NOTES OF THE DAY.

Brigham Young was 71 years old June 1st.

Oxford University celebrates its 1,000th anniversary this year.

One hundred and fifty ministers in the Church of England are said to be of Jewish birth.

The Mayor of Concord, N. H., stands six feet five inches in his stockings.

Killing Indians in some parts of the west is considered justifiable Siouxicide.

A cable connecting England with her South African Colonists is in contemplation.

Teaberry flavoring, hitherto unknown in Europe, has been recently introduced among the confectioners there.

An extra session of the Missouri Legislature has been called by Gov. Brown, for June 24, to redistrict the State.

The grain trade of New Orleans is rapidly increasing, and bids fair in a short time to rival that of some of the western cities.

The people of Norway are now preparing for a great national festival, to celebrate the one thousand anniversary of Norway's nationality.

Senator Brownlow was sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to take part in the procession on Decoration Day in Knoxville, Tenn.

The heated term, which seems to be fairly upon us at last, will have the effect of bringing out the cool linen suits, in which sweltering humanity may find some comfort. These suits bid fair to become more popular than ever, men and boys alike donning them during the summer months in preference to the light cloth suits so popular in former days. In view of the new departure we would suggest a visit to the Jamestown Clothing Store, Mr. A. Alden proprietor, located on Washington street. The stock embraces everything in the line of linen goods and the prices at which they are offered are unsurpassed. Give Mr. Alden a call and see for yourselves.
