Last evening, Rev. D. Patton, pastor of the Presbyterian Society of this place, delivered his farewell sermon to his parishioners and the public, he intending to leave as announced in the Record some days ago in the course of his remarks the Rev. gentleman alluded feelingly to his connection with the society; the labor he had undergone in striving to do his duty in the Master's cause, and his sorrow at being compelled to part with his congregation all of whom had become endeared to him in the strongest bonds of friendship. The sermon was an appropriate one to the occasion, and will long be remembered by all who heard it. We trust the Rev. gentleman's health may be ultimately restored by the change, and that he may long be spared to labor in the Master's vineyard. Meantime the many pleasant memories associated with his ministrations here will not soon be forgotten by a host of friends.

We have been shown some elegant and beautiful specimens of gold mounted hair jewelry and wax flowers and statuary, the work of Miss M. K. Hartson, who is at present stopping at the McClintock House.—The work is executed in the highest style of the art, and proves that lady to be a skilled and proficient artist. Those of our citizens who desire something really nice in the way of jewelry or wax work, should pay Miss Hartson a call and examine her specimens in that line.

The McCray House changed hands this morning, Mr. Blackman retiring, his successor being Mr. W. R. Spear. Mr. S. has been connected with the house for a long time and fully understands the wants of his patrons. We wish him success in his new undertaking.

Elsewhere will be found the result of Saturday's primary election.

We are indebted to our friend Nields, the gentlemanly manager of the W. U. Tel. office in this place, for many favors in the way of news items, &c. Thanks!

A Detroit couple drove up to the parson's to be married in a mule cart.

Result of the Election.

[Special dispatch to the Record.

OIL CITY May 27—3 p. m.

The successful candidates are Gillilan, Duncan, McCreary, Connely, Crawford, Shaw, Turner, and probably Latschaw.

DICK.

THE ELECTION.—Below we give the vote at the Republican primary election held on Saturday, for this precinct:

Office	Candidate	Vote
Congress,	Dickey, Gillilan,	163
	Duncan, Whann, Bradeo,	26
Senate,	Reynolds, McCreary,	150
	Haight, Crawford, Reynolds,	8
Assembly,	Richardson, Connolly,	92
	Barr, Shaw,	69
Prothonotary,	Hixon, Wolf, Turner, Waterman,	113
	Davidson, Latschaw, Hughes,	71
Associate Judge,	Parker, Johnston,	1
	Beebe,	122
Register & Recorder,	Richardson, Connolly,	54
	Barr, Shaw,	109
County Commissioner,	Hixon, Wolf, Turner, Waterman,	75
	Davidson, Latschaw, Hughes,	91
Auditor,	Davidson, Latschaw, Hughes,	25
	Parker, Johnston,	15
County Committee,	Davidson, Latschaw, Hughes,	15
	Parker, Johnston,	70
Constitutional Convention,	Parker, Johnston,	5
	Beebe,	1

The returns, as far as heard from, seem to indicate the nomination of Gillilan for Congress, Turner for Commissioner, Duncan for State Senator, Shaw for Register and Recorder, and probably Crawford for Prothonotary.

NEW STRIKES.—On Wednesday of last week a well owned by Mitchell & Howe, on the Fee Farm, Sugar creek township, was completed and is yielding twelve barrels per day. The well is located on a ten acre lease owned by Mitchell & Howe, who will put down several new wells.

On Thursday last Havens & Piaget made a big strike on the Galloway farm, Sugar creek township, adjoining the Fee Farm, which proves that the "oil belt" is of great width. This well was completed on Tuesday, but it did not yield largely till Thursday, when it was torpedoed, and immediately commenced throwing oil at the rate of one hundred barrels per day. This strike has caused unusual excitement among operators, and territory is being rapidly leased and rigs erected.—[Venango Citizen.]

POLICE NEWS.—Mr. Charles M. Blackman, proprietor of the Rochester House, was attempted to be arrested on Friday last at the instance of one McCalmont, who claimed that Blackman owed him a sum of money for professional services, and that he intended to defraud his creditors by leaving town. Charley "wouldn't have it that way," and McCalmont becoming somewhat obstreperous was ordered to leave the premises, which he did in a hurry. Mr. Blackman, it is proper to state, had no intention of leaving, and did not propose to be imposed upon in that manner. Subsequently the matter was adjudged.

