Bret Harte will dish up the oil region in petroleum vernacular before long.—Ex.
If Bret undertakes the job it is to be hoped he will "dish it up" in better style than the "bezzine galleots" connected with Every Saturday did. Their written sketch was a combination of misrepresentations and mis-statements of the oil region and its people from beginning to end, while the illustrations were miserable caricatures that would disgrace the pages of the cheapest penny-a-liner comic print in the country.—It is well known to all that the natural scenery of the oil regions, especially along the Allegheny River, on Pithole Creek and Oil Creek, Church Run, Cherrytree Run, and many other localities, cannot be surpassed for beauty, and how the so called artist and the well known publishers of Every Saturday could have the "cheek" to palm off on its readers such a miserable fraud is past comprehension. It must have been intended as huge joke from beginning to end, and even if that were the intention the joke is pointless—worse than a man buying six-twentieths in a dry hole or investing his money in an oil well; laboring under the delusion that it would prove a flowing well, and awakening to the reality that the well had not enough oil in it to "grease a bull wheel," and not even pumping dust.

An alarm of fire about nine o'clock last night, was occasioned by a pasteboard hat box which had been accidentally placed on top of the stove, in Leonhauser's barber shop, catching fire from the heat arising from the stove. The fire was speedily extinguished before any damage was done.

An inventive genius on the Illinois Central Railroad has discovered that a train of cars can be run by the vacuum created by the flame of crude petroleum. We have known for a long time that petroleum would create a vacuum in a fairly confined space to run a train, but this railroad man's business is to invent for us to see Another Unfortunate--Suicide of Mary Jane Charters.

The upper end of town was thrown into excitement, last evening, by the announcement that a woman residing in a house a short distance above the American Hotel, kept by one Fannie Meaker, had committed suicide by taking morphine. Upon repairing to the house our reporter discovered that the report was true, and elicited the following facts in regard to the case from the testimony given before the coroner's jury and from other reliable sources: The right name of the woman was Mary Jane Charters, but she was known among the inmates of the house as Mollie Walker alias "Irish Mollie." The principal witnesses examined before the coroner's jury were Fannie Meaker, Annie Hart, and a colored boy named Albert Bowen. The woman had been living with a man named Ward, and it appears had a quarrel with him some time ago about a woman named Mollie Mitchell. On Wednesday night, about 12 o'clock, Ward came into the house in a state of intoxication, and began talking in a loud tone of voice to the girls in the house about the girl Mitchell. The deceased it appears had retired to her room, but overheard the remarks of Ward, and answered by applying insulting epithets to Ward's mother, which provoked him to such an extent that he would "put an eye on her." She, however, avoided him and made her escape by the back way in her night dress and took shelter for the balance of the night with a female friend in a house near by.

About nine o'clock yesterday morning, according to a statement made by her before she became unconscious, to other inmates of the house, she took several drinks of liquor, came to the lower end of the town and procured a quantity of morphine. Returning home she took one powder containing about four grains, ate her breakfast, which she threw up soon after, probably from the effects of the liquor, throwing up with it as is supposed the morphine powder. Shortly after she complained of not feeling well; said she felt as if she was going to have a fit, to which she had heretofore been subject, and laid down in her room. About two o'clock in the afternoon she called to the colored boy, Bowen, to bring her a glass of water, and as he testified in the act of taking a powder into her mouth as he stepped into the room.—Bowen immediately searched the room, and discovered two more powders which he burned up. About an hour after taking the powder she became unconscious, and despite the efforts of a physician who was immediately summoned, expired about ten o'clock last evening. When Bowen took the remaining powders from her, the poor unfortunate remarked that "she was tired of life and wanted to die," and had telegraphed to her mother. The two women testified that she had been in depressed spirits on account of Ward leaving her, and gave it as their opinion that she was induced to commit the rash act for no other reason. She is supposed to have swallowed about eight grains of morphine altogether.

A coroner's jury was summoned by Justice Reynolds, last evening, who proceeded to the house and after viewing the corpse of deceased, adjourned to meet at 8 o'clock this morning. At the session of the jury this forenoon, considerable difficulty was experienced by the jury in arriving at the facts of the case, many of the witnesses appearing to think that their evidence would implicate Ward as being accessory to her death. The following is the finding of the coroner's jury from the evidence given:

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, } ss
VENANGO COUNTY, }
We, the undersigned, having been duly summoned and empanelled as a jury to determine the cause of the death of Mary Jane Charters, alias Mollie Walker, after a hearing of the testimony, have come to our verdict, that the said Mary Jane Charters, alias Mollie Walker, came to her death from the effects of a narcotic poison, administered by herself.

Attest: SAMUEL REYNOLDS, J. P.

The unfortunate woman was about 24 years of age, and her parents reside at some point between Youngstown and Warren, Ohio, on the A. & G. W. Railway, and are said to be very respectable people. They have been telegraphed to but no answer has been returned as yet.

