Our music-loving citizens will bear in mind that this evening the Appy Concert troupe appear at Sobel's Opera House. The programme to be performed by this company comprises a selection of the finest gems of vocal and instrumental music. Mr. Henri Appy, the celebrated violinist, is in connection with the troupe, which is a sufficient guarantee of a crowded house.

A special to the Pittsburgh Commercial from Franklin, says: A new well on the McCalmont farm, about one mile east of this place, was struck on Sunday, and at the present time is pumping at the rate of seventy barrels per day. Col. Mathews and Joseph Sey are the fortunate owners. The oil is thirty-two gravity. This opens up another new field of operations.

Elaborate experiments recently made by Professor Silliman upon the illuminating power of common coal gas, shows, first, that where it is important to obtain a maximum of economical effect from the consumption of a given volume of illuminating gas, this result is best secured by the use of burners of ample flow; and, secondly, that where a moderate light of equal diffusion is required over a large space, as in public rooms, it may be expedient to use numerous small jets. But when the maximum intensity attainable from a given volume of illuminating gas is desirable, large burners of large consumption are plainly preferable.

We understand it is the intention of Prof. Chamberlain and his Singing Class to give a public entertainment at no distant day.

Some one at Corry has favored us with a copy of the Daily Blade, published by Jos. A. Pain, and containing a defense of the vile and low-lived actions of the young bloods from the village of stumps, on their recent visit to Petroleum Centre, which is thicker than tissue paper. Hear him groan, and our word for it "it will fill your buzzum full of PAIN":

PET. CENTRE RECORD.—The above paper had the other day a long article on some doings some Corry boys had in Petroleum Centre, the day previous. We do not blame that paper for making an item of it; for we are aware every newspaper is anxious to get all the "local" it can; and so seldom is any one from Corry out on a spree, that it was too delicate a morsel to be passed by unnoticed.

[There was nothing very delicate about the affair. It insulting respectable ladies; using language that the inmates of a brothel would blush at, &c., is delicate, its a version of delicacy unknown to the present enlightened age.—Ed.]

But when we see the same article, copied into the Corry Republican, with comments upon the same; we feel that a portion of the press of this city has come to a very low ebb, when it blazes to the public gaze the ill-doings of its citizens, just to vent a petty spite against a person in our employ. Let the conductors of the Corry Republican remember that immortal sentence "Let him who is without sin, cast the first stone." Young men and young boys are liable to follies; and there is more good done in treating these follies with a fatherly consideration, than in blazoning them to the world.

[Folbles is a good word to plaster over evil deeds. The Blade man tried "benisee and bacon." Flour cured him.]

If there is anybody who should find fault, it is himself. But we should be a hard hearted employer, if we were severe on the first offence; but rather with kindness and care, show our appreciation of the attention, consistent, trustful and truthful young man the accused has been for the three years and a half he has been in our employ. And we bear in mind that we have a boy of our own growing up; who may, when he has lost our fostering care, require somebody to be kind to him and overlook his faults; and we hope to be able to say on our deathbed, "even so as I have done to others, do so, oh God! unto those I leave behind."

It cannot be possible that the Blade man survived any length of time after the above sickly attempt at covering up the outrageous violation of the commonest rules of decency by its "trustful, truthful, consistent young (old in sin) mea of Corry." In addition to flimsiness of the defence, the article itself is the worst specimen of "murdering the king's English" that has ever been our privilege to read. The Republican deserves credit for having the courage to expose such scurrilous actions on the part of its own citizens as well as those of other places when they deserve it.

Mlle Zoe closed a very successful engagement, last evening, producing the nautical drama of "The Flying Dutchman." The piece of itself is devoid of any plot whatever, and no opportunity was presented Zoe to display that histrionic talent which has made her so deservedly popular. The performance of the several characters in the drama, so far as the acting was concerned, was excellent. The afterpiece "Did You Ever Take Your Wife to Rousseville," was well brought out, and kept the audience in a roar during its entire performance. We hope Mlle Zoe and her excellent company of artists will soon favor our citizens with another series of entertainments. They will be heartily welcomed.

The company appear at Oil City this evening.

WEST VIRGINIA OIL MATTERS.—The Parkersburg Journal says: The "Davis Well," located on a portion of the Shaw lease on Gale's Fork, struck a large vein on Monday last, and gives fine promise of being a good well.

"Charley" Burns, who is boring a well on Island run, near Burning Springs, struck a large vein, at a depth of 800 feet, on Monday last. It "blows" gas fearfully three or four times a day, and the indications are that the oil is close at hand. If this well proves a success, it will open up a vast tract of undeveloped territory.

Some 1,200 barrels of oil came down from Burning Springs on Saturday last.

