A gentleman who arrived from West Hickory, this forencon, informs us that nearly the entire burnt district at Fagundas City is built over, and with a superior class of buildings. It is surprising how rapidly these oil towns do build up, in the very face of the fire flend. The business men of the oil region are of that active energetic class that will not be put down by either fire or flood. If visited by disaster they are sure to rise and flourish again. No section of country exhibits a more energetic lot of live men than the oil region. Beat it, who can!

The oil works of Alexander Schofield & Co , Columbia farm, recently destroyed by fire, have been rebuilt and are again in MUSTERED OUT.

They're mustered out; the grizzled sire, The son in boyish beauty. From life's forced march, from battle-fire, They're resting after duty.

Their heds were spread with vernal sheen, Two angels came and made them green-The supships and the showers:

Now let them be with garlands spread By living comrades of the dead And maidens-buman flowers; God's beautiful thoughts are flowers.

And while the race shall here be free. And while we all shall equal be

Throughout this land of ours-For aye, for aye, the Thirtieth Day Of ever welcome, beautiful May, Shall be the day for flowers-For soldiers dead-and flowers.

Nor DEAD. -There is nothing good and beautiful that dies and is forgotten. An infant, a prattling child, dying in its cradle, will live again in the better thoughts of those who loved it, and play its part, though its body be burned to ashes, or drowned in the deepest sea. There is not an angel added to the Losts ot heaven but does its blessed work on earth by those that loved it bere.

Dead! Ob, if the good deeds of human creatures could be traced to their source, how beautiful would even death appear; for how much charity, mercy, purified affection, would be seen to have their growth in dusty graves. - [Charles Dickens.

TWAIN ON MEANNESS. - Mark Twain produces one of the most striking cases of meanness on record. He says he knows of an incorporated society which hired a man to blast a rock, and was punching powder in with a crowbar when a premature explosion followed, sending the man and crowbar out of sight. Both came down again all right, and the man went to work again promptly. But though he was gone only fifteen minutes, the company "docked him for lost time."

At Oleopolis, on Saturday, a lady with a little child in her arms got aboard the Oil Creek train, and in so doing, dropped ber parasol in the aisle. A polite doctor from Petroleum Centre supposing it to have been dropped by a lady that had just left the car, made a rush for it and possed it through the car window to the crowd on the platform. By this time the train had got under motion and when the owner claimed it in a loud voice it had passed beyond reach. The doctor looked as it be would sell out on "reasonable terms."-Cor. Erie Dispatch.

In a time of much religious excitement and consequent discussion, an bonest Dutch farmer on the Mobak was asked his opinion as to which denomination of Christians were on the way to heaven. "Vell. den," "ven we ride our what to Albany, some say dish road is de best, and some dat; but it don't make much difference which road we dake, for when we get dere day never ask vich vay we come-and it's none of dere pizness-if our wheat is good!"

Cases of sunstroke are already being reported in metropolitan cities.

A new oil paper, the Oil Journal, is soon to be issued in Pittsburg.

Erie was visited by a disastrous fire on Wednesday. An elevator, Pump factory and other buildings were totally destroyed; loss $50,000.

A repturous poet thus describes the manner of obtaining a kiss: As the Hottentot gentlemen says at the Aquarial Garden, "it is got," First, grasp with haste around the waist, and hug her tight to thee; and then she'll say, "Do go nway -do, wont you let me be?" A savan has discovered with the micrescope that when we pour milk into a cup of tea, the albumen of the milk and the tannin of the tea instantly unite and form leather, or minute flakes of the very same compound which is produced in the texure of the taned bide, and which makes it leather as distinguished from the original skin. He consequently estimates that in the course of a year a tea-drinker of average capacity im bibes enough leather to make a pair of shoes

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN. - By referring to our list of deaths, it will be seen that the Hon. William Connely is dead .-Mr. Connely was the oldest citizen in the county, and a man of remarkable memory and varied experience, passing from the days of ploneer hardships to the ease and comfort of the present, and it is to be regretted that a more detailed and explicit history of his life could not have been published, as is now prevented by the misplacing of some papers containing data indispensable to a complete record of his life. It is to be hoped these papers, which were prepared by Mr. Connely himself, will soon come to light and thus afford a fitting record of one of the most remarkable men of the community. With such a tenscious memory as he was gifted, enabling him to recall the lively and interesting scenes of the pioneer and Revolutionary days, he must have prepared a paper which was almost invaluable to local history. We hope to be able some day to tell of the finding of the records and to publish them .- Franklin Spectator.

TAAT MORAL RHINOCERIOUS.

-For ways that are dark, And tricks that are vain. This last Circus is peculiar Which the same we would rise to explain.

A recently discharged emplaye give the ludicrous information, that the Great Unicorn of Holy Writ, was a mere imitation in gutta percha, and not a live animal. That by a simple piece of machinery it rose up and imitated some of the motions of an animal. The absence of water about the cage of so squatic an animal, bad sroused the suspicion of some of our amateur naturalists and this information will not surprise them much. As to us, as we never go to see the animals, but for the sole purpose of viewing the immoral circus (so called) we do not consider ourselves sold.
