REMOVAL.

The office of the Daily Record has been removed to the building situated three doors above the late location, directly opposite the McClintock House. Our friends are invited to call and see us.

Canvassing is now being done in this town for Arter's Petroleum Directory—a complete and valuable history of the oil region. The new directory will contain the same, residence and occupation of every man in the oil region, and must prove a valuable acquisition to the histories of the oil region already written.

A team of horses belonging to Mr. James Hall, ran away on Main street, this forenoon. They ran across the Egbert farm bridge, and became detached from the wagon on the other side of the Creek, breaking things in general. Mr. H. and his son, who were in the wagon at the time, were thrown to the ground and quite seriously bruised, but fortunately escaped a worse shaking up.

Elsewhere will be found the card of the Sherman House, a new hotel recently opened in the city of Titusville by Messrs. W. H. & J. H. Sink, both of whom have been in the hotel business in the oil region for nearly ten years, and thoroughly understand the wants of the travelling public and the home trade. That popular and jolly good fellow, John McDonald, not McDonald of Scottish fame but of Pithole and Pleasant view and Titusville renown, is the clerk of the house, and John Maloney acts as "mixologist" at the bar. The Sherman House will prove a popular resort under the management of the Messrs. Sink.

The new well at the head of Tarr Run, mentioned of which we made a day or two since, continues to yield 25 barrels per day. Out-put stops predict a great oil excitement in that vicinity next spring.

The Burton & Kooker well, on the Grayling farm, is yielding three barrels per day. A good friend, John Hillyer, long associated with Mr. Adam Wyman, in the capacity of tonorial agent, has gone and done it—committed matrimony—coming to the conclusion according to Bible lore, that "it was not good to be alone," he has taken unto himself a partner for life. We wish him and his bride all manner of prosperity and happiness. Good luck to you, Jack.

FEEDING THE COW.

From the Little Folks Songs, by Mrs. Grant White.]

Slowly along the shaded lane,
Cropping the grass from side to side,
Here comes the pretty bridled cow,
Horn, at eventide.

She stops at the garden and calls,—
"Oh run, little boy! and bring to me
Some of those apples round and ripe
I see lying under the tree."

Little golden-head his apron fills
With the ruddy apples, juicy and sweet,
Bridle loves to take with her long rough tongue
From his dimpled hand and vat

Tiptoe he stands with eager face,
Holding his bulging apron tight;
As she gently takes each apple he gives,
He laughs with fresh delight.

And now she has eaten the very last,
And "Just one more," and "One little one more;"

Then she waits and watches her as she walks
Through the open barnyard door.

It was years ago—yet I often see,
When the summer's day is nearly done,
My baby boy feeding the pretty cow

In the light of the setting sun.

The great Humoldt salt mine near Austin, Nevada, is described by a California paper as looking like a lake frozen over—The salt is as hard as smooth as ice.—Were it not for fine particles which are condensed from vapors arising from beneath and which cover the crystalline salt to the depth of perhaps one eighth of an inch, it would make an excellent skating rink at all times of the year, except on the very unfrequent occasions when it is covered with water. The expanse of crystallized salt is no less than twenty miles in length and twelve in width, without a break or flaw for the greater portion of that extent. The stratum of solid salt is about six or seven inches thick, under which comes a layer of sticky, singular looking mud, about two feet thick, and under this again another stratum of solid salt as transparent as glass, of which the depth has been found in some parts to be six feet. In summer this salt is plain, glittering and scintillating in the light of an almost tropical sun, presents a brilliant appearance. The frosty covering and solid salt is as white as the snow, while the crystalline portion, when exposed, reflects dazzling prismatic colors. This immense deposit is remarkably pure, being ninety-five per cent. of salt and five per cent. of soda—which is purer than what we commonly use for our tables

A singular explosion occurred at the Central oil well, in Lawrenceburg, south of the Florence Hotel, on Sunday morning last, a little before day-light—the engine house was shattered to pieces—two persons sleeping in it at the time escaped unscathed. The boiler did not blow up, for it remained in position all right, with but little steam or fire therein. The report aroused the whole town. Some think that torpedo material about the well exploded, while others contend that an accumulation of gas took fire and went up like a powder house.

A brutal fight came off recently, at the Grass Flats, between John Purdie and Albert McCain. The former, in the conflict, bit a piece out of the lip of the latter. Purdie was afterward arrested near Petroleum Centre, by officer Black, and taken before Esq. Fulton, who put him under bonds of $500 for his appearance at the next Clarion county Court.

