Could the old derriez speak it would relate a story of the oil excitement in the early history of oildom, almost as wonderful as the Arabian Nights.

One of the derricks on McCray Hill fell across the top of a boarding house located near by, fortunately doing no particular damage, except "shaking up" the inmates

This afternoon, a sudden gust of wind took down the filling platform and treetle work at the side of the railroad, on the Columble Ferm.

Many other derricks are undoubtedly to ken down. The damage will be heavy.

A Song of the XXth Century.

The city, he saith, is fairer far Than one which stood of old; It gleams in the light, all crimson bright. With shifting glimmers of gold. Where be the homes my fathers built,

The houses where they prayed?

I see in no sod the paths they trod, Nor the stones my fathers laid. On the domes they spread, the roofs they reared.

Has passed the leveling tide; My fathers lie low, and their sons out grow The bounds of the ir skill and pride. Shifting, a sweeping change, It plays with man's endeavor;

They carved these names grown strange, And they said "abide forever."

The city, I say, lieth far away Whereto no change may come; It has rays manifold of crimson and gold, But I cannot count their sum.

They sigh no more by its happier shore Who wander, foreboding not, Or waning away of a changeful day,

Or changing of life and lot. They dream not there on earth's changing face.

Or mutable wind and sea-Thou art changeless, grant me a place In that fair city with Thee! There record my name,

Father! forget Thee never, For Thy thought is still the same, Yesterday, to-day and forever.

Pipe Line Meeting at Kane city.

At a meeting held at the office of Dempsey Bros., Kane City, on Wednesday aven. ing, April 10th, to inquire into the feasibility of a new pipe line up Cherrytree Run, be meeting was called to order by Mr. C. Barrett, and on motion Mr. R. A. Dampsey was chosen Chairman, and Mr. Painter elected Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Dempsey stated the object of the meeting to be to devise the best and cheapest means to get our oil to the railroad.

Mr. Wright offered the following propo sition from Mr. Richardson and others, of

That they will run our oil for 20 cents per barrel; charge no percentage; commence laying the pipe as soon as possible and pros ecute the same with due diligence to completion, &c.

Mr. Spencer being called on, stated that Mr. Stambaugh could not as yet see his way clear to make any reduction.

Mr. Barrett thought it best to have a com mittee to wait upon Mr. Stambaugh with a petition signed by the producers, and to as. certain what he would do.

Mr. Kenney moved that as opposition was the li e of trade we have a new line.

Mr. Saunders agreed with Mr. Barrett. Mr. Saunders moved to appoint a committee of five to wait on Mr. Stambaugh and get his lowest figures. Carried.

Mr. Perkins moved that we instruct our ommitte to allow Stambaugh to run our oil at 20c. per bbl. and also allow the 10 per cent. per bbl. Lost.

The chair appointed Messrs. Barrett Sauaders, Painter, Kenney and Adams, as such committee.

On motion it was agreed to instruct the committee to offer Mr. Stembaugh 15 cents per thi. and pay the 10 per cent. or 20 cts. and no percentage.

The above motion was amended by strik-ing out the word offer and inserting the word Carried.

Adjourned to meet at the same place, on on Saturday evening April 13.

We need hardly add that be overcame his modesty so far as to "dance at the wedding," and it is even hinted that be gave the customary brids! kiss. Much good luck was wished the happy couple in the journey of life.

MR. EDITOR:-What is the meaning of the word "donation?" Without being critical as to the exact definition of the word as given by lexicographers, what meaning does the common public a tach to it?

Does it not mean an unconditional gift, a free will offering, in return for which the donors expect no direct material recompense or equivalent? If such is the common acceptation of the term, (and if it means anything, it means just that,) can it be said that anything is a "denation" which is given and received in part or in full payment of a

The idea conveyed by an affirmative answer to the last question is supremely absard and ridiculous.

I have a purpose in view in propounding these queries. There seems to be, in the minds of some residents of this place, a lack of knowledge and consequent paucity of understanding upon the full meaning of the word. They need light, and if I can shed a single ray of light upon the subject, my purpose will have been accomplished.

A short time since invitations to a "dona tion" party were extensively circulated in this place and vicinity, which read as fol-

"Mr. - Yourself, lady and friends, are respectfully invited to attend a donation party at the Central House, on Friday evening, March 29th 1872, for the benefit of Rev. Mr. Schoffeld, Paster of the M. E. Church.'

This party was beld, as per announcement. Many of the Reverend gentleman's friends, to and out of the church, attended fthe party. Donations" were given with a liberal hand by those present, and were sent in by some not present, though to what aggregate amount I am unable to precisely state, and all who were not in the ring felt gratified to be able, as they thought, to bear testimony to Mr. Schofield's worth as a man and as a minister. The proceeds of the party were banded to him, and so far everything was satisfactory. But the last scene in the play was not enacted before the public. Although Mr. Schofield received the proceeds of the "donation" party, it has transpired that the officers of the church charged the same to his account, and deducted the amount from his salary!

Comment upon such action seems entirely superfluous, but I sak, did not the card of invitation bear falsehood upon its very face? Why, in the name of all that is just and honorable, did not the church officials leave out the pastor's name altogether, and say "for the benefit of the members of the M. E. Church?" They contracted to pay their pastor a salary in consideration of service, rendered, and if they afterwards found themselves unable to fulfil their part of the contract, without assistance, why did they not say so, and solicit aid for themseives directly, instead of endeavoring to excite the ympathy and generous impulses of the pubic in favor of their pastor, and then putting the gain into their own pockets? Of what benefit" was the "donation" party to him, unless there remainded no other method of ontaining his bire, to which, as a faithful laborer, he is so justly entitled, and of which he is so eminently worthy? Was not the "benefit" of the scheme derived by themselves since it enabled them to raise the money to obtain at least a portion of the services of their pastor for nothing! There. fore, when they again wish to obtain means for a like purpose, would it not be more consistent with the principles which they profess, to so advertise, and not hoodwin the public by antierfuge and deception to attain their ends? Were they afraid that the public would not respond so promptly, and generously to an appeal on their own behalf as to one on behalf of their pastor. and that, on the principle that "that the end justifies the means," they were justified in resortings to the latter expedient to "raise the wind"?

If such a cause can be justified by ayn well authenticated article in the code of moral law, and I could, by advertising a "denation" [party for the "benefit" of Mr-J. S. McCray, thereby obtain the means to purchase a few thousand barrels of oil from him, (provided be would sell,) the probabilities are that I would adopt the occupation of an oil broker. All of which is respectfully aubmitted by Yours Truly,

J. MOORHEAD.
