FOSTER OIL TERRITORY.—The oil territory at Foster Station promises to come prominently before the public the coming spring. There are now we learn upwards of twelve wells completed in that vicinity, but two of which are pumping over fifty barrels per day, the balance average from ten to twenty-five barrels of oil daily. The average depth of the wells is between 1,150 and 1,350 feet. A good many new wells are in various stages of completion, and many more are talked of. The theory of an oil belt was advocated by many, and a direct line was surveyed through from Foster Station to the Scrubgrass oil territory, a distance of four miles. This theory, however, was exploded by a "dry hole" located directly on the surveyed belt. Another well was put down some distance from the dry hole of the belt which is now pumping twenty-five barrels per day. Most of the territory throughout is owned by Messrs. Angel, Prentice & Whitney. The Central Petroleum Company of this place, are the owners of a farm located a short distance from Foster, and have a well going down at present. As many of our citizens are interested in this territory, we shall endeavor to keep our readers posted as developments progress.

Stand-Off City, on the Shaw Farm, has some "big old" names for its saloons and restaurants, as for instance "The Hinges of Hell," "Pig's Ear," "Big Turkey," "Steel Trap," "Pig's Tail," &c. These places have the same relative position in Stand-Off City, a resident informs us, that the Fifth Avenue, St. Nicholas and other hotels have in New York city, or the Parshall Hotel has to Titusville. The names of one or two of them are quite significant of what is inside. However, it may not be all in the name.

A flight of fancy—Prize fighters dispersed by the police.

The Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railroad Company held its annual meeting in Philadelphia on the 8th inst. and was largely attended. From the annual report of the business for 1870, read to the meeting, we glean the following interesting facts showing the steadily increasing business of the company: The earnings during the year were—from passengers, $334,980; from freight, $1,077,716; from express, $10,953; from mail and telegraph, $7,389, and from miscellaneous sources, $177 62—giving a total of $2,395,811. The disbursements for the year, for transportation, $494,805; motive power, $228,673; maintenance of cars $73,261; maintenance of way, $442,423; interest on funded debt, $224,000; contingent fund, $115,000, making a total of $2,328,333, and leaving a balance on hand on the 1st day of January, 1870, of $104,853, gives a total balance on hand of $125,311. The capital stock of the company is $4,269,450, and the funded debt $3,170,000—making a total of $7,439,450. The road and equipment cost $8,126,296. The road is a little over one hundred miles long. At an election for officers the following gentlemen were elected: Edward F. Gay, President; Thos. A. Scott, Charles B. Wright, John M. Kennedy, William S. Lane, Edmund Smith and Charles H. Lee, Directors.

This morning it rained hard; this afternoon it snows do. No reliance can be placed on the weather.

The fact that Simmons is receiving a large quantity of goods for the early spring trade can be discovered by calling at his drug and fancy goods store.

A Major Fisk landlord of the Cliff House at Cleveland, was shot and killed by a German girl by the name of Jennie Drez, on Thursday evening last. The murderess coolly gave herself up to the officers of justice, justifying her crime on the plea that the man had ruined her character and health and deserted her. The verdict will of course be "err'd him right."

Considerable religious interest has been awakened in the Catholic Church at Titusville during the past week, and large accessions have been made to the membership. The Rev. James Duna of this place has been the principal speaker, assisted by Rev. gentlemen from Oil City, Tidioute and other places.

St. Louis acknowledges that it no longer has the biggest bore in the world. Its artesian well is surpassed in depth by one in the vicinity of Potsdam, which is over 5,500 feet deep, and has been passing through a stratum of rock salt ever since its first 300 feet were pierced.

F. H. Braggins, editor of the Merce Dispatch, is suffering from an apoplectic fit.

The Worrell Sisters are engaged for the Meadville Opera House, on the 20th and 21st of March.

Venango City is troubled with thieves who practice on hen roosts at the dead hour of the night.

A correspondent of the Pittsburgh Chronicle says the Economy tract is at present yielding about 250 barrels of oil per day.

By reference to the advertisement in another column, it will be seen that H. Wilbert, is prepared to do all kinds of mason and brick work. Also, keeps brick and lime for sale. Those in need of a first class workman will do well to keep these facts in mind.

The Odd Fellows reunion, at Rouseville, on the 22d, Washington's birthday, promises to be a grand affair. Members from every section of the oil region are expected to be present. The supper will be furnished by Messrs. Hancock & Lyons of the Rathbun House, and will be gotten up in a style to suit the most fastidious.

A row at Pioneer a day or two since resulted in the smash up of a photograph gallery, and warrants are out for the parties on a charge of riot.

The Rouseville Bulletin estimates that there has been six hundred and twenty five miles of oil wells drilled within one and a quarter miles of that office, and says "could all the oil be gathered together in a tank of sufficient capacity to hold it it would float all the navies of the world."

Last night, in addition to the rain, the wind rose almost to a tempest. If they had spoken they would have said:

"We come o'er mountain and plain and dale,
Our broad invisible platoon sweep,
Like the spirit of Liberty, wild and free,
And ye look on our works and own 'tis we;
Ye call us the Winds—but can ye tell
Whether we go, or where we dwell?"

To make a Venetian blind—Put out his eyes.

