THE LECTURE.—On Friday evening next, Nov. 10th, Petroleum V. Nasby (Locke) is to deliver the first lecture of the course given by the Young Men's Christian Association of Petroleum Centre.

Nasby is well known as one of the most popular of American lecturers, and his latest effort—"The Mission of Skinscap"—is said to be the best yet emanating from his pen, being rich, rare and racy.

A word further on this subject. It is well known to all that the need of some literary entertainment, where our young men could go occasionally on an evening to pass the time in social and mental improvement, has long been felt.

The Young Men's Christian Association are endeavoring to supply this want by getting up a course of lectures which cannot prove otherwise than a means of good, besides being a rich intellectual feast.

To enable them to carry out the project successfully they have been to a heavy expense, and rely on our citizens to aid them in the matter not only by their influence, but by purchasing tickets for the course, which are placed at the low figure of $3 per single ticket for the course, and $5 for double ticket admitting two.

The committee have disposed of a large number of tickets so far, and we trust our citizens will aid them in making the lecture course a success. Let us not be behind our neighbors in so good a work.

Sobel's Opera House was crowded last evening to witness the performance of the sensation drama of "Neck and Neck." In the principal character, that of Walter Wilmarth, Mr. Stetson fully equalled the expectations of the audience. He is without doubt a finished actor and a thorough gentleman, but with one or two exceptions lacked that support necessary to produce a drama of this character in good shape.

Messrs Forbush & Wilton, the gentlemanly managers, have our best wishes for their success.

The country will be saved in New York State to-day. May the best man win.

Smith, the popular saloon keeper, has a shooting gallery in full blast in his saloon.—Try a shot.

Our Kane City correspondent gives the following names as candidates for office in that flourishing town:

Burgess—D. E. Crocker. Justice of the Peace—R. Duffield. City Clerk—Jas. McCray. Night Police—Alex. Collins. Detective—J. O. Crawford. Rab for Kane City.

Whenever you attack your neighbor's character, do it behind his back so as not to wound his feelings.

ALLEGHOOZELUM CITY SAND ROCK.—

Vincent & Wright Bros. are about to drill a new well on the Brown farm. The derrick, rig, &c., are already up.

The universal prayer of oil operators is—"Give us Rain."

W. R. Osborne commences a new well on the Osborne tract the present week.

New buildings continue to be put up on Hamburg Avenue, the Broadway of Alleghoozelum.

One of the cleanest, neatest and handsomest pumping rigs in the oil region can be seen at the old Kenney well, a short distance below Mayor Kenney's house. It's well worth an inspection.

Mayor Kenney still clings to the belief that Alleghoozelum is located on the "jugular vein" of the Cherrytree oil belt. Appearances would seem to indicate that his theory was about right, as all of the wells sunk on the Metropolitan tract—some twenty or twenty-five—have produced oil in paying quantities.

Mayor K. has recently made extensive repairs and improvements on his house, and it is now one of the coziest, pleasantest homes in the entire oil region.

With all this David's hospitality is unbounded; the "latch string always hangs on the outside" and his friends can always rest assured of a hearty welcome. This is not alone the case with him, but it is so with all the good people of Cherrytree Run.

A more hospitable open-hearted, generous set of men and women, it would be hard to find.

Albert W. Aiken's sensational drama—"The Witches of New York," draws full houses nightly, and bids fair to do so through the entire engagement.

Aiken himself, who has well earned the name of "colloquial actor," plays four different characters, and is the life of the play. The dialogue is racy and sparkling from first to last, and frequently displays the work of a master hand in the sensational lines of dramatic writing.

The bowie-knife conflict at the end of the fourth act is thrilling in the extreme. An evening at Wall's Opera House this week can be spent.—[Washington Chronicle.]

Mr. Aiken appears at Sobel's Opera House, to-morrow evening, on which occasion will be presented the drama spoken of above. It is said to be a good thing, and will undoubtedly draw a crowded house.

A stranger from Canada dropped into an eating house near the Central depot, Detroit on Thursday, and asked permission to sit by the stove a moment, saying that he was out of sorts. His request was granted, but there was something in his actions which caused the proprietor of the place to keep an eye on him.

Pretty soon he saw the man take out a small vial, look all around, and then lift it to his lips. Believing that it was an attempt at suicide, the eating house man jumped for the stranger, took him by the throat and threw him down, and choked him half to death before he learned that the vial contained brandy which the man was using for an aching tooth.

The proprietor once had a suicide in his house, and had twice been called out on a coroner's jury. He didn't propose to get there again if a little choking could prevent it.

Punch's mental philosophy. What I mind? No matter. What is matter? Never mind? What is the nature of the soul? It is immaterial.

A noble Iowa woman drove the reaper all summer for her husband and then ran off with one of the farm hands.

Twenty millionaires are fathers of families in Boston, and twenty times twenty gallant Bostonians are attentive to the million heiresses.

Another poor girl has died in Virginia from the use of tobacco, at the age of 100. She was an orphan.

The Meadville people are feeling good over the fact that a locomotive has been recently built there—the first ever attempted at that place.

News from Mexico continues revolutionary and battles are anticipated at Sattillo and elsewhere. Cattle stealing on the line of the Rio Grande is ended.

When you find your passions rising never confine or repress them. How many boilers have been burst by too close confinement of their contents.

Everybody stopping at Corry five minutes bears about "the well." Six hundred and fifty feet have been bored, and not a drop of oil.

Butler county is suffering for water. Four or five miles is the distance farmers have to drive their stock in some places.

The Scranton Times complains that fashionably dressed women appear upon the streets of that place in an intoxicated condition.

You can gain knowledge by reading but you must separate the chaff from the wheat by thinking.

What is still needed is building materials, farming utensils and provisions, or money for these purposes.

The Philadelphia Board of Health reports the average of fourteen deaths per day, from small pox during the week, a slight increase over the previous week.

Three small frame dwelling houses in Nashville were burned. Loss $6,000.

At the trotting races at Cleveland on Saturday, the proceeds of which were donated for the relief of the Michigan and Wisconsin sufferers about $400 was realized.

OLD BOB RIDLEY.—Robert Ridley is a person well known to many of our readers. He is one of those popular good fellow who has hosts of friends. We called upon him at his saloon opposite the Parshall House, Titusville, last Saturday, and found him doing a thriving business. We were also agreeably surprised to find there presiding at the bar, our old friend Ed. Sutherland, that whole hearted jolly chum, known to all around here. Ed's friends will now know where to find him when they go to Titusville.
