"THE DRUMMER BOY" LAST NIGHT.—As we anticipated in our last, the performance of this piece last evening was an improvement on the first attempt. We may justly say it was much better than the most sanguine believe in the abilities of our girls and boys expected; we imagine they even did better than their own hopes.

The presentation of the flag to the departing regiment and the parting scene in Farmer Howard's family were both strikingly natural and effecting.

The tableau, "Diannion," which was in the first act, was one of the most beautiful we ever saw.

This spectacle alone was worth the price. The camp scene, the bivouac, the reveilles were all so naturally done, that they brought up army life vividly before every old soldier.

The tableau of the "Soldier's Dream of Home" here made a picture that distilled a sympathetic moisture from every eye.

Of the battle scene it should be said that it was done with that air of reality that the spectator involuntarily found himself getting excited over the varying fortunes of the fight.

The performance will well reward attendance of any one. The most thrilling in action and most beautiful in spectacle of any drama of home talent, it gives the spectator a satisfaction, a thrill of emotion and an impulse of patriotic devotion.

Parties desiring to witness the "Drummer Boy" played, can do so by leaving this place to-morrow (Friday), on the 4:50 p. m. train, and returning by special train after the performance.

A large force of men are at work between Titusville and Shafter farm, grading for a new railroad. It is not known to the public in whose interest the road is to be constructed. Some claim the Oil Creek Railroad Company are doing the work to keep other parties out. Others say it is to be built by the Pennsylvania Petroleum Railroad Company in the interest of the New York Central Railroad and Vanderbilt. Time will tell, however, we suppose.

A new well was recently completed near the old Sherman well, on the flats, above Pioneer, which is yielding between four and five barrels per day.

A special train passed over the Oil Creek Road this forenoon.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Shugert & Starr, the well known Merchant Tailors of Titusville, which appears in to-day's paper. These gentlemen have long been engaged in the clothing business in the oil region, and are well known as fair and honorable dealers. Their business is principally confined to merchant tailoring, and they employ upwards of thirty hands, in this branch of the trade alone. In addition they keep on hand a complete assortment of ready-made clothing, hats, caps, and gents' furnishing goods. Those of our citizens visiting Titusville, will find it to their advantage to give Messrs. Shugert & Starr a call.

Frank Nicholson has something of the utmost importance to communicate to all persons giving him a call. His advertisement will appear to-morrow and then "you'll know how 'tis yourself."

Several cases of small pox are reported at Oil City.

There was a bovine of Chicago, She made up her mind to let law go; This wicked old tramp Kicked over a lamp, And away on the winds went Chicago.

The Venango County Teachers Institute, now in session at Rouseville, is largely attended by the school teachers of the county and the friends of education. The session promises to be a very interesting one.

A large audience was in attendance at the Opera House, last evening, to witness the drama of "The Witches of New York," as performed by Mr. Albert W. Aiken and his excellent N. Y. Dramatic Company. Mr. Aiken well deserves the title of the "talented young colloquial actor," as he is certainly a fine and finished performer. Miss Alice Logan as "Coralie, the actress," and "Susie, the poor Orange Girl of New York," acted out those characters with a wonderful simplicity and grace of manner, which at once charmed and delighted the audience. In fact the entire performance was good, and we hope Mr. Aiken will favor our town with another visit before long.

ARCTIC EXPEDITIONS.—The open Polar sea reported by the Atlantic cable as having been discovered by one of the German exploring expeditions has directed attention to the different companies of scientific men now employed in the arduous work of reaching the highest parallel of north latitude.

It appears that at the present time there are seven expeditions engaged in Arctic research—two from Germany, under the command of Hoesenthal and Payer respectively; one from Sweden, consisting of two government vessels of war, one from Scotland, under Lamont; one from England, under Leigh Smith; one from France, fitted out by Octave Pavy, and the United States expedition, under Capt. Hall.

The discovery of the ocean Polar sea by the German expedition brings to recollection the second Arctic exploration of Dr. E. K. Kane, and his perilous overland journey to a point from which he saw, in the inaccessible distance, the unfrozen waters of the circumpolar ocean. The discovery of Dr. Kane, although credited by many persons, was not accepted as an incontrovertible fact. The accuracy of his observations has, however, been established by the recent report from the German expedition.

ADROITLY HIT.—A presiding elder of the United Brethren Church, while preaching, was much annoyed by persons talking and laughing. He paused, looked at the disturbers, and said: "I am always afraid to reprove those who misbehave in church. In the early part of my ministry I made a great mistake. As I was preaching, a young man who sat just before me, was constantly laughing, talking and making uncouth grimaces, paused and administered a severe rebuke. After the close of the service one of the official members came and said to me: "Brother—, you made a great mistake. That young man whom you reproved is an idiot." Since then I have always been afraid to reprove those who misbehave in church lest I should regret that mistake, and reprove another idiot. During the rest of service, at least, there was good order.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia has had before it a test case in the woman suffrage question. At a local election some time since ballots were offered by women and rejected. Suit was brought and the case now waits a decision. It is announced that the decision will be adverse to the woman, solely on the ground that the organic law of the District expressly limits suffrage to male citizens. The right of woman to vote is conceded to be granted by the Fourteenth Amendment, but until Congressional action is taken that right cannot be made available.

At Council Bluffs, Iowa, on Monday, as laborers were at work cutting a new road, through the hill in the hollow, known as Hang Hollow, they discovered a sack containing twelve thousand dollars in gold and silver. The money was hidden there eighty years ago by a man named Muir, who murdered a comrade Californian in this city. Muir was captured and hanged by a mob of Californians. He said he had hid the money under a stump in this hollow, but refused to tell where. Many have hunted for this secreted treasure, but all in vain. The laborers shared the booty equally.

A young man named Stricker, a "business agent on the Kansas Pacific Railroad between Leavenworth and Lawrence, committed suicide on Monday night. His father was kindly remonstrating against his dissipation, and remarked that he would rather follow his son to the grave than to see him a drunkard. The young man replied, "Here goes, father," and instantly put a pistol to his head and discharged it.