David Simmons, the engineer of the express train, though strongly urged by the fireman to jump off when he saw collision was inevitable at New Hamburg, replied "that he would stick to his engine whatever happened," and so went calmly and courageously to death. A writer in the New York Tribune, probably John Hay, the author of "Jim Blues," thus applies the central idea of these lines:

"He was one of the uncrowned heroes of whom there are so many, and of whom we hear so little in this world, too busy to recognize the bravery, chivalry, and self sacrifice which constantly reveal themselves in the humblest stations of life. We have no idea what the noble fellow believed; but we know what he did; and they who hesitate to accept his acts as evidence of the highest practical Christianity are certainly at variance with the liberal spirit of the age."

Under the heading "Our George," meaning Geo. S. Benedict, killed at New Hamburg, the Cleveland Herald, of Saturday, says:

We "cannot make him dead," even though we know he lies in yonder home with pulseless heart and folded hands. O heart! so lately full of trust and tender thoughts! O hands! so ready in their loving service! He needs no written eulogy. The friends of his boyhood and his ripening manhood are yearning for a presence so suddenly vanished and are holding in tenderness the memories of his spotless life.

"The mourners go about the streets."

Such a disposition "makes common cause." There is no pen to write the sorrow that has entered his home. We stand without, weeping for our friend, and for those who are enfolded in the shadow of his death. Thank God for that unquestioning faith which can lift these stricken hearts above these wrecked hopes and darkened homes.

WHO HAS LOST A LITTLE GIRL?

Last summer a party of gypsies, consisting of two men, two women, and a girl aged about eleven years, passed through the village of Belmont, Crawford county, going west. Shortly after passing through the place, a man engaged in handling logs came across a little girl aged about four years, which had been left in the road on the route just passed over. The man picked up the child and took it to his home. The little thing could give no account of itself, nor has ever yet conveyed any idea who its parents are. The general impression is that the child did not belong to the gypsies, and that they stole it from some family and becoming tired of it left it on the road as above stated. There may be somewhere a mourning father and mother whom the publication of this item may lead to the recovery of their lost child. Will our exchanges give it currency as widely as possible?—[Butler Herald.]

A story is told about James Fisk, Jr., calling on Gen. Butler at Long Branch last summer. Butler had never seen Fisk, and asked his name, receiving the reply, in a loud voice, "I am James Fisk, Jr!" "Oh, you are, are you?" remarked Butler with charming indifference. Then turning to his wife: "My dear, do you want anything of the peddler to-day?" The Prince bent a hasty retreat, leaving the General in full possession of the field.

Heavy thunder accompanied with sharp lightning, last evening, we are told betokens severe cold weather again. The weather to-day is quite cold.

The great fire at Tioga on Thursday last, was caused by the upsetting of a kerosene lamp, during a row among a party of gamblers, in a low saloon known as the "Hole in the Wall."

James Hassen was sentenced to seven years and six months solitary confinement, in Philadelphia on Monday for seduction.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company was chartered a quarter of a century ago. Now it represents $45,000,000, and between 2,000 and 3,000 miles of Railroad track.

An act imposing not less than thirty days nor more than one year's imprisonment for injury to graves, trees, shrubbery, etc., in cemeteries, has been introduced into the State Legislature. It should become a law.

The New York Sun is attempting to raise a fund for the family of Simmons, the brave engineer at New Hamburg. They deserve well of the public.

Five thousand barrels of flour is A. T. Stewart's latest gift to the suffering people of France.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump for Pumping Oil or Water in Deep Wells.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump is acknowledged to be the best pump now in use. One of its leading features is that it not only produces a continuous flow of oil or other fluid, but that it creates and sustains a constant and powerful suction, by means of which the seams or veins of the well are in a great measure cleared of paraffin and other obstructors, and the oil in the veins is drawn towards the well. It has been ascertained by actual test that the use of this pump causes a gradually increasing flow of oil. It is well known by oil operators that this improvement is of great value, and one that has been long sought for. The ablest mechanics of our country have for years been at work trying to find out some new and untried plan to prolong the life time of an oil well; and nothing yet to our knowledge has been brought before the public that in any way equals the power of the Kenyon Pump, experience having taught that it is the long continued suction that has the power to keep up and increase the production of oil wells. Oil operators are referred to Mr. Geo. Boulton, Superintendent of the Columbia Farm, for information in regard to the practical workings of the Kenyon Pump. We append the following testimonial from the managers of the Columbia Farm:

OFFICE COLUMBIA OIL CO.
Columbia Farm, Jan. 28.

Mr. H. K. KENYON:
Dear Sir:—We are using your Double Acting Oil Pumps in three of our oil wells and take pleasure in stating that we are getting more oil and gas from each of them than was previously obtained by the use of working barrels. We believe your oil pump to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. BOULTON, Supt.

GOODADVICE.

Ask no woman her age. Never joke with a widow. Never contradict a man that stutters. Be civil to all rich uncles and aunts. Wear your oldest hat of course on an evening party. Always sit next to the carver at dinner. Keep your own secrets. Tell no human being you dye your whiskers. Wind up your conduct like a watch once every day, examine minutely whether you are "fast" or "slow." Make friends with the steward on board a steamer, there's no knowing how soon you may be in his power. Write not one more letter than you can help; the man who keeps up a large correspondence is a martyr, tied, not to the stake, but to the post. But the best advice we can give to the reader is, that he should buy his clothing at the store of A. Alden, Washington street, Petroleum Centre, Pa. The stock of ready made clothing at this house is the largest and cheapest in the city. He has also a large assortment of cloths, cassimeres, etc., and is prepared to make up suits in the neatest manner imaginable. He has also a full line of gentlemen's furnishing goods. This is one of the best and cheapest stores in the city.