There were several "drunk" on the streets, Saturday night, but no arrests were made.

NEW EIGHTY BARREL WELL AT CASH-UP.—As old Doc Kelley used to say, "you can't most always tell in this blasted country," and those wisecracks that considered Cash Up and gaspielt have come to grief.—Messrs. Wallace & Chase have struck an eighty barrel well on their four acre lease on the tract owned by Grandin, Esber, Cushing et al. The royalty being one half, it is not a bad thing to have in a small family. Tidoute Journal.

ANOTHER LIBEL SUIT.—These libel suits, don't stick. Tidoute had a "sensational" of this kind within the memory of the oldest inhabitants; but, like old Zip coon, the parties "come down" without waiting to be shot at. But Mr. Wicker seems to have the inside track and, if we are not very much mistaken, will come out ahead. But, Charley, we are sorry the affair was sprung so soon, it will spoil a little champagne fight that might have resulted in favor of the party of the "scandalous" part. However, we shall anxiously look for the "rich development" you have promised the public.—Tidoute Commercial.

Two mild housewives of Allegheny, Pa., entered a saloon where their spouses were carousing, and delivered a temperance lecture unto them with cowhides.

Dolly Varden neckties for gentlemen have appeared. Well, a Dolly Varden around one's neck isn't so bad after all.

Nothing Half so Sweet in Life.

The following extract from a New York girl's diary is given by Ell Perkins in the Commercial Advertiser. The young lady is supposed to have reached her twentieth birthday:

"Nineteen to-day—and I'm too happy to live! How lovely the park looked this morning. How gracefully the swans swam on the lake, and how the yellow dandelions lifted up their yellow faces—all smiles!
Albert—dear Albert, passed mamma and I, and bowed so gracefully! Mamma frowned at him. O, dear! I am not quite happy.

Last night my first ball, and Albert was there. Four times he came and I let him put his name on my card—then mamma frowned savagely. She said I ought to be ashamed to waste my time with a poor fellow like Albert Sinclair. Then she brought up old Thompson, that horrid rich old widower, and I had to scratch Albert's name off. When Albert saw me dancing with Thompson the color came to his cheeks and he only just touched the ends of my fingers in the grand chain. O, dear, one of Albert's little fingers is worth more than old Thompson's right arm. How stupidly old Thompson talked, but mamma smiled all the time.

Once she tipped on the shoulder and said in a low, harsh voice, "be agreeable Lizzie, for Mr. Thompson is a great catch." Then Thompson, the stupid old fool, tried to talk like the young fellows. He told me I looked "stunning," said the ball was a "swell affair, and then asked me ride up to the park in his four-horse drag. Bah! Mother says I must go, but O, dear I'd rather walk two blocks with Albert than ride in a chariot with the old dried whiskers.

After supper such an event took place.—Albert joined me, and after a lovely waltz we wandered into the conservatory and had a nice confidential chat together. It is wonderful how we both like the same things. He admires the beautiful moon—so do I. I love the stars, and so does he! We both like to look out of the open window; and we both liked to be near each other—that is I know I do. Albert dates on Longfellow, and O, don't! I like Poe, and so does Albert, and the tears fairly started (but Albert didn't see them) when he repeated softly in my ears:

"For the moon never beams without bringing me dreams,
Of my beautiful Annabel Lee;
And the stars never rise, but I feel the bright eyes
Of my beautiful Annabel Lee."
—and a good deal more besides, about love and the sounding sea.

What a nice, sensible talk Albert and I had. First, we began talking about the soul—how destiny sometimes bound two souls together by an invisible chain. Then we considered the mission of man and woman upon the earth—how they ought to comfort and support each other in sickness and in health. And then Albert quite startled me by asking me if I had ever cared for any one? And when I said "Yes, papa and mamma," he laughed and said he did not mean them, and then I felt quite hurt, and the tears would come into my eyes, for I do love mamma, even if she does make me dance with that horrid old Thompson, with his dyed whiskers. Then Albert leaned his face towards mine. I felt his mustache almost touch me as he whispered such nice words in my ear. He told me how he had longed for an opportunity to speak to me alone—now—and then I was so happy, for I knew he was going to say something very nice indeed—when Ma, with that dreadful old widower, came along and interrupted us, "Come, Lizzie, you go with Mr. Thompson, for I want to present Mr. Sinclair to Miss Brown," and then Ma—O, dear she took Albert and presented him to the girl that I hate worst of anybody in school. I didn't see Albert again, for when he came around, Ma said, "Lizzie it looks horrible to be seen dancing with Albert Sinclair all the evening. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

