Last week's and this week's East Brady Independent reports a daily production on Armstrong Run and Brady's Bend Iron Co's territory of between 1,000 and 1,200 barrels. The Titusville Courier's monthly oil report gives 220 barrels as the average daily production of the same territory; the Herald's report places it at 201 barrels per day, and the Petroleum Producers' report at a lower figure still. We would like to know which of the four reports is correct. It looks as if the Independent report was exa gerated just about 1,000 barrels. For proof we cite one instance. Last would the Independent reported the Wolfe well, on the Clark farm, Armstrong Run, as yielding 80 barrels per day; we have it from reliable authority that the well has never produced over 6 barrels per day. Where's the "lightthis problem?

The match game of base ball, which was to have been played to-day on the Boyd Farm, between the Engles of Titusville, and the Unknowns of Pioneer, has been postponed until some day next week.

The prize fighters, Mace and Coburn, and the roughs accompanying them, arrived back to Erie, yesterday morning. During the morning, says the Dispatch, Mace was about the city and spoke freely of the previous day's occurrences. He said Cobnra did not mean to fight him. He had given him every opportunity. Coburn, he said, was a counting, tricky man with a bad set of backers who would scraple at nothing to disable an antagonist who wanted a fair. stand-up fight. Mace's trainers and seconds say that the gang about Coburn's corper were prepared to disable Mace if be came within reach. They any the Coburn men would have thrown pepper or vitrol in his face if he could have been couxed well into the Coburn corner. Among sporting m-n generally, without regard to personsi preferences, Coburn's conduct is denonneed as suesking and cowardly. Dick Hollywood, of Indianapolis, the referee, announced that he should declare all bets on the final result of the contest of Thursday, "off." He, also, ordered the principals to resume the fight in Kausas, at a point near the boundaries of Kansas, Missouri and Neb asks, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., on the second of June, three weeks from yesterday. Mace said he would be on the ground. Doubts are expressed whether Coburn will ever again put in an appearance in the same ring with Mace.

Mease & Armstrong, flour and feed dealer, next door to the McClintock House, have just received two or three car loads of flour, feed and chop—the very best the market affords. In addition they have enough hay on hand to supply the wants of all the horses in Western Pennsylvania, and potatoes enough to feed their owners for an unlimited period. Neither has the war in France, the Mace Coburn prize fight, or any other man, interfered with their prices; on the contrary they are selling provisions, &c., cheaper than ever. All of which and more too can be learned by paying them a call.

Bio Fish .- There was received at the Central House, yesterday, by express from Chautauqua Lake, a fish of the muscalonge species, which is four feet 11/2 inches long; 20 inch-s round the largest part of its body, and weighed over 28 lbs. The fish was caught in Chautauqua Lake by Mr. R. W. Bemis, of Bemis Point, and sent as a present to Mr. Joseph Brewa of this place. It was served up for dinner at the Central House, to-day, and pronounced excellent.

Mr. Collins, of Harstord, bought him a dog, a large, bloodthirsty buil-dog. He said be wanted a dog that would stand by his wife when he was away. He was away the next night, and came home late, drunk as usual, when his new dog met him at the door. The dog looked at him as much as to say, "Go back where you got your whisky." Mr. Collins argued with the dog, saking him who was bossing the house .-The dog took a mouthful out of Mr. C. right where he didn't want it taken out. and the owner of the dog is now troubled about sitting down. He wants to sell a good all the solemn and beautiful Among death-bed scenes of which we have heard and read, none are surrounded with a brighter balo of tenderness and sanctity than the death of Rev. Benjamin Eaton, of G-lveston, who died in his pulpit in that city a few days ago. Ascending the desk and annoucing his text, "There is yet room," touchingly referred to the friends who one after another had gone before, and painted Death entering the church door. passing up the sisle, laying its hand to the right and to the left, and leading the people away. Growing apparently entranced, as though the spectre which his eloquence had painted were plain and vivid before his eyes, he advanced while speaking to the chancel rails. There he faltered and staggered. A gentleman who came to his as sistance was waved back, and for the period of ten minutes be continued to speak, although audible only to these near him. -The excitement of the audience was intense Three times he struggled to proceed, exclaiming, "I am very weak, but I must go on." At lest as he raised his hands to pronounce the benediction, he fell into the arms of a friend, dying with the words "To God, the Father," upon his lips. Surely this, if not translation, was closely allied to It is too holy for comment.

Drs. Gray and Vanderpool, who by appolatment of Governor Hoffman, on Wedneeday last, made a thorough examination of the bodily and mental condition of Edward H. Ruloff, have submitted a report that in their judgement be is in sound physical health, and entirely sane.

On the subject of a bereafter, Ruloff is not prepared to accept any form of religious faith. He says that sometimes be thinks there may be a God and Eteruity, but the subject is beyond his comprehension, and he has no belief about the future. He admires nature and the symetrical arrangement of natural objects, but is not convinced that man has a spirit that lives after the body is dead. In short, he believes only what can be demonstrated beyond a doubt.

On being asked why he has spent so much time in the study of philology, he said it was to prepare himself for any position he might be called to occupy, and the last thing be said to the doctors as they were leaving him was to request that they would Intercede to have his life spared for the benefit he would be to science if permitted to live.

STRICTLY PRIVATE .- There are eight newspapers published in Mercer-co.-four more than the people can support, or the wants of the county demand. Six of these are bome enterprises and legitimate establishments; the other two are "patent outside" concerns-newspaper bastards, born of New York cupidity and Mercer-co. stupidity, and sent out into the world to how! for pennies at the doors of the unsophisticated, or beg for crumbs at the tables of the ricb. If there is a fool in the land that has failed to make a living at anything else, he sooner or later drifts into Mercer-co. and storts a newspaper. - Greenville Argu .

Tustle soup has been over and above elenty in Detroit lately, and everybody has had plenty, and now all that have partaken of it are mad because the last man who ate any of it found a sheep's foot in it, and as hundreds of sheep have been dying there lately of foot rot, they think the circumstances may account for the cheap turile soup. The people who keep the restaurants have gone to Canada.
