REMOVAL.

The office of the Daily Record has been removed to the building situated four doors below the late location, directly opposite the McClintock House, and next door to Odd Fellows Hall. Our friends are invited to call and see us.

A new well was completed on the Tarr Run territory, on Thursday night, which started up at the rate of ten barrels per day and increasing. We did not learn the name of the owners of this well.

A new well, owned by Jonathan Watson and two of John Bennehoff's sons, on a tract of land owned by them on Tarr Run, was completed last night, and is being tubed to-day preparatory to testing. The indications are excellent for a paying well. There are now five good producing wells on the Tarr Run territory, and a large number of new ones going down. The new territory on that Run gives promise of the most gratifying results in oil developments, "which we rise to explain" and "the same will maintain," will add materially to the prosperity of Petroleum Centre.

Wonders never will cease. Yesterday we had a call for a copy of "The History of Pitrolo," written by that celebrated and most popular author of modern times, "Krowcus." A most immediately a flood of recollections appeared to sweep over us, and the memory of many days and nights of hard labor working on the edition on a hand press—sweating and swearing—appeared before us, and also the memory of when the account for printing and binding came to be settled, we were $500 worse off than nothing, and only the remembrance of the hard work on an old Franklin press remained—the rest had "vanished from sight like a beautiful dream." Upon receiving a fifty cent scrip in payment thereof for the storesaid work, we rejoiced exultingly and with a hushness, and immediately invested twenty-five cents of it in one of Alf Myers' "hot Scotch" punches. A few copies are left, which can be had cheap.

Yesterday the Western Union Telegraph Company finished putting up a new wire connecting with the office at this place, which gives us direct communication with New York City. Heretofore Titusville and Oil City were the only places in the oil region which had through communication by telegraph with New York.

We only lose nine minutes of daylight this month. After the 27th the days will grow longer.

MAYOR MEDILL, OF CHICAGO.—Mayor Medill, in his inaugural address, placed the losses by the Chicago fire at one hundred and fifty million dollars, only a comparatively small part of which will be paid by the insurance companies. It is something for a city at any time to have so capable a Mayor as Mr. Medill—an extremely fortunate thing for Chicago to have him at this time. We quote the concluding portion of his address: "In conclusion, I point with pride and admiration to the gentle efforts, our whole people are putting forth to rise from the ruins, and rebuild Chicago. The money value of their losses can hardly be calculated. But who can compute the aggregate of anguish, distress and suffering they have endured and must yet endure? These wounds are still sore and agonizing though they have been greatly alleviated by the prompt, generous and world-wide charities that have been poured out for their succor and relief; and I claim in their behalf that they are showing themselves worthy the benefactions received. They have faced their calamity with noble fortitude and unflinching courage. Repining or lamentation is unheard in our midst, but hope and cheerfulness are everywhere exhibited and expressed. All are inspired with an ambition to prove to the world that they are worthy of its sympathy, confidence and assistance, and to show how bravely they can encounter disaster, how quickly repair losses, and restore Chicago to her high rank among the great cities of the earth.

Happily there is that left which fire cannot consume—habits of industry and self reliance, personal integrity, business aptitude, mechanical skill and unconquerable will. These created what the flames devoured, and these can speedily re-create more than swept away. Under free institutions, good government and the blessings of Providence, all losses will soon be repaired, all misery caused by the fire assuaged, and a prosperity greater than ever dreamt of will be achieved in a period so brief that rise will astonish mankind even more than the fall of Chicago.

Columbia Farm boasts of one institution that is in a flourishing condition, and that is the grocery house of Mr. John Bump—Mr. B. is well known in this place, having long been interested in the coal trade, and other branches of trade, and always known as a fair and honorable dealer. After going out of that business at this point, Mr. Bump opened a grocery store at Columbia farm, nearly two years ago, and by strict attention to the wants of his customers and fair and liberal dealing with all, has succeeded in building up a good trade. From a long acquaintance with him, we take pleasure in recommending his store to the good people of that vicinity, as being stocked with every article necessary for family use and convenience, and would advise them to pay him a call.

Miss Amy Stone will appear at Sobel's Opera House Monday evening in her favorite character of Fanchon, in the charming play of the Cricket.

