REMOVAL.

The office of the Daily Record has been removed to the building situated four doors below the late location, directly opposite the McClintock House, and next door to Odd Fellows Hall. Our friends are invited to call and see us.

We are informed that the big well at Cash Up stopped flowing on Monday, on account of being flooded with water from the Brown well, a new one going down near by. The owners of the McClintock well are at present engaged in drilling it deeper in hopes of again causing it to flow. The chances are against it.

The Emery Bros well, recently completed, is yielding about 80 barrels per day.

The Fisher Bros well, same locality, was recently torpedooed, and is said to be yielding 100 barrels daily.

Two or three new wells will be completed the present week, which, it is thought, will decide the fate of much of the territory in that vicinity for oil producing purposes.

Painter Bros new well, on the Brown farm, Cherrytree Run, was in the third sand two days ago, and had three hundred feet of oil in the hole. A good well is predicted.

Bergmann's Automatic Wender is being exhibited at Meadville at present.

The ice did not go out of Oil Creek, as anticipated, last night.

A party of surveyors are at present engaged in surveying for a railroad route across the Egbert farm. In whose interest a new route is being surveyed we are unable to learn, as there has been no less than ten different lines run across this farm within the past few months.

Mr. Owen Gaffney, the well known liquor dealer, made us a Christmas present of a bottle of nice Port Wine. We have tasted it and pronounce it good, and not calculated to injure the public morals in the least.

On Tuesday evening, January 9th, 1872, the Rev. J. J. McMillen, a very prominent member of the Order of Odd Fellows in the United States, and an able and eloquent speaker, is to lecture at Sobel's Opera House under the auspices of Petroleum Centre Lodge No. 715, I. O. of O. F. Subject: "Origin, Object and Opposition to Odd Fellowship." The public are cordially invited to attend.

The New York Clipper has mellowed the word "drunkenness" into "habits of indisposition."

One of those pleasant social gatherings that tend to strengthen the bonds of friendship between neighbors and acquaintances, and make life more enjoyable and happy, came off at Mrs. Crane's private boarding house, in Wild Cat Hollow, on Christmas night last. That lady has always in view some new scheme tending to make her home pleasant and add to the pleasure of her boarders, guests and friends, and accordingly surprised them on that evening with a Christmas tree, upon the branches of which was hung elegant and valuable presents for each and all present. When lighted up the tree presented a beautiful and tasty appearance, and reflected great credit on the landlady's skill in arranging the gifts and placing the lights so that they could be seen to good advantage before being distributed. After the presents had been given away, the company were invited to partake of a beautiful repast, prepared especially for the occasion, and which was enjoyed to the fullest extent by all present. The festivities were kept up to a late hour, when the party broke up with the hope that many more such happy scenes might be enjoyed, and also the hope was freely expressed that Mrs. Crane might enjoy many and many a Merry Christmas in the years to come.

"Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house at Pioneer, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse," that John Sullivan, a laborer on the Warren & Venango Railroad, stole forth for the evident purpose of unlawfully "raising a stake," wherewith to celebrate Christmas. The first person he met was Wm. Reed, an aged and respectable citizen, who he attacked, knocked down and robbed of what little money he had on his person. On Christmas day Mr. Reed appeared before Justice Reynolds and made information against Sullivan for highway robbery. A warrant was issued; the accused man arrested near Pioneer; an examination made before Justice E. which resulted in Sullivan's being held for trial. He is spending the holidays in Franklin jail.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Syracuse, N. Y., is after the indecorous pictorials with sharp sticks. All the news men of that city who sell the Police Gazette, Days Doings and various other flash papers, have been prosecuted. If the Young Men's Christian Association wish to advertise said prints they have gone to work just the right way. The Police Gazette ought to be indicted for such infernally ill executed cuts, the like of which cannot elsewhere be found, but it is a very questionable policy prosecuting the news dealers, and it will really increase the sales of the obnoxious papers. It is a better way to prosecute those who buy such papers, unless moral suasion can be brought to bear upon the reading public so as to stop the demand for such reading.

The Fisher well, at Cash-up of which slight hopes were entertained, has been down for five or six days, and has been testing, but up to our latest advices, no oil has made its appearance. The Phillips well, however, is producing some oil, but just how much we have not learned. The big well is not doing as much as formerly, and when we last heard from it, it was producing 160 barrels daily. Business in building, and putting up rigs seems as brisk as ever, and Cash-up is growing rapidly.—Forest Republican.