Unless the body is claimed by the relatives it will be buried on the hill, back of the Churches, to-morrow morning.

They arrested a man at Petroleum Centre the other day just for going into a railroad car and sitting down, hard, in a strange lady's lap; the loose individual sat there and refused to get up, notwithstanding the squalls and squirms of the lady, until a policeman came in and took him to the lock-up. They are putting on a good many trills lately, down there. Next we shall hear of their arresting people for highway robbery and "sich" games. There is too much missionary work being done in Oil-don.—Jamestown Journal

After perpetrating the above "idle tale," we would suggest that the "missionary work in Oil-don" be immediately transferred to Jamestown, and that most strenuous endeavors be used for the conversion of the Journal man before it is everlastingly too late.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Monday afternoon last Mrs. Charles H. Swan, residing on the Cochran farm, was terribly burned by an oil explosion. She had been filling lamps, and discovering, while using the oil can, that the fire in the stove was nearly out, she attempted to give it a start by the aid of the oil. The oil took fire, exploding in the can, and immediately ignited her clothing. In an instant she was completely enveloped in flames and rushed out of doors, where she was discovered by some neighbors who ran to her assistance, but too late to be of any use, for before they could reach her all of her clothing was consumed. They succeeded however in saving the dwelling from being damaged by the fire. Her only child, a little boy six years old, witnessed the scene, and the mother, in all of her agony and suffering, was thoughtful enough to keep her boy from coming too close to her. Mr. Swan was absent at the time of the accident. The unfortunate woman died in a few hours.—Venango Spectator.

SCENE IN WESTFIELD.—On Thursday morning last the body of James Fowler, formerly a member of the "Harris Community," at Brocton, New York, was discovered on the bank of "The Gulf," near Westfield, by a passer-by. Fowler was last seen alive at the Westfield House, where he was being treated by Dr. Couch, on Wednesday evening, and the supposition is that he proceeded from there on that evening to the place where his body was discovered and took his life by shooting himself in the mouth. When found he was lying on his back on his overcoat, with his revolver still clasped in his hand and its nozzle in his mouth. His remains were taken to Brocton where they were buried by the Community on Friday.

Deceased only with drew from the Community a short time since, and having engaged in some unsuccessul business matters, together with family troubles, was undoubtedly the reason of his taking his life. He was about 35 years of age, intelligent, upright, and respected by a large circle of friends.

Yesterday was Maunday Thursday. On this day our Lord washed his feet and gave them a commandment to do likewise; hence it is called dias mandata—Mandate, or Maunday Thursday. In the medieval Church, the penitents that were put out of the church on Ash Wednesday were on this day admitted again to Communion, there being then a celebration of the Holy Communion, in remembrance of our Lord's instituting this sacrament for the remission of sins on this day. To-day is Good Friday.

General Kane who has been seriously ill for some time, at his home at Kane, on the P. & E. R. R., is slowly recovering.—His physician says of him:
"General Kane will undoubtedly recover. Nothing in the operation or its results disappoints our expectations. To-day's symptoms are peculiarly favorable."
Colonel Henry R. Forbes, an ex-army officer, says a Western letter-writer, went to Cheyenne recently to lecture on the evils of intemperance; but the inhabitants regarding the subject as a personal affront, rushed into the hall, extinguished the lights, and drove the Colonel out of town.

Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump for Pumping Oil or Water in Deep Wells.
Kenyon's New Double Acting Oil Pump is acknowledged to be the best pump now in use. One of its leading features is that it not only produces a continuous flow of oil or other fluid, but that it creates and sustains a constant and powerful suction, by means of which the seams or veins of the well are in a great measure cleared of paraffine and other obstructions, and the oil in the veins is drawn towards the well. It has been ascertained by actual test that the use of this pump causes a gradually increasing flow of oil. It is well known by oil operators that this improvement is of great value, and one that has been long sought for. The ablest mechanics of our country have for years been at work trying to find out some new and untried plan to prolong the life time of an oil well; and nothing yet to our knowledge has been brought before the public that in any way equal the power of the Kenyon Pump, experience having taught that it is the long continued suction that has the power to keep up and increase the production of oil wells. Oil operators are referred to Mr. Geo. Boulton, Superintendent of the Columbia Farm, for information in regard to the practical workings of the Kenyon Pump. We append the following testimonial from the managers of the Columbia Farm:

OFFICE COLUMBIA OIL CO.
Columbia Farm, Jan. 28.
Mr. H. K. KENYON:
Dear Sir:—We are using your Double Acting Oil Pumps in three of our oil wells and take pleasure in stating that we are getting more oil and gas from each of them than was previously obtained by the use of working barrels. We believe your oil pump to be the best in use.
Respectfully yours,
G. W. BOULTON, Sup't.
