Day before yesterday, Messrs. Wm. J. McCray, T. S. Armstrong, John Waddell and W. C. Gibb, left town for a fishing excursion to President. Under the guidance of Mr. Gibb, and conveyed by Mr. McCray's fast team, the party left at 4 a. m. arriving at President without accident at six o'clock. After partaking of a substantial breakfast, gotten up in mine host Geo. McCray's (of the President Hotel) best style, the party left for the fishing grounds of Porepine and Reese Run, which they "fished down," catching about 300 fine trout, and having a jolly good time generally. Returning the party tarried at the President Hotel long enough to partake of Mr. McCray's hospitality in the shape of a substantial supper. They desire us to return thanks to that gentleman for the handsome manner in which they were entertained. The party arrived safely home at 10 o'clock the same night, a little tired, but well pleased with the trip.

PERSONAL.—We are pleased to notice the safe return home of our townsman, Mr. S. A. Woods. For the past four or five weeks Mr. W. has been rusticated at Hot Springs, in the State of Arkansas. He reports the weather at that point six weeks ago to have been as hot as it is in Petroleum Centre at present. When Mr. W. left home he was somewhat "under the weather" in health. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he returns greatly improved in health and appearance. We welcome him back.

Oil matters promise to brighten up somewhat in the neighborhood of Cherrytree, and between that place and Petroleum Centre. Our townsmen, Messrs. S. A. Woods, J. W. Irwin, and Dr. M. C. Egbert, have taken up several leases in that neighborhood, and intend to commence the work of developing before long. Mr. Jonathan Watson, of Titusville, has secured a large section of oil land in the same neighborhood, and will also commence operations soon. A Pittsburgh company has also a tract of land there about, have the lumber on the ground for a rig. Oil operators appear to think that the chances are good for striking the ball in that vicinity.

AN ELOPEMENT IN TIDIOUPE.—A romantic young lady of seventeen summers left her home in this city last Sunday night, and has not been heard from since. She was living with a very respectable family as an adopted daughter, and has been "keeping company" with a young man who was objectionable to the family, although they had not opposed it. Of course it is supposed they went off together, although the young man has been here ever since Monday morning, when he was seen driving into town very early, his horses covered with foam and mud. He stoutly denies any knowledge of the girl or her elopement. She carried with her everything she could call her own and must have had considerable baggage. She evidently went to stay. The strangest thing about it is that the young man should be able to "tear himself away," and return here without his dulcinea. The friends of the girl are anxious to hear from her, fearing he may abandon her. [Titusville Journal.]

TRAMPS.—The rural districts are pestered with vagrants, many of whom assume the role of beggars that they may more easily steal from their benefactors. Their object is not so much to obtain food or raiment as to afford opportunities for the gratification of their thieving propensities, of which they readily take advantage. While the person from whom alms are solicited is engaged in the work of misdirected charity many of these worthless tramps seize what they can lay their hands on and secrete it among their garments. The country is not the only place where these rascally practices prevail, cities being more or less cursed with them.

POLICE NEWS.—An assault and battery case from Rouseville, occupied the attention of Justice Reynolds, this forenoon. The facts of the case appeared to be that one Levi, who keeps a clothing store, is the father of several children; that said infants threw stones at and called Mr. Jacob's hired girl exceedingly bad names; that Mr. Jacob's hired girl laid violent hands on one of the aforesaid children and administered to it a good sound spanking, in consequence of which Levi brought suit against her for assault and battery. After hearing the evidence, the jury rendered a verdict of no cause of action, and that plaintiff pay the costs amounting to $18.

QUERY.—What right has the Boyd Farm Bridge Company to collect toll from foot travelers when the bridge has been pronounced unsafe and closed against teams? The above question has been propounded to us by several residents of Boyd Farm. If any person can answer the conundrum, or give information on the subject, the public would like to be enlightened. Who speaks first?

Tomorrow a grand picnic is to be given at the Titusville Driving Park, for the benefit of the Ladies' Home Relief Association. A good time is promised. Tickets can be procured at Christie's Drug Store.

Yesterday forenoon, while Mr. G. Gordon was temporarily absent from his hardware store, a boy named O'Neil entered the store and "went through" the till for about $9 in currency. Upon a return of the money, and at the request of the boy's father, Mr. Gordon did not have a warrant issued as was his intention at first.

Yesterday, Mr. Elliot Robson, of this place, left on a trip to the Lake Superior Region. He intends to be gone about three weeks, and will stop at Saginaw, Duluth, and other points on the route. We wish him a safe and pleasant trip and speedy return home.

J. W. Beatty is manufacturing a superior quality of Ice Cream at present. He calls it Dolly Varden Ice Cream.

FULLERTON.—The town of Fullerton, two miles below Emlenton on the A. V. railroad, has a population of eight families and boasts of two good hotels. The site for the town was selected but a few weeks ago. Fullerton is intended for a receiving and shipping point for the Petersburg oil district. It has a great advantage over the towns seeking that trade, in being one mile and a half nearer the great oil district than any other station on the road. The Antwerp pipe company has completed its line from the oil district of Petersburg to Fullerton and is daily running 800 to 1000 barrels. The company has one 10,000 barrel tank erected at Fullerton and will commence another in a few days.—[Spectator.]

A new well was struck on the Henry Fogle farm, two and a half miles southeast of Nettown, on Thursday last, which is yielding 35 barrels per day. Owned by Dr. G. Shamburgh. The striking of this well opens up a large extent of new territory.

One train on the Oil Creek & Allegheny River R. R. now runs direct to Warren, arriving there about noon and returning in a very short time.

