oil well on Oil Creek, is said to be in extremely destitute circumstances.

The coroner's inquest over the remains of the killed by the late accident on the Hudson River Railroad, has not concluded its sessions. No new facts have been elicited as yet.

Col. James P. Hoover, an old and respected citizen of Franklin, died on the 4th inst.

John Howard was executed at Cumberland, Md., yesterday, for the murder of Henry Miller.

Oil Creek is nearly frozen over.

The Howe Sewing Machine Company's factory, at Peru, Ind., was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Loss $100,000.

The largest bit of blasting ever done in New Jersey was on Monday in a brown stone quarry near Trenton, when sixty kegs of powder were exploded, bringing down 20,000 tons of rock.

After an absence of about six weeks we are again in receipt of the Forest Press.—We had almost arrived at the conclusion that our friend Conyer, editor and proprietor of that lively sheet, had either "failed" or intended running for Congress.

A new well on the Button lease, Central Petroleum Co's farm, is yielding about six barrels per day.

The California papers praise John Grummet, a veteran hunter, who went out one morning at sunrise and in half an hour had shot four huge grizzly bears with his Spencer rifle, in one-two-three-four order.

Radcliffe, the diamond smuggler, it would seem, was aided by his father, a large diamond broker in London, in getting hundreds of precious stones into New York without paying duty. The stones sent by mail by the son to Radcliffe to the prisoner were imbedded in cork shavings, and enclosed in thick paper envelopes. Young Radcliffe used to carry his personal stock of diamonds in his woolen socks.

From to many friends, and from things at large ends.
From a wife who don't love us, and from children who don't look like us.
From sinners in the grass, from sinners in our butes, from torch light processions, and from all new rum.
From pack peddlers, from young folks in love, from old aunts without money, from ke are morbus.
From wealth without charity, from pride without sense, from pedigrees worn out, and from all rib relations.
From newspaper sales, and from pills that ain't fish, from females that falst, and from men who flatter.
From virtue without fragrance, from butter that smells, and from cats that are courting.
From old folk's secrets, and from our own, from meglums and wimmen kimmit tees.

From folks who won't laff, and from them who giggle, from tite butes, easy virtue, and raw mutton.

Mrs. Cobble-dick, of Cleveland, Ohio, some four years ago tried the interesting experiment of kindling her fire with the assistance of a can of kerosene oil. She was only moderately successful at that time, the explosion simply burning off some square feet of her skin, and making her a suffering invalid for a few months. With admirable perseverance in the cause of science, she recently made a second test of the powers of kerosene as an explosive, and with more satisfactory results. She proved this time beyond all doubt, that if properly manipulated, that substance will blow the life out of a person in the most expeditious manner. Her funeral took place a day or two after the explosion, and her daughter who had assisted at the experiment, was too badly injured to attend the ceremonies.

Some husbands, it must be admitted, are exceedingly moderate in their little indignations. Thus, on the trial in San Francisco of Oliver Dale for enticing away the wife of one J. A. Berger, the injured husband being upon the stand, testified as follows: "I came in at times and found his (Dale's) arms around my wife's neck, he kissing her and using endearing language to her; I did not wish to lay hands on him, but I did not think it quite proper." It is very little to be wondered at that a wife should run away from such a husband as that, however reprehensible the flight. The gentleman's views of what is not "quite proper" do great credit to his moderation.

A lady complains of the reintroduction of trained dresses for the street, and says that when a boy and a sled got on her train she endured it, but when a man, with a turkey and a rocking horse was added, she was compelled to suggest that they get off her dress. The following is given as a correct inventory of what she found on her sled: cow-catcher; Twenty-six butt ends of cigars; ditto "old sojas," an entire bundle of straw; a load of chips; a wire bonnet frame; the ace of spades; fragments of almost every paper published in the United States; old election tickets; and a fair sample at the fruit season.

Mr. Smith "was never more sober in the course of his life," but when his friend Jones asked him to take a chair, he said he would wait till one came round.

A beautiful instance of the fata morgana occurred recently at Bay St. Louis, La., just before sunrise, the whole of Ship Island and of the Louisiana marshes, that are usually invisible from the beach, standing out in bold relief against the morning sky, and seeming to be only a few miles off.—Even particular trees, of whose location in the marshes the observer was aware could be distinguished.

Michigan has a large direct trade with Liverpool in apples, and a large part of the American fruit thus sent to England is transhipped to the Mediterranean in exchange for other fruit.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump for Pumping Oil or Water in Deep Wells.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump is acknowledged to be the best pump now in use. One of its leading features is that it not only produces a continuous flow of oil or other fluid, but that it creates and sustains a constant and powerful suction, by means of which the seams or veins of the well are in a great measure cleared of paraffine and other obstructions, and the oil in the veins is drawn towards the well. It has been ascertained by actual test that the use of this pump causes a gradually increasing flow of oil. It is well known by oil operators that this improvement is of great value, and one that has been long sought for. The ablest mechanics of our country have for years been at work trying to find out some new and untried plan to prolong the life line of an oil well; and nothing yet to our knowledge has been brought before the public that in any way equals the power of the Kenyon Pump, experience having taught that it is the long continued suction that has the power to keep up and increase the production of oil wells. Oil operators are referred to Mr. Geo. Boulton, Superintendent of the Columbia Farm, for information in regard to the practical workings of the Kenyon Pump. We append the following testimonials from the managers of the Columbia Farm:

OFFICE COLUMBIA OIL CO.
Columbia Farm, Jan. 28.

Mr. H. K. KENYON:
Dear Sir:—We are using your Double Acting Oil Pumps in three of our oil wells and take pleasure in stating that we are getting more oil and gas from each of them than was previously obtained by the use of working barrels. We believe your oil pump to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. BOULTON, Supt.

GOOD ADVICE.

Ask no woman her age. Never joke with a widow. Never contradict a man that suffers. Be civil to all rich uncles and aunts. Wear your oldest hat of course to an evening party. Always sit next to the server at dinner. Keep your own secrets. Tell no human being you dye your whiskers. Wind up your conduct like a watch once every day, examine minutely whether you are "fast" or "slow." Make friends with the steward on board a steamer, there's no knowing how soon you may be in his power. Write not one more letter than you can help; the man who keeps up a large correspondence is a martyr, tied, not to the stake, but to the post. But the best advice we can give to the reader is, that he should buy his clothing at the store of A. Alden, Washington street, Petroleum Centre, Pa. The stock of ready made clothing at this house is the largest and cheapest in the city. He has also a large assortment of cloths, cassimeres, etc., and is prepared to make up suits in the neatest manner imaginable. He has also a full line of gentlemen's furnishing goods. This is one of the best and cheapest stores in the city.

Gaffney has a large lot of scotch ale and London porter especially of family use, by the bottle or case.
