SINGULAR—Some two months since a well was started on the old Rupert farm, now owned by Fenton & Nowlan, near Parker's Landing. About three weeks ago, at a depth of 800 feet a vein of gas was struck which escapes from the well with a roar that can be plainly heard a mile away. At the time the gas vein was struck the large heavy tools in use at the well had been drawn and stood in the derrick, the drill resting on a block of wood placed directly over the top of the well. So tremendous was the force of the gas that the tools were raised at least five feet from the ground and came down to one side allowing the gas full vent. Everything movable in the well—water, mud, pebbles, &c.—came out with the gas. This occurred about three weeks since, and the owners have been waiting ever since in hopes the volume of gas would diminish somewhat in order that the work of drilling might proceed, but up to the present time it has increased instead of falling off. Yesterday the work of removing the boiler to some distance from the well, in order to avoid the danger from fire, commenced, and drilling will commence again in a day or two. The well is owned by Mr. James Nowlan, of Foxburg. It is rather a singular freak of nature.

The two steamers containing the prize fighters, Mace and Coburn, and their backers, seconds and the roughs generally, left Erie at 1 o'clock this morning for some point on the Canada shore, known only to the captives of the boats. Both of the men are said to be in excellent condition for pounding one another. Unless there is unusual detention in landing, or the Canadian authorities interpose, the boats will probably return this evening, and speculation as to who is the "better man," Mace or Coburn, will be at an end. Another rumor says the fight is now going on at or near North East, in Erie county.

Without us to have a drying park.

The Prize Fight Between Mace and Coburn Declared Off.

By a telegram from Erie we learn that the much talked of prize fight between Mace and Coburn is declared off, and turns out to be a fizzle.

The men are said to have fought an hour and thirty minutes, when the ring was broken into by outsiders, and the referee declared the fight off.

Good can come out of Nazareth. California sets an example for Eastern jurists. The result of the trial of that human tigress, Mrs. Fair, who shot down Mr. Crittenden when seated by his family, has demonstrated that even in the land where life is supposed to be cheapest, justice has not lost its way. The jury in the case of Mrs. Fair brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, though it had been supposed that the trial would prove a mere farce by an acquittal. This triumph of justice over a depraved sentiment that makes a hero of a woman, no matter how depraved, her antecedents, who takes her revenge into her own hands, will be hailed all over the land as a dawn of better things, when jurists will not shut their eyes to justice and madly follow a sickly sentimentality, or a corrupt public opinion.

A gentleman of our acquaintance who has recently been in Binghamton, N. Y., says there is a pretty general apprehension in that vicinity that the murderer Ruloff will not be executed.

Saturday afternoon C. v. Culver, Esq., entered one of the engine houses belonging to the Reno Company at Reno, and found an individual, who for convenience we will call Brown, engaged in making preparations to carry off some of the articles stored therein. Mr. Culver ordered him to leave the premises when Brown refused to go, and assaulted him with a loaded cane. Mr. C., with commendable pluck and energy took the cane away from Brown and shattered it over the refractory individual's head. Brown then left and Mr. Culver came to this city and swore out a warrant against him before Justice Boyce, for assault and battery.—Oil City Register.

Under the efficient management of Mr. S. R. Stratton, the present popular landlord of the American Hotel, Titusville, that house is rapidly gaining in public favor. Mr. S. is continually making new improvements to add to the comfort and convenience of his guests. His tables are loaded down with the good things of this life, and every delicacy of the season is procured in order to gratify and please all who may favor him with their patronage. Those of our citizens visiting Titusville, and desiring to stop at a good hotel should by all means put up with mine host Stratton, at the American.

G. W. B., the learned correspondent of the Erie Dispatch, pronounces against Sherry's New York Theatre, in general and Mr. J. W. Carner and Miss Virginia Howard in particular. The company played crowded houses here, and competent critics pronounce the acting of the gentleman and lady spoken of above, as being of a superior and meritorious character.—In our humble opinion they are good performers.

The frosts of the past few nights it is feared have permanently injured the fruit crop hereabouts. From a gentleman who recently arrived from Western New York, we learn that the frosts in that section are fully as severe as they have been here.—He thinks the fruit crop is entirely ruined with the exception of apples.

