ABOUT TOWN.

The weather is hot, hotter, hottest; not-tentor, hottentots: t. How to keep cool is the leading topic.

A number of our citizens who have been absent in Crawford county, on a trout fishing excursion, for two or three days past, returned home to-day noon. They brought back as trophies some of the finest specimens of trout we have ever seen. Some of them would weigh nearly a pound.

Messrs. Fisher, Norris & Co. are engaged in putting in a new boiler, for use in their machine shop, the old one being worn out. A new boiler has long been needed in their shop, to enable them to turn out work with dispatch, much trouble having been experienced with the old one.

Soda water is all the rage. Griffes Bros. have it continuously on draft.

Now is the time for our citizens to clean up their door yards, before the extremely warm weather comes on.

There is to be a lecture at Sobel's Opera House, on Sunday evening next, for the benefit of the Catholic Church, by Mr. B. W. Whitaker. Mr. W. is represented as being an able and eloquent speaker. The object is a good one and deserving a liberal patronage. Admittance only 25 cts.

To keep cool and enjoy yourself for an hour or two, drop into Doc Swift's Billiard Parlor, Opera House building, and play a game of billiards.

Our townsman, J. M. Dickey, is now absent at Chicago, as delegate from this Presbytery to the Presbyterian General Assembly, now in session in that city.

"If you want few find out the ruling passion of the host, feed him high on oats—it is just so with mankind," says Billings.

A man's spirit is a sure indication of the lot that awaits him, if he be humble; honor; if naughty, ruin.

The following in regard to the Culver, Penn & Co. failure, which many of our citizens have reason to remember, will be read with interest:

The bankruptcy case of Culver, Penn & Co. was argued last Saturday, on its merits, before Judge Blatchford in the United States District Court. Counsel for the creditors alleged that the Reno property, in Pennsylvania, consisting of 1,200 acres of land, and embracing the village of Reno, is, in reality, the estate of C. V. Culver; that he lives on it and receives the rents and profits thereof; that he is enabled to do this by means of a joint stock concern, called the Reno Company, the majority of the stock being held in the name of Robert F. Brooke, a clerk in the city of Meadville, and a relative of Culver, and that by this contrivance the title is canceled. It is also alleged that the profits of this estate are large, and that Culver's plan is to pay such creditors as will consent to a compromise, by giving them Reno stock, and then refusing to declare dividends thereon. Decision reserved.

MADE IN ROUTE WEST.—The prize fighter, Mace, his trainer Cusick, and others of the Mace party who were present at the Port Dover fiasco, passed through this city en route for Kansas. Hollywood, the referee in the Canada fight that wasn't a fight, decided that Mace and Coburn must battle for the stake money at Kansas City, Mo., on the 2d of June. Mace says he will be in the ring on that day, and if Coburn does not appear, he will claim the $2,000 stake money. Coburn and his friends maintain that, as the articles of agreement say the fight should take place in Canada, the referee has no authority to order the men to Kansas. If Coburn does not face Mace in the ring on the day named, it is said that Harry Hill, the stakeholder, will award Mace the money.—Erie Dispatch.

The Democratic State Convention met at Harrisburg, yesterday. The following nominations were made:

Auditor General—Gen. William McCandless, of Philadelphia.

Surveyor General—Capt. S. M. Cooper, of Lawrence county.

William A. Wallace was elected Chairman of the State Central Committee.

The Commercial Club Reception, at Titusville, this evening, promises to be a grand affair. A large number of distinguished guests will be in attendance.

By the following dispatch which came over the P. & A. wires, yesterday afternoon, it will be seen that crude is on the "rise" in Pittsburgh:

Pittsburgh, May 24th—5 p. m.
Crude—Spot, 13; May, 13; S. O. to July, 13; B. O. to July, 13@13 1/2; S. O. all year 13 1/2; B. O. all year, 13 1/2. Market quiet; sales—2,000 May, 13; 1,000 all year, 12 1/2. Refined—Spot, 2 dollars per drop; May, 100 dollars per pint; June, 200 dollars per quart; July, 500 dollars per spoonfull; B. O. to July, high as the moon.

The common conversation between the Jenkins and Flunkies of Titusville, for the past few days, has been in regard to the Commercial Club Reception, and what to "borrow" for wear on that important occasion. The following is a street scene:

Jenkins—"Do you attend the C. C. R.?"

Flunkey—"Yes."

Jenkins—"What style coat shall you wear?"

Flunkey—"Swallowtail."

Jenkins—"Who did you borrow it of?"

Exit Flunkey arm in arm with Jenkins, to reappear at the Reception in "swallowtail."

The banquet tendered to Henry Harley by the Commercial Club of Titusville, last evening, was a grand affair. Mr. Harley was presented with an elegant punch bowl. Fisk was not present, but telegraphed his regrets.