On last Monday, M'Gough, Parker & Co., banker's of Parker's Landing, filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. District Court at Pittsburgh, against Bates, Goldsborough & Co., oil dealers of Pittsburgh. M'Gough, Parker & Co., hold notes of the latter firm to the amount of $30,000.—Northwestern Independent.

The Lutherans have been overtaken by the woman movement, and intend to have deaconesses and feminine preachers.

The Roman Catholic churches of the Diocese of Boston have contributed, so far as heard from, to the fund for relief of the Chicago sufferers $14,934.

Old winter is upon us in earnest this time judging from the state of the weather, this forenoon. Rain, snow, sleet, &c. Now is the time to remember the poor, and look out for fire.

Little Frank, next door to Uncle Ben's Alpine Hotel, has just received a lot of Ear Laps, just the thing for protecting the ears this cold weather. Try them.

We very frequently hear of Generals capturing pieces of artillery. 'What's the use of capturing pieces?' says Mrs. Partridge 'why not capture whole ones?'

An old English paper thus describes the mode in which marriages were celebrated in that country a hundred years ago. Miss Flora McFintsey will be shocked: Married in Jun., 1760. Mr. William Do Klin, a considerable farmer of Great Tossom, near Bothbury, in the county of Cumberland, to Miss Eleanor Shotten, an agreeable young gentlewoman of the same place. The entertainment on this occasion was very grand, there being no less than 120 quarters of lamb, 44 quarters of veal, 20 quarters of mutton, and a great quantity of beef; 12 hams, with a suitable number of chickens, &c., which was concluded with 8 half ankers of brandy made into punch; 12 dozen of cider, a great many gallons of wine, and 90 bushels of malt made into beer. The company consisted of 550 ladies and gentleman, who concluded with the music of 25 fiddlers and pipers, and the whole was conducted with the utmost order and unanimity.

A young lady, with a number of others who were injured by a railroad accident near Boston, was carried to a hospital. The surgeon came round and said to the fashion, the Miss: "Well, madam, what can I do for you?" "Doctor one of my limbs is broken." "One of your limbs?" said he. "well, which limb is it?" "Oh, I can't tell you, doctor; but it's one of my limbs." "One of your limbs," thundered the doctor, out of patience; "which limb is it; the limb you thread a needle with?" "No, sir," answered with a shiver; "it is the limb I wear a garter on." The doctor attended to her, and then said: "Young woman, never say limbs again in a hospital; for when a woman gets as fastidious as that, the quicker she dies the better."

The Catacacy difficulty has now got into the English papers.

The Indians throughout Pennsylvania have contributed $300 to aid Chicago.

Point lace neckties are now worn by fashionable young men in New York.

Painesville contributed $1,537.50 to the relief of Chicago.

Baron Gerolt's daughter, in spite of the protestations of her parents, will become a nun.

There is a great deal in the following candid confession by Robert Dale Owen which should be an admonition to young men who are on the threshold of life "without an object": "I committed one fatal error in my life, and dearly have I repented of it. I started in life without an object, even without an ambition. My temperament disposed me to ease, and to the full I indulged the disposition. Had I created for myself a definite pursuit—literally, scientific, artistic, social, political, no matter what, so there was something to labor for and to overcome I might have been happy. I feel this now—too late! The power is gone. Habits have become chains. Through all the years gone by I seek vainly for something to remember with pride, or even to dwell on with satisfaction. I have thrown away a life I feel sometimes as if there was nothing remaining to me worth living for. I am an unhappy man."

Three marriage licenses were issued last week from the Probate Court of Franklin county on the application of ladies. Leap year is close at hand.

Petitions for the commutation of the sentence of Botta, the murderer of Peter Heistead, will be presented to the New Jersey Court of Pardons

The newest thing in colors is called elephant color, and is a sort of bluish gray which is the tinge, so said, of a three month old elephant.

Harrisburg happy. A blacksmith in the capital city advertises that he can cure smallpox in eight days, and not leave any marks. Their beauty need not be blighted.

The planet Venus is now visible to the eye on any very clear day. It is now in connection with the sun. We can see both Venuses and ours nearer home at any time.

A woe wailer, expiating the exodus from Eden, remarks: The devil drove woman out of Paradise, but he could not drive paradise out of woman. That was too much for old "cloven foot."

Cincinnati will build a Union depot. The Boston frog pond is frozen over. Holland spends more for tobacco than for bread.

A Cincinnatiian married the divorced wife of his own son.

Slavery is to be abolished in Siam after the new year.

Why are lawyers like ivy? Because the greater the ruin the closer they cling.

What weed does a gardener seldom object to see? A cigar in his own mouth.

Why is a dishonored draft like Mr. Gladstone? Because it's a noted Bill.