The Meadville oil well is now 400 feet deep. A vein of sand rock was struck at a depth of 350 feet from the surface. Several gas veins have been struck. It is the intention of the company to sink the well to a depth of 1,000 feet in order to satisfactorily test the matter as to whether oil exists in that vicinity or not.

Yesterday passenger trains on the O. C. & A. R. R. carried large numbers of colored people en route to attend the XVth Amendment celebration at Meadville.

A band of minstrels is being organized at Erie. Hope they will have better success than Titusville's favorites.—The Georgia minstrels, who were celebrated principally for the knack they had of forgetting to settle their little bills.

A base ball club has been organized at Rouseville, to be known as the Rouseville Base Ball Club.

The Tidoute Journal says: A Base Ball Club has been organized here. Its name is the "Empire." It is ready to play a match game with any club in the vicinity. The boys are young and lively and mean business every time.

A Townful of Young Women Summoned.

In Scranton, Pa., they have a Y. M. C. A. The President is very thin and very zealous, and very closely resembles the Hon. B. Franklin Manierre. He wears an up and down high hat with the polish rubbed off, an antediluvian black frock coat, a square-cut pair of pantaloons, and round-toed boots, all brushed to the extremity of respectability. About two months ago the spirit moved him more strongly than usual, and he caused the arrest of thirty-five liquor dealers of the town. As the day of trial drew near the whole neighborhood was excited. The wicked whisky men had served subpoenas to appear in Court upon all the unmarried young ladies in the city. Scranton was in an uproar instantly. The newspapers stormed, big brothers were enraged and lovers dogged the footsteps of the unhappy President of the Y. M. C. A., threatening all sorts of ferocious things, until in terror and despair he rushed to the Court and begged leave to withdraw the complaint, promising to pay all costs incurred. Thus it happens that whiskey in the only thing to-day in Scranton which shows evidence of progress and prosperity.

An apology "as is an apology," is thus published in a Kansas paper: "Some time last winter Dr. S. E. Sheldon ordered me to make him a fine single-breasted frock coat, to be worth $45. I made the coat, and it was a perfect fit; but he left it on my hands because he wanted a 'swallow tail' instead, whereby I suffered a loss of $20. This spring he ordered of me a business suit, and endeavored to again leave a coat on my hands. I told him to leave me the whole suit or pay me for it. He refused, and I kicked him out of my shop at eight o'clock on the morning of March 27, 1871. He has since, however, paid me, and requested an apology, which I now make, and state that had he paid me for my work as requested, I would not have kicked him out of my shop as above mentioned.—J. V. Hart."

EAST SANDY OIL FIELD.—East Sandy oil field is rapidly approaching in value our neighboring oil districts. The Cannon well No. 4 is now pumping 60 barrels per day, and some well posted oil men estimate it far higher. This well is a curiosity, as it pumps and flows at the same time. It is located near the Clarion county line.—Independent.

Washington's fowling piece—a Grenoble—carried by him in 1751-5, is to be presented to the Virginia Historical Society. The gun, which is of the stub and twist composition, has the name of Washington on the stock, and has his well defined profile engraved on the work near the lock.

The Catholic priest in Stockbridge, Massachusetts, from the altar, on Sunday denounced four or five of his congregation for circulating a scandalous report against a female member, the accused parties have sued the priest for $3,000 for libel, and attached his property.

Mrs. Woodhull does not admire the Compiler-Journal. In the last number of her paper she says:

"PUT THAT AND THAT TOGETHER.—On Monday, April 10th, five hundred barrels of Cincinnati whiskey were landed on the levee in Louisville. On Wednesday, the 12th, the Louisville Courier-Journal appeared without a line of editorial."

The Titusville papers say that the best attended church in or near that city is Courser Run.

Passenger trains commence running over the Union & Titusville Railroad, on Monday next. Two trains each way will run daily, connecting at Union with trains on the Erie Railway.

C. M. Rouse, a brakeman on the Erie & Pittsburgh Railroad, was run over and killed at Jamestown, last Monday.

The Railroad thieves lately operating in this region seem to have become aware of the police arrangements made for their benefit and have left for parts unknown.—They have not been seen in this region since the McCray robbery.—Oil City Register.

Having added to my large stock, I am now ready to supply Scotch Whisky, Jamaica Rum and all other imported goods at New York prices.