The London Times is struck with astonishment by the exposition of the unbounded facilities for production in the United States, contained in the President's Message and accompanying documents. The Times has been astonished several times at things American. It was filled with wonder at the complete crushing out of the gigantic rebellion; again at the spectacle of an immense army peacefully dissolving like mist before the morning sun, the soldier laying down his musket and grasping the plow handle, or exchanging sword and revolver for hammer and saw, as quietly as if fighting had been a thing unheard of; again it marvelled at the announcement that the great war debt should be paid, and still more at the speed with which that task progressed. There are other wonders in store for it.

A Parker correspondent describes the way a well on the Parker & Co. Tract, on the north side of Bear creek, spouts about:

"This well," he says, "is down about 1,200 feet, and flows periodically, at intervals of twenty minutes, and yields fully two hundred barrels of oil per diem. It is quite a curiosity. At the time of our first approaching it was perfectly quiet, save a beautiful escape of gas, which could be plainly seen. All at once with a roar and a surge, it would belch forth the fluid for a period of five minutes; then all would be still for perhaps twenty minutes, when it again would belch forth as before, as if some herculean monster was below forcing it upwards."

No market report today.

The National Petroleum Company recently organized at this place by A. J. Lang and others, of Parkersburg, have succeeded the well known Alexander Petroleum Company. The National purchasing from them 8 producing wells and 16 acres of good oil territory, the price paid being $25,000.—This is one of the largest purchases that has been made in the oil regions since 1865.—The company's lands are in the Gale tract, and we understand they propose to drill several new wells. We recommend them to the trade as being actual producers of the gravities they advertise. The Company are responsible, active business men and will command a good share of the legitimate oil trade.—Volcano W. Va., Lubricator.

Cyrus Weizel, the first white settler of Indianapolis, died at his residence, near that city, on Saturday. He built his cabin on the banks of White river fifty-three years ago.

A London dispatch Sunday noon says: The Prince of Wales passed a quiet night, and is gradually gaining strength.

A Columbus critic calls Parepa "that magnificent, creamy sea of melody."

The Reading, Pennsylvania, "Times" observes of Theodore Tilton that his "phenological bumps have been modeled somewhat after the streets of Potraville—way up in some places, and way down in others."

The Germans are experimenting in guns again. As a result they have perfected a more murderous weapon than the Needle-gun, with which they propose to arm cavalry and rifle regiments. These, with the 500,000 Chassepot taken from the French, and the old needle guns, are held up to the gaze of Russia or any other country the desires to fight.

In Louisville, recently, a handsome but bashful youth was walking quietly down town, when a lovely young lady ran up to him, threw her arms around his neck and kissed him with emphasis. The bashful individual felt an awkwardness immediately, and at the same time the blushing lady discovered her mistake, apologized by saying that she thought he was her uncle, and fled like the startled fawn. At last accounts the bashful youth wished he could be mistaken for an uncle again.

A FISH STORY.

A whale of great portcity,
And small specific gravity,
Dived down with great velocity
Beneath the sea's concavity

But soon the weight of water
Squeezed in his fat immensely,
Which varied—as it ought to—
Inversely as his destiny.

It would have moved to pity
An Ogre or a Hessian,
To see poor Spermiceti
Thus snuffing compresses.

The whale he lay roaring
In agonies gigantic;
The lamp oil out came pouring,
And greased the wide Atlantic.

(Would we'd been in the navy,
And cruising there, imagine us
All in a sea of gravy,
With billows oleaginous!)

At length old million pounder,
Low on a bed of coral
Gave his last dyingounder,
Waereto I pend this moral.

MORAL.

Oh! let this tale dramatic
About this whale Norwegian,
And pressure hydrostatic,
Warn you, my young collegian.

That down compelling forces,
Increase as you get deeper;
The lower down your course is,
The upward path's the steeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ekanah Hewitt, while passing through Main street Saturday in an elevated state of beer, were thrown from their carriage by an inadvertent gambol of the family mule. Mr. Hewitt fell on his head, and assumed the form of a double bowknot for some minutes, but it not being positively known that beer, as a beverage, exists beyond the limits of this world, he declined to pass in his checks, and in consequence was at once arrested by the Police for a misdemeanor.—Norwich Bulletin.

We hear it stated that the Allegheny R. R. have made arrangements to extend their road, during the coming season, from Oil City to Tionesta, on the east side of the river, and thence to Sheffield up Tionesta Creek. We hope the information may be reliable.—(Forest Republican.)

Having satisfied themselves of their compatibility by a probationary partnership of four years' duration, an Indiana couple recently called on a justice of the peace and had the agreement made more binding.
