REMOVAL.

The office of the Daily Record has been removed to the building situated four doors below the late location, directly opposite the McClintock House, and next door to Odd Fellows Hall. Our friends are invited to call and see us.

From New York City comes another horror to be laid at the door of rum. A P. Newkirk, at one time one of the ablest criminal lawyers in Indiana, and twice a member of the Legislature, once being elected speaker of the House, was frozen to death in a cell of one of the city prisons last week.

Mr. Newkirk had taken to drink and lost his influence and position at home, but lately had been given the position of advance agent for Van Amburg's Menagerie, which place he filled satisfactorily, behaving as he should. When the Menagerie left the road he was discharged and paid off, and he again commenced hard drinking. He was arrested for stealing a carpet sack from a man who could not lend him twenty-five cents but offered to share his bed with him, and put in a cell over night for a hearing where he froze to death. Of course the prison authorities are to blame for negligence, but yet rum is the prime cause of the man's death. This should be a terrible warning to young men who are tempted to carouse and have a jolly good time. It is these carousals that lead to the habits which reduce to imbecility and from which such horrible and degrading deaths follow.

Rare and elegant Rings, Pins, studs, bracelets, charms, gold thimbles, solid gold Rings, new style sleeve buttons, &c., at J. Wolf's Jewelry store.

A special train containing the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railway officials passed over the road yesterday on a tour of inspection of the business transacted at each station. At this point everything proved satisfactory in the highest degree to the managers, and reflects great credit on the business capacity of Mr. Ben. Wilkins, the ticket agent, and Mr. W. A. Pullman, freight agent, and Mr. Jas. Hare, train dispatcher, all of whom are thorough railroad men, and accommodating, polite high-toned gentlemen, always alive to the interests of their employees and the wants of the patrons of the road.

The Presbyterian Mite Society will meet at the residence of Mr. Geo. W. Winsor, in Wild Cat Hollow, on Thursday evening next, Dec. 20th. The public generally are invited to attend. A pleasant social time will be enjoyed.

AN OLD WELL FLOWING OIL.—On the Egbert farm there is an old well which was abandoned years ago, but as the hole could not be taken up and removed with the rig, it was allowed to remain. In this of course there was nothing very remarkable. At about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, however, something occurred at this old abandoned hole worth making mention of. Near that hour it started to spouting out oil water and dirt at a surprising rate. It sent a column into the air, over forty feet in height. This strange sight was witnessed by Mr. Francis of Columbia, and another gentleman, who went to the well. The seed bag and the sediment which had been for years accumulating in the well were thrown out. It continued flowing in this way only a short time and then subsided, but when our informant left the spot, the oil was bubbling up out of the hole and running to waste, he judged, at the rate of a hundred barrels per day. A new well is being put down a short distance from this old one, and there is also a fifty barrel well on same lease. What has occasioned this remarkable show of oil in the old well is not of course known. This well is situated above the old Maple Shade well. This would seem to indicate that the Egbert farm is again destined to be the scene of active operations, and if these operations should prove to be paying, the attention of oil producers will be called to all the abandoned territory along the creek, and in other parts of the oil region.—Titusville Courier.

The Post of Chicago, is merry once more, as well as poetical, if not exactly truthful.—It sings:

Things look better all round the sky.
The rogues are smitten hip and thigh!
Old Brigham Young's a fugitive!
Keyser has fled to France to live!
The robber Fisk has reached arrest;
Hall flutters in his feathered nest;
Boss Tweed stands sullenly at bay,
And Rogers has run away.
Rosenzweig toils in prison van,
And Grant has smote the Ku-Klux-Klan.
And things improve. Good times are nigh!
We'll smite our bumpers hip and thigh?

"Wintery winds are blowing cold" to-day. Instead of relying on Providence to help the poor, now is the time for those who are well off in this world's goods to "back up" with those who are out of bread and suffering with the cold.

Bergmann's Automatic Wonder closed a very successful engagement in this place, last evening, and left for Oil City this morning, where they have a week's engagement. Every person who has visited this automatic wonder, unite in pronouncing it a most rare and extraordinary piece of mechanism and well worth one's time and money in examining its mysteries. In this connection we cannot refrain from speaking a good word for the proprietors and employees of the institution. "Uncle" John Gildersleeve the owner of the Wonder, is one of those jolly good natured gentlemen that to chat a half an hour with would be a sure antidote for the "blues"—to know him is to discover that he is a "whole-souled and true hearted man. Mr. Sprung, knows just how to describe the Wonder in an entertaining and pleasing manner. Of our old, old time friend, Lina Beecher, we have only to "recall the memory of other days" to prove him a true friend—years had passed since last we met, and yet the friend of other days remained true as steel and remains the same to-day. May the same good fortune follow you, old boy, as has been the case since last we met on the banks of Oak Orchard, in "the days when we were young." We take pleasure in recommending these gentlemen to the good offices of our editorial friends in this region.

A Terre Haute physician advocates the use of soft instead of hard water as a beverage, claiming that the lime with which the latter is impregnated causes premature gray hair and baldness.

By reference to the local notices scattered through the paper, it will be seen that Mr. J. Wolf, the well known jewelry dealer, has received a large and extensive assortment of solid satin silver ware and tea sets (something new), elegant gold jewelry, rings, pins, studs, sleeve buttons, &c., fine-toned musical instruments, beautiful photograph albums, genuine French and German Meerschmum pipes and cigar holders, any of which are suitable for holiday gifts. Call and examine his stock and prices.

A Nebraska correspondent gives the following as the mode of arriving at the measure of damages in Nebraska, where a party had his leg punched: Thomas Riley having pleaded guilty to an assault upon Reuben Sanders, the justice asked Sanders to stand up, as it was the custom in that region to place the amount of fine in proportion to the amount of smash. On Sander's placing himself in upright posture, the Court exclaimed, in apparent surprise, "Why, you don't appear to be much hurt." To which the complainant said, "Oh no, he didn't hurt me any—only struck me a few times." "Well," replied Squire S—, very gravely, but with evident disgust, "when this Court strikes a man he always carries a black eye."

FEW AT THE OIL EXCHANGE.—The "Bull" movement in operation for some time, culminated this week, and the "Bears" have now full control of the market. The Exchange rooms were decorated to-day by the figure of a rampant bear, full size, bearing a placard, as follows:

DECEMBER 16th, 1871.
150,000 BARRELS.
SET IN YOUR CABS, GENTLEMEN,
NO COMPROMISE.

A small brush, was attached, to represent all that was left of the "Bull" ring.—The whole affair was well got up, and occasioned lots of fun.—Oil City Register.

A "mountain man," is described as examining with great curiosity, at a station on the Pacific railway, the fancy pocket pistol which a young Bostonian had provided for his defence against grizzly bears and scolding Indians, and inquiring, "What do you call that thing?" "Why, a pistol, of course," replied the traveler. The hunter after examining the weapon with ineffable contempt, handed it back with the remark: "I'll tell ye what, youngster, if you was to about me with that contraption, and I was ever to find it out I'd whale h—out of you!"
