Among the many losers by the fire at Oil City, yesterday, was our friend Mr. Byron Taylor, the well known popular conductor on the O. C. & A. R. Three beautiful nights are just the time to please your girl by taking her out sleigh riding. And just think how nice it is to gilde ever the beautiful snow, seated in one of our friend Smawley's elegant turnouts. with one of his fast nage to haul you along at a 2:40 pace. How it would please the lady, and now without joking we would advise our bachelor friends to call on Smawley at once before the sleighing is gone de as we suggest Wish we were young again, and we'd get |Smawley to give his fact mag "more feed," rig up one of his nobby cutters, secure the handsomest girl in all the town, and "sleigh all night till broad day light." G'lang, old boss!

Mr. P. Mulligan desires us to state that tusville Sunday News, in which he is made to figure as being engaged in a street fight, is erroneous in all respects and exiculated to work him great injury. Mr. M. states that he was attacked on the street by a party of roughs and beaten fearfully, If these are the facts the News should place him right before the public.

A well known character about town known as Dutch Henry, was the victim of a cruel practical jeke at the bands of some individual in the Alpine House, night before last, which would do credit to a wild Indian. Henry it appears was intoxicated and set by the stove in the bar room of th botel asleep, when some person poured a quantity of benzine over his boots and set fire to it. The bests were burned up almost instantly by the fearful flame, and one of his feet and legs terribly burned. We bave read of the cruelties practiced by the Indians on their innocent victims and of various atrocities perpetrated by the beathen, but turning bessine on a dranken man's feet and setting fire to it, takes the shine out of all.

The last week has been one of accidents at Parker's Landing. There is but little now, and the sunshine just previous to the ate bard freezing has made a continuous field of ice, causing teaming to be anything but safe business. One man while driving a loaded wagon on the Milford farm, was killed outright. I did not learn his name. Another on the same farm named Poole. upset a load of lumber, himself failing directly under it, and was only saved from death by the horses standing perfectly quiet until some passer-by extricated him. He is in a critical condition, but hopes of his recovery are entertained. Another man, named Richard Shaw, while travelng up Foxburg Hill, on foot, was overtaken by two teams whose drivers were indulging in the pleasant pastime of 'racing," and caught him in some manner, breaking one thigh, and causing some severe cuts about the head and face. I hope he will recover

NORTHEAST SCANDAL .- The latest "bit from Northeast is in substance as follows: A farmer named Burgess owns a tenement about two miles east of the borough, and this he had frented to William Fisk. One day (just when our inforuant sal b not) Mr. Burgess went there to collect his rent. Only Mrs. Fisk was at home, and she had no money. When Mr. Fisk returned he was informed by his wife that Bugess had made infamous proposals to ber, and tried to de tain ber in the boure. This of course, rais ed a rumpas, and Fisk was about to take re, venge, when a compromise was effected, the landlord cancelling one year's rent, and giv ing his note for $25. This, bowever, he had since refused to pay, and Fick sued it/ There was to have been a hearing before Squire Brainard one day last week, but the landlord didn's care to face the music, and compromised by the payment of $35.

There is a cintter among the pets- The New York dealers in the biting condiment are in a pickle. Suits are threatened by the Colmans of London against every person in the United States dealing in mustard bearing a bull's head, if not of the Colmans' manufacture. A large proportion of the mustard sold bears a bults-head label, though but little of it came from the Colmabs warehouse. The dealers deny the exclusive right of the Colmans' to the brand, which they say was used on this side years before that firm adopted it, and are concerting plans to resist the suits. It is said proceedings have been prepared against eight hundred mustard dealers in New York city and a large number throughout the conntry, damages being laid at $50,000 to $100,000 each. though the parties bringing action are not averse to "settling" at about half of one per cent. on the claim. The modest London mustard pot has already demanded about twenty-five mallion dollars from the New York mustard pots, but there will be stinging work before the sum is realiz-