HOLIDAY TRADE.—The Holiday Goods are now arriving, the merchants who wish to call attention to their wares can find no places available as the use of the columns of the city paper. In this connection we invite attention to the RECORD, as the best and cheapest method of presenting the claims of merchants, before the largest number of readers likely to be paying patrons. The family who can afford to take a daily paper, never forget the little courtesies due to each other and to their friends at Christmas time.

Latest telegrams report the Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the throne of England, as being in a dying condition.

Our friend Armstrong, of the firm of Mease & Armstrong, flour and feed dealers, informs us that his trade was never in a more flourishing condition than at present. He is shipping goods to all points in this vicinity, and still the orders pour in. We also learn that he has several hundred barrels of flour left, besides vast quantities of hay, straw, grain, feed, potatoes, &c., which they are selling "dirt cheap."

A Sacramento assessor took advantage of a recent run on a savings bank to observe those who withdrew deposits, and caught several juggling away a few thousands apiece who had sworn two days before that they did not own a cent.

The best "Bus"—Kissing a pretty girl.
Best Re-bus—Kissing her a second time.
A terrible Blunderbus—Kissing the wrong girl.
"Pa, do storms ever make malt liquors?"
"No, child, why do you ask?"
"Because I heard mamma tell Jane to bring in the clothes, for a storm was brewing."
"Up."—"Good morning Smith; you look sleepy."
"Yes," replied Smith, "I was up all night." "Up where?" "Up stairs, in bed."

The Great Automatic Wonder.

During the past week there has been a great rush to see the world-famous automatic wonder, which is now on exhibition in the Washburn Block, corner of Spring and Washington streets, with the entrance on Washington street. It is a novel invention and Mr. Joseph Bergmann, a German, is stated to have conceived the idea of this magnificent work of mechanical art in a dream, and it took him seventeen years of hard labor to bring the automaton to its present state of perfection. It has now been on exhibition for nearly a year in the principal cities of New York state, and has excited the wonder and admiration of all who have seen it. The model will make a tour this winter through Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Philadelphia. This curious emanation from the German brain, so marvellous in its combination so true to nature, so pregnant with thought, so full of apparent animation, so suggestive of various human industries, may be ranked with the best productions of mechanical genius. The head which could conceive and the hand which could execute such a prodigy of industry and skill, could belong to no ordinary person. The model not only furnishes a fund of amusement to children, but is instructive and interesting to the highest degree to every age, and it is not astonishing, that it possesses such a wonderful charm as an exhibition, and is visited by thousands in all our cities. It will remain in Titusville, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

If satisfaction is not given the admittance will be free. Open from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., each day.

Ladies and children are requested to visit the wonder in the day-time, to avoid the crowd.—Titusville Sunday News.

This wonderful piece of mechanism will be on exhibition in the building next door to Griffes Bro's Drug Store, on Washington Street, on Thursday next, and continuing for three days only.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday it will exhibit in Rabb's building, Main Street, Rousseville.

[From Godey's Lady's Book]

LIFE.

BY CARRIE D. BEEDE.

Only a sweet surprise
Of smiles, of tears, caresses,
Our childhood's vision blisses,
And then youth's morn' doth rise.

Only a misty dream—
A dream, not an endeavor:
For fair and smiling ever,
To youth, the world doth seem.

Only a battle plain,
With friends and foes around us;
But sin and woe surround us,
And we outstrive in vain.

Only a shining shore—
A silent, tranquil river—
And life to God, its Giver,
Departs forevermore.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Ripe strawberries in Fernandina, Florida, Painesville, Ohio, has snow over the fence.

Tennessee has panthers in disagreeable abundance.

Football constitutes the chief form of worship on Sunday at Cairo, Ill.

There are in Corpus Christi, Texas, seven churches and seven bar-rooms.

In Griffin, Ga., policemen are requisite to maintain order in the Sunday schools.

An Indiana editor is represented as "squawking back a squawk of soul-satisfied bliss."

Ex Senator Gwin is going to make money out of his new gold mine.—[Boston Post.

Here is a beautiful instance of conjugal affection. A married lady in Concord recently fell into a river, and would have been drowned except that her cries attracted the attention of her husband, who, mistaking her in the dark for another woman, worked like a beaver to get her out.

What would this world be without women? A perfect blank, like a sheet of paper, not even ruled.

Mutual admiration—As the season of parties approaches boys begin to feel glib and "gals" buoyant.

"Thou rain-st in my bosom," as the chap said when a basin of water was thrown over him by the lady he was serenading.
