A day or two ago several parties indulged in the pleasant pastime of shooting at a mark with revolvers, on the bank of the Creek, back of the McClintock House. This sport no doubt is very agreeable to those engaged, but they do not appear to realize that they are endangering people's lives by so doing. At the time these men were engaged in firing, several children were playing on the opposite bank of the Creek and a number of men were at work on Hanna & Co's machine shop, and the bullets whizzed in such dangerous proximity to them that the men were forced to temporarily quit work being in fear of their lives. Unless this practice is stopped we are requested to state that the parties will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. A word to the wise is sufficient.

It will be remembered that a few months since we published a sketch of a new invention known as Robinson's System of Electro Magnetic Railway Signals, Road Crossing and Automatic Signals, indicating Location, Direction, Rapidity and Length of Railway Trains, patented by our townsman, Mr. Wm Robinson. From Mr. R. we learn that his invention has recently been placed on one section of the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad about forty miles from Warren, for the purpose of practically testing its merits, and that it is the intention of the Pennsylvania Central Railway Co. to put it in general use along its entire line should the test prove successful. The section in operation on the Philadelphia & Erie R. R. is said to be working in a highly satisfactory manner, and there is a strong probability of the system being generally adopted on the Pennsylvania Road. The invention is a valuable one, and we predict will come into general use on the railroads of the United States, it being a sure preventive against railroad accidents.
 Lincolnville has the first station built on the Union & Titusville R. R.

Sudden Death.—A fatal accident occurred on the 18th inst., on the Wood Farm, near Petroleum Centre, by the explosion of a boiler connected with an engine used in putting down an oil well, which resulted in the instantaneous death of Mr. John Consider, of the vicinity of Cochranton, Pa.—He was engaged as fireman and engineer, and it is supposed was in the act of examining the boiler, and as he threw open the doors, the jar caused thereby instantly exploded the too highly expanded material, throwing him a distance of about one hundred yards, and cutting the back of his head in a frightful manner, so that he was picked up a corpse. No others were injured, though the driller was at his post when the accident occurred.—Meadville Republican.

The theory of the Republican that the simple jar of the furnace door by opening was sufficient to explode the boiler is erroneous. The boiler was liable to explode at any moment under the fearful pressure of steam which the deceased was running at the time. The boiler has since been examined by competent mechanics and it has been shown plainly that it was filled with more than the requisite amount of water at the time of the explosion, but that it was generating steam at a very rapid rate, and the ball attached to the safety valve was too large, not allowing it to "blow off" at less than 150 pounds.—High pressure of steam was undoubtedly the only cause of the explosion in this case.

JARRED.—A young man calling himself Prof. J. G. Griffith arrived in the third ward last week and hung out his shingle as a medical man, heavy on catarrh and chronic diseases in general. But Prof. Griffith has come to grief. He was arrested on Monday afternoon for practicing medicine without a license, and, in default of two hundred dollars bail, was sent to jail by Justice Lytle.—Venango Spectator.

We hope hereafter that the officers of the law in this place will see to it that the many traveling quacks who visit in this section are provided with a license for practicing medicine. The matter should be attended to.

The Oil City Register says:
 Another good well has been struck on Patchell Run, near Franklin, rated at 75 to 100 bbls., but wells in this locality soon run down so that the daily production at the start gives but a very erroneous idea of their average for the first 60 days, which is from five to eight bbls. per day for such a well as this.

The Universalists are to have regular preaching in Titusville hereafter, money having been raised for that purpose.

Miss Jennie F. McBride, of McBride-Wagner breach of promise notoriety, is to open a select school at Franklin, on Monday next. She is said to be an able and competent teacher.

The New York Clipper calls the San Francisco Minstrels the best troupe traveling.

The last surviving revolutionary pensioner, and the only positively known revolutionary soldier alive, is Daniel Frederick Bateman, now residing in Freedom, Cattaraugus county, New York, where he has resided for the past sixteen years. Mr. Bateman is about one hundred and nine years old, and makes his mark as signature to the pension receipt.