O, dear I look like a fright—I know I do, but I hope I shall look better when I see Albert on the avenue to-morrow. Let's see. I wonder if he won't write to me? But I'll see him when he walks up from business to-night—maybe.

Suicide on South Main Street.

A man named Leslie committed suicide this morning at his residence on South Main Street. His wife and oldest son left the house at 7 o'clock to go out to work, leaving the younger son at work in the garden. About 10 o'clock he went into the house, and found his father hanging in a narrow stairway, by a strong rope fastened above. When found life was entirely extinct. Mr. Leslie was forty-four years of age, and has been subject to temporary fits of insanity for a number of years. Insanity seems to be hereditary in the family, three of his father's family being now in the asylum. He leaves a wife and two sons.

HAVE YOU SEEN HER?—A lady who for the last 4 years has been a leader of fashion in New York, and who may be seen twice a week in her elegant calèche driving a pair of superb ponies in Central Park, has recently stated, in the select circle to which she belongs, that the only article in existence which imparts beauty and lustre to the complexion without ultimately impairing the texture of the skin and causing it to collapse and wrinkle, is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. The name of the distinguished member of the beau monde who made this declaration cannot with propriety be made, but it may be mentioned en passant that she has spent several years of her life in Europe and is familiar with all the arts and preparations employed by the court beauties of the world to enhance their charms.

LARGE SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Mr. C. D. Angell, a few days ago, sold to Messrs. Vandergrift & Forman and Taylor & Satterfield, his interest in the pit tract extending from Mt. Hope to Scrubgrass, and in three farms at Parker's Landing, for the sum of $155,000. A few days previous to this last sale Mr. Angell sold Messrs. Culver & Lambing Oil interests to the amount of $35,000. Although he still holds shares in some 4,000 acres of valuable property on the Allegheny River. Mr. Angell intends to give the greater part of his attention to the management of the Maple Grove Coal Company, of which he is President and the principal stockholder.

MISREPRESENTATION.—A statement appeared in the Erie Dispatch, of Saturday week, that has been extensively copied by our exchanges, concerning the firm of McCray, Rockwell & Co., of this city. The article states that the firm had failed owing to the absconding of the junior member of the firm, taking with him or misappropriating a large sum belonging to the same. The whole statement is incorrect, and is an act of gross injustice to all the members of the firm. On the date of its publication Mr. Rockwell was in Oil City, in company with Mr. McCray.

Since that time the firm has been dissolved by mutual consent of all parties, and the business satisfactorily arranged. As no good ground existed for the publication made by the Dispatch, we are sure they will take pleasure in correcting the false impression their article has made.

The firm has enjoyed an excellent business reputation, and its members are deserving of no such unjust suspicions as the article of the Dispatch would infer.—Oil City Register.

It is said that solar light exercises a remarkable influence on petroleum oils. Exposed to light the oils absorb oxygen, and change it into ozone, without themselves forming any chemical compound with the ozone, which remains at liberty in the oil and oxidizes anything it comes in contact with. The oils, however, are greatly changed when they contain ozone; they burn with difficulty, it is said, and increase in density. If in corked bottles, the corks decay from the action of the ozone.

The Tidoute Driving Park Association was fully organized last night, and a transfer of the leases made by Mr. Crawford. The following gentlemen are the officers elected: President—E. B. Grandin; Vice President—Goodwin Mead; Treasurer—W. J. Grandin; Secretary—Geo. H. Abrams, Jr.; Directors—H. H. Cummings, S. Tip-ton, M. G. Cushing, M. P. Gitobell, and John Tonkin.—[Tidoute Journal.]

A romantic couple, not a great way from here, named their infant daughter Carezza. That was about eighteen years ago, and the boys are at it now.