There arrived in St. Louis from Oregon the other day, an old man named Joseph Thomas, ninety-three years of age, whose history is among the most remarkable stories of the age. Born on the frontier when Illinois was a wilderness in the possession of the red man, and its prairies the feeding fields of millions of Buffaloes, he has lived to his great age leading the life of a trapper, boatman and hunter, spending the days of his youth in flat boating on the Mississippi river, his vigorous manhood in the forests of Arkansas and Southwestern Missouri, lumbering, trapping, hunting and fighting the Indians, and his old age as a beggar in the streets of cities that have grown up on spots where more than half a century ago he shot deer and "wrestled" with his companions. Many years ago he settled upon what is now a part of the city of Portland, Oregon, and after one of the longest law suits on record, and years of want and beggary, has just succeeded in establishing his title to the claim. He has returned to St. Louis for the purpose of spending his last days among those who were his friends when he was in distress.

A Veritable India-rubber Map.

The Gardner (Maine) Journal gives the following particulars of the wonderful escape of Mr. Joseph Glazier, of that city, from instant death. He was examining a paper mill in Topsham, and while so engaged the skirt of his coat caught in the roll. He immediately besought himself to throw off his coat, but in doing so his hand was thrown into the rolls. "I'll let it pull my arm out," he thought to himself, but as the merciless machinery pulled at the stout muscles and tendons Mr. G. found that his arm would not pull off without breaking his neck. Just think of such a situation for a man to be in! Coolly submitting to his fate, he turned his head over on the side to save his nose, and through the space of about four inches he was drawn to his hips. He says as the rolls passed over his head it made a noise like grinding coffee in a mill and that's the last he remembers. The blood spirted from his eyes, ears, and mouth so as to go on to the dryer, twelve feet distant. He was the taken up for dead. But strange to say, he is now about on the street. The space he went through was about four inches, we are told, but the upper roll could raise a little by what give there was to 80-inch felt. The Journal naturally remarks that it hardly seems possible that a man could be ground through such a small space and live.

Wholesale liquor men rejoice at the new revenue law as being a large saving to them. They are relieved of the one per cent. sales tax over $25,000, the pay of guagers and the fifty cent tax on rectified goods over two hundred barrels per year. Besides this the stamps are reduced from twenty-five to ten cents.

The Oil City Register has recently received a new dress throughout, and presents an elegant appearance typographically, besides being much improved editorially. It also holds the Democratic flag at its mast head. We wish you success, Bro. Johns.

The body of Dennis Shea, one of the unfortunate falling party who were drowned in Lake Erie last month, was recovered on Sunday last and identified by the only surviving member of the party.

It is estimated that the prevalence of small-pox in Erie has entailed upon that city a business loss of two hundred thousand dollars.

The body of Zalmon Olmstead, of Corry who was missing for several days, was found on Wednesday evening last in a field belonging to Jesse Perkins. He is supposed to have died from heart disease.—Blade.

The Tidoupe Daily Commercial is dead. The Tidoupe Journal is to be changed to an evening paper.

Warren is to have a steam Railroad. The Company was duly organized on Monday the 17th, and $20,000 of stock subscribed. Thomas Struthers, S. J. Page, M. Waters, J. K. Palmer and G. R. Wetmore are the Directors. G. R. Wetmore was made President and L. S. Alden, Secretary.—[Mail.]

Switzerland is said to be the only country in Europe where more money is spent on public education than on the army. The budget for this year provides $400,000 for educational purposes, while the estimated military expenses are below that sum. In time of need Switzerland can raise an army of 200,000 men.

Among the laborers employed in loading wagons with bricks taken from the old Herald office, New York, now being pulled down, was a stout, able-bodied woman, who is described as working vigorously, piling up the bricks in her arms, and pitching them into the wagon with the ease of one long used to such employment.

Connecticut papers note the shipment of large quantities of "medicated cider" into Massachusetts since the enforcement of the Prohibitory Liquor law.

The new Odd Fellows' Hall in Boston, of which the foundation stone was laid last year, is nearly finished.

Fall wheat in Northwestern Kansas is reported light, but otherwise there are prospects of an unusually large grain crop.

At Weldon, N. C., a boy has done well by making $1,500 in four years selling oranges and peanuts, besides attending school regularly.

The foreign imports into Boston, up to the 7th of June this year, exceed the value of those of the same time in 1871, by about six million dollars.

The railroad tunnel under Baltimore is progressing at the rate of about 100 feet a week. When finished it will be a mile and a quarter long.

The Constitution of the Young Men's Christian Union of Chicago is to be changed so that its name shall be "The Christian Union," admitting ladies to full and complete membership.

In six days a Detroit man robbed a woman of $50, committed an assault and battery, attempted a larceny, got drunk three times, stole a dog, smashed $8 worth of windows, and got away from a misanthropic officer who thought him a confidence operator.

How Unnecessary the Anguish many persons undergo from rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, toothache and earache. We say unnecessary, because the application of Mexican Mustang Liniment to the affected part, or a few drops of it in the ears or tooth, affords instantaneous, and what is better, permanent relief. For cuts, wounds, bruises, swellings and all injuries or diseases which require treatment externally, this liniment is every where regarded as the most potent and reliable healing agent in existence. For all external injuries or ailments of horses and cattle, it is infallible.

"Gath," the Chicago Tribune's truthful correspondent, is attaining more notoriety by his reckless "pitching in" than his mental caliber particularly justifies. The same is not a mere nom de plume, as many suppose. It is rather the confusion of the writers initials by the intelligent compositor. G stands for George, A for Alfred, T for Townsend, and H for the ultimate destination of all such lars as he.—Chicago Journal.

Dr. S. M. Ingersoll, who lived on the site of Columbus, Ga., before it was thought of for a city, has lately died. He claimed to have given Prof. Morse the primary idea that led to his wonderful invention.