ANOTHER RAILROAD TO DUNKIRK.—The Erie R'y having purchased the Titusville and Union Railroad, propose to extend the same from Union, Pennsylvania, to Dunkirk. A surveying party is to be started forthwith for the laying out of the most feasible route. The length will be from 40 to 45 miles.—Fredonia Advertiser.

By reference to the advertisement elsewhere, it will be seen that the old-time favorites, Sherry's New York Theatrical Company, will appear at Sobel's Opera House, on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. The mere announcement of their coming is a sufficient guarantee of crowded houses.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, in which we find an announcement of the death of an infant daughter of our former townsman, Mr. Jas. M. Nowlen. The friends of Mr. N. and wife in this vicinity will sympathize with them in their sad affliction.

Mr. John Walters, the newly elected Constable, has appointed Mr. Thomas McHugh a Deputy Constable for this place.

Mr. L. M. Sternburg is about to establish a new lumber yard at Franklin. The citizens of Franklin will God Mr. S. a reliable man in every respect, and the quality of lumber he proposes to keep on hand will be unexcelled in the oil region.

The Cleveland Herald of a recent date has the following in regard to gas wells in that city:

About two weeks since the Cleveland Gas Light and Coke Co., doubtless induced by the general excitement which the late movement in the matter of sinking artesian gas wells in this vicinity has occasioned, engaged a practical "borist," having headquarters in the oil regions, to commence operations at their works situated between Water and River streets in this city, for the purpose of ascertaining what is moving about in the bowels of the earth beneath us. The work progressed with the results usually attending such undertakings until a day or two since when the first traces of water were perceptible. By Thursday fully fifteen feet of water had accumulated in the pipe, which was about eight inches in diameter, and about noon on that day, the bore being a little over one hundred feet deep, the men were suddenly stricken with astonishment when the whole volume of water, together with dirt, chips, tools, etc., came up from the bore with such a force as to cause a pretty general scattering among the workmen.

A plank was placed over the orifice to check the flow of gas but the man, who volunteered to "hold it down," was pitched into mid-air and fell with such force as to considerably injure him. A hundred pound weight was applied but it was of no avail, and one weighing five hundred pounds was none too powerful to resist the force of the current of gas. A pipe of about an inch bore was connected with the well, and a supply conducted to one of the shops of the company, and when a light was applied it ignited and shot out a flame at least twelve feet in length.

The flame produces intense heat, but for illuminative purposes it is not to be very highly estimated, as a flame of the size usual in our street lamps, did not produce a light in brilliancy in any way to be compared to that of two candles. The gas is said to be very pure, but will not, it is probable, be of any value for purposes of illumination. It is thought, however, that it will prove a very important acquisition in its utilization for heating purposes. Several scientific men examined the gas on Thursday, and we understand that another test is to be made of its power and properties.—Some have expressed the opinion that the present flow would soon be exhausted if allowed free course for a day or two, it being thought by them to be only a "surface supply."

A pair of Wisconsin parents offered to bet a hundred dollars to fifty that their little girl, thirteen years old, could commit to memory more verses of Scripture than any girl of the same weight in the neighborhood. No one would make the bet, so they matched her against time. She repeated 1,100 verses, had the brain lever, and went to be an angel. The parents are still at large.

Rev. Bishop Simpson, of the M. E. Church, is to deliver two lectures at Oil City, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, May 8th and 9th.

Bret Hartie hats are the latest sensation in the fashions.

Professor Terry, who made a balloon ascension and trapeze at Grady's circus, at Dayton, O., on Friday afternoon, narrowly escaped a most horrible death. The balloon, which was inflated with hot air by means of a furnace, immediately after raising, took fire and burned with great fury.—Terry all the while performing his wonderful feats—first hanging with one leg, then with one arm. In descending, remnants of the balloon passed through a large willow tree. Terry, at this moment, let go his hold and clung to a limb, thereby saving his life.
