Remember the Lecture this evening

Our citizens, we trust, will not forget the lecture, at Sobel's Opera House, this evening, by Petroleum V. Nasby. We have frequently urged upon our citizens the necessity of sustaining the Young Men's Christian Association in their efforts to get up a lecture course the present winter, and we hope a crowded house to hear the opening lecture will bear witness to the fact that their efforts are appreciated.

Nasby will appear this evening in his great character of "Skinner," an aboriginal who had a "Mission" to perform. Whether he will speak of the wild Indian who roamed at large the wild woods in this vicinity and paddled his canoe on Oil Creek one hundred years ago, we know not, but probably the character of "Lo!" will be portrayed faithfully enough to enable his hearers to form a good idea of the "red man of the forest." The lecture will be well worth hearing, and we would advise all to attend.

Boring for oil in the Tonawanda swamp north of Batavia, under the direction of "spirits," has been discontinued after the drill had penetrated 1,400 feet, and given up as a failure.—[Ex]

Since the above was put in print, we are informed that the stockholders have held a meeting, and under the direction of the "spirits" aforesaid, have concluded to drill the well 400 feet deeper, the spirits deciding that a muchness of the greasy fluid would be found at the depth of 1,800 feet. Those spirits are evidently of the same character as "reliable gentlemen" just from beyond the lines, who used to arrive at headquarters so frequently during the war. Not much dependence can be placed on them, and they are undoubtedly "evil spirits." They would have a poor show in the oil regions, as the good spirits would soon drive them out.

It is intimated by those who are somewhat behind the scenes, that a few bunches of cigarettes will be tolerated in the ladies' dressing room at a well-conducted party.—Can these things be? And yet, it is wonderful to hear with what airy grace a young girl will manage a cigarette. This is not charged against any one in our community, but it is positively asserted of sundry ones in the neighboring city of Titusville. As reforms are progressive, similar spectacles may ere long be witnessed on Oil Creek.

The engine house at Col. Doolittle's well, on the McKinney farm, Pitchole Creek, was destroyed by fire a night or two since. Loss

FIFTY YEARS IN THE FIELD—The New York Observer is about celebrating its jubilee, entering upon its fiftieth year in 1872. It is one of the oldest newspapers in the country, one of the ablest, one of the most steadfast and fearless in maintaining the truth in religion, the right in morals, and honesty in all public and private affairs.—It announces for the coming year, the publication of the second volume of its Year-Book: a vast repository of information, statistical and otherwise, relating both to Church and State, which will be sent free to all who pay their subscription for 1872.—The volume last year was worth the subscription price of the paper, and the Publishers promise a more complete Year-Book for 1872. Specimen copies of the paper, with Prospectus for the Year-Book, sent free on application from any source. New Subscribers will receive a paper free until January 1st.

THE FEDERAL CREEK REGION IN OHIO.—The McConnelleville, O., Herald says: Our friend Christopher Lovell, tells us that the oil fever is raging to some extent again in Pleasant Valley, the famous Federal Creek oil region, which attracted so much attention a few years since. Virginia oil men who have reduced the business almost to science, are operating in the Valley and are successfully working old wells, and also putting down many new ones, especially on the Joy farm, all of which promise a good yield of oil. The wells are being put down on the second bottom, land which has hitherto been thought worthless for oil purposes.—Mr. Lovell is having several wells put down on his farm—formerly the Alderman tract. He thinks Federal is going to prove the best oil region in the country.

Pinegrove township, Benjamin Blosser.

Sorubgrass township, S. S. Bigler, Samuel Aiken.

Tarr Farm, F. M. Kennedy.

A new derrick has been put up in place of the one burned down, on the Holmden farm, Pitchole, mention of which we made a day or two since. The gas vein struck at that time was in the second sand. The well is now being put down to the third sand, the work necessarily progressing slowly owing to the powerful volume of gas arising from the hole. The opinion appears to prevail that had the well been tested in the second sand a big one would have been struck.

The celebrated Lydia Thompson troupe, with a new burlesque and comedy company, will give two entertainments at Titusville on Monday and Tuesday evenings next.

The winter time table of the Erie Railway will go into effect on the 13th of December next. A change will probably be effected on the A. & G. W. Ry., the same day.

An exchange advances the theory that the rapid burning of Chicago was owing to the fact that the "Jelliet stone," of which the city was largely built, it naturally saturated with an oleaginous substance somewhat like petroleum, and highly inflammable. This matter should be investigated before the rebuilding of Chicago.

PERSONAL.—We received a call this afternoon from Mr. D. R. Locke, (Nasby), editor of the Toledo Blade. Mr. L., we take it, is one of those genial good men that it is good to meet and become acquainted with. How is it P. M.? (Which is Postmaster.)

Those of our citizens desirous of seeing the "Drummer Boy" played, can do so by leaving for Oil City on the 4:50 p. m. train, and returning by special train after the performance. The piece will be played in Love's New Opera House. It is spoken of very favorably by the Oil City press.

At Boston, on Monday, the news of the disaster to the whaling fleet advanced whale oil from sixty cents to one dollar a gallon.—The Boston insurance offices had little if any risks. New Bedford offices lose $1,000,000.

Ben Conley was formerly a shoemaker. His last is the Governorship. That's aw!

Richard Truly is missing from Cincinnati. However, Truth was always hard to find when he was there. He never stayed around the newspaper office much.

WITHIN A YEAR.
Lips that are met in love's
Devotion sweet
While parting lovers passionately greet,
And earth through heaven's are more swiftly
Moved—
Oh, will they be less dear
Within a year?

Eyes in whose shadow spell
Far off I read
That which lovers taking loving heed
Dear women's full soon and plainly tell—
Or will you give such cheer
This time a year?

Behold! the sullen year
Will nought reveal
Of its set purpose, if for woe or weal
Though flowing swift as waters o'er the weal
Mayhap the end draws near
Within a year.

Yes darling, once more touch
Those lips of mine,
Set on my life that talisman divine;
Absence, new friends, I fear not overmuch—
Even Death, should he appear
Within the year.

A colored convict in the South Carolina penitentiary died from the effects of a shower bath.

A Cattaraugus County boy saw a tree falling, and in his fright ran directly under it and was killed.

A California lawyer claimed that a man has a right to shoot another for pre-existing provocation.

The unattractive but possibly not wholly inappropriate name of a Kansas City tailor, is Swindler.

One of Chicago's leading business men announces that he is at present a "glit-edged pauper."

An Ichthyosaurus has been found in Georgia, and Southern editors are investigating their dictionaries.

Its pretty name doesn't prevent Septoline from non-exploding at New Orleans on an average of twice a day.

Annapolis Benedicts excuse the scratches on their faces by saying that they have been fooling with the cat.

Mr. Sangiovanni O'Byer—Phœbus! what a name—is an English tenor who proposes to eclipse Sims Reeves.

The king of Siam made Mr. Seward a present of an elephant, which he was reluctantly forced to decline.

Among the remarkable signs of Chicago's recovery is the daily advertisement of base ball games to come off.