Corry has a colored band.

It is rumored in Petroleum Centre that the depot at that place is to be removed to some point above the bridge.—Titusville Herald.

We have heard no such rumor. It would be a "high old note" indeed, to move the depot out of town for the accommodation of the vast number of people that live thereabouts "in a horn."

Attention is called to the advertisement of Lammers the Clothier, No. 6 Spring St., Titusville, Pa.

—Some people are always very correct, you never can discover any fault in them but they don't amount to much.

Many persons by a recent act of congress, discharged soldiers can take quarter sections of land under numerous advantages which are not accorded to others. The soldier's superior advantages number just one. He can locate his one hundred and fifty acres within twenty miles of a railroad, to which land grants have been made—the civilian can take only eighty acres. Outside of railroad limits, the soldier has no advantage.

LIKE AFTER THE OPERA.—Since the night when Ike went to the opera, he has been, as Mrs. Partington said, crazy, and the kind old dame has been fearful lest he should become "non prompons mentus, through his attempt at imitating the operations." The morning after the opera, at the breakfast table, Ike handed over his cup, and in a soft tongue sang:

"Will you, will you, Mrs. P.,
Help me to a cup of tea?"

The old lady looked at him with surprise, his conduct was so unusual, and for a moment she hesitated. He continued in a far more impassioned strain:

"Do not, do not keep me waiting,
Do not, pray, be hesitating,
I am anxious to be drinking;
So pour out as quick as winking."

She gave him the tea with a sigh, as she saw the excitement in his face. He stirred it in silence, and in his abstraction took three spoonfuls of sugar. At last he sang again:

"Table cloths, and cups and saucers,
Good white bread, and active jaws,
airs.

Tea—gunpowder, and souchong—
Sweet enough, but not too strong."

"What do you mean my boy?" said Mrs. Partington, tenderly.

"All right, steady, never clearer,
Never loved a breakfast dearer
I'm not bound by witch or wizard,
So don't fret your precious gizzard."

"But Isaac — — —" persisted the dame, Ike struck his left hand upon the table, and swung his knife aloft in his right, looking at a plate upon the table, singing—

"What form is that to me appearing?
Is it mackerel or is it herring?
Let me dash upon it quick
Ne'er again that fish shall flick—
Charge upon them, Isaac, charge!"

Before he had a chance to make a dash upon the flesh, Mrs. Partington had dashed a tumbler of water into his face to restore him to "conscientiousness." It made him catch his breath for a moment but he didn't sing any more at the table, though the opera fever still follows elsewhere.

George A. Buckner of Washington Court house, Ohio, started for California early in 1849, taking with him a Testament presented to him by his sister, Mrs. Briggs, mother of the late Hon. M. Briggs, and containing affectionate inscriptions by her and her son. This was lost during the long and perilous journey overland, and not heard from until a few days ago, when a mysterious package came to Mr. Buckner, addressed to either of the names above mentioned, which proved, to be the lost gift of affection. The book inclosed a letter from Captain B. S. Hatch, of the North Star, dated Kennebunk, Maine, March 7 1871, saying that he found it about two years ago on his vessel, when sailing in the Pacific Ocean and brought it east a few days before "The thought struck me," he added "that I would send it to Ohio and see if it would reach those to whom it belonged, I shall be pleased to hear from them." The package inclosing the long-wandering book was mailed to Chillicothe, and thence forwarded to Washington Court-House.

Delinquents, take warning. Baroacle left Clarion county a few years ago without paying his subscription to the Democrat. The next we hear of Baroacle he is convicted of murder and sent to the penitentiary. After a man cheats the printer there is no telling what will befall him.—Clarion Democrat

A lady in St. Louis has made a decided improvement on the ordinary breach of promise suite. Her complaint not only embraced the false lover in the charges, but the gentleman she wanted for a father-in-law also. He had objected to the proposed match, and thereby influenced his son to break it up

In spite of all the exposures of the counterfeit greenback-saw-dust-swindle, a resident of New Galilee, Mercer county, took a box from the express office at Egan Valley last week, paying ninety-six dollars thereon and found it filled with saw-dust. Greenborn wanted to make a disturbance, but upon a reminder that he had been engaged in an attempt to defraud the government, he subsided, and went home a sadder, but a wiser man.

Mr. Carver, doing the honors of the table said to one of his guests a fashionably dressed girl of the period, "I see that you have plenty of breast, Miss, but do have a little more dressing."

A CARD.

Having had many inquiries for tooth powders, soaps and washes that I could commend, as not being injurious to the gums and enamel of the teeth, I am happy to announce that I have just received a quantity of the same, submitted for analysis to the Philadelphia College, and pronounced by their wholesome and harmless, at my Dental office.