PITTSBURGH'S LONG ISLAND RIVAL.—A few days ago the False-Reporting Tribune announced the discovery of an oil well at Sag Harbor, L. I. The spot where this unctuous vein was found turns out, however, to have formerly been the site of a carpenter's shop, and the ground had been saturated to the depth of about a foot by the dripping and leakage of the oil canal.—N. Y. Sun.

Mr. Charles Pittier, an old resident of Oil City, and latterly a resident of Pontiac, Michigan, died on the 7th ult. at Abilene, Kansas.

It cost a Tipton, (Indiana) man $38 85 to promenade the streets of that town attired only in a shew of tobacco.

San Francisco has about $28,000 on hand for the French relief fund.

TIDIOUTE VS. TITUSVILLE; OR WHO'S AHEAD.—A short time ago, a party of the elite of Tidioute, numbering about one hundred couples went over in sleighs to Titusville, to hear Miss Kellogg perform in a newly erected Opera House.

They "came, they saw," they heard, but whether they conquered or not remains to be told.

The Titusvillians (or some of them) remarked that "Tidioute had turned out a hundred or more buckwheats to the performance.

This remark reached the ears of some of the fair ones of Tidioute of course; and one of them replied: That buckwheats or not, one thing she observed, and that was, that the Tidiouters were not only the best looking party in the house; but in addition to that they occupied all the reserved and front seats; and furthermore that the Opera house was built and owned by one of the "Tidioute buckwheats." Now Mr. Titusville in the graphic though mistaken language of the teuton "how high is do?" "Do you see de schoke?"—Kittaning Sentinel.

THE LAWRENCE COUNTY WELL.—The New Castle Journal says: The oil well of the Slippery Rock Oil Company is now about 270 feet deep. The prospects of oil were last week so favorable that the company concluded to pump the well, which resulted, after the water was exhausted, in the discharge of about three gallons of oil, on the strength of which the operator, Mr. Eckert, threw away that old fur cap, and thinking that it would not be needed further one of spectators stamped it into the ground, but unfortunately the well stopped yielding and the old cap had to be raked out again.

A Kansas City editor, who employs a laundryman, is in a panic. Hear him: "They sent home with our washing ye today a thing that brabbes off in two ways a little below the top like a railway junction, and has puckered frills edged with 'telling' on each side of the divide. We don't know what it is, and we're a poor, friendless man, with only our virtue, and none but villains would seek to injure 'hat."

The Worcester Evening Gazette thus dispenses of "Mary's Lamb":

"Mary had a little lamb,"
We've heard it o'er and o'er,
Until that little lamb became
A perfect little bore.

So I propose there shall be dug
A grave both deep and wide,
In which that lamb and all its bards
Be buried side by side.

The New Orleans Republican says that a few days ago, as a boy, eighteen years old was wading along Melyomene street, in that city, which was deeply flooded at the time, he suddenly felt an acute pain in one of his feet, and, on raising it to the surface, saw a conger eel follow, and felt it bite him again. He soon grew very sick, and was carried to his home and attended promptly by a physician, but died the next day.

MARRIAGE.—The good wife is gone of our dainty dames, who love to appear in a variety of suits every day new; as if a good gown like a stratagem in war, were to be used but once. But our good wife sets up a sail according to the keel of her husband's estate, and if of high parentage, she doth not so remember what she was by birth, that she forgets what she is by match.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump for Pumping Oil or Water in Deep Wells.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump is acknowledged to be the best pump now in use. One of its leading features is that it not only produces a continuous flow of oil or other fluid, but that it creates and sustains a constant and powerful suction, by means of which the seams or veins of the well are in a great measure cleared of paraffine and other obstructions, and the oil in the veins is drawn towards the well. It has been ascertained by actual test that the use of this pump causes a gradually increasing flow of oil. It is well known by oil operators that this improvement is of great value, and one that has been long sought for. The ablest mechanics of our country have for years been at work trying to find out some new and untried plan to prolong the life time of an oil well; and nothing yet to our knowledge has been brought before the public that in any way equals the power of the Kenyon Pump, experience having taught that it is the long continued suction that has the power to keep up and increase the production of oil wells. Oil operators are referred to Mr. Geo. Boulton, Superintendent of the Columbia Farm, for information in regard to the practical workings of the Kenyon Pump. We append the following testimonial from the managers of the Columbia Farm:

OFFICE COLUMBIA OIL CO.
Columbia Farm, Jan. 28.

Dear Sir:—We are using your Double Acting Oil Pumps in three of our oil wells and take pleasure in stating that we are getting more oil and gas from each of them than was previously obtained by the use of working barrels. We believe your oil pump to be the best in use.

Respectfully yours,
G. W. BOULTON, Sup't.
