THE TARE RUN TERRITORY .- Yesterday we made mention to some extent of oil matters near Cherry ires. Since then we have learned a few additional form relative to that and the Tarr Run territory. The territory leased by Messrs. S. A. Woods, Dr. M. C. Egbert, and J. W. Irwin, of Petroleum Centre, and John A. Stewart, of Chersytree, comprises 45 acres, known as the A. Plerce Farm, and is in a direct line between the Cherrytree oil belt and that of Church Run, near Titheville. It is but a short distance south of the Hyde Form, in the direct tion of the Centre.

A short distance to the right of their tract lie the Nason and Pinney tracts, owned by Jonathan Watson, of Titusville, and on which are several good wells, averaging from 5 to 16 barrels each daily.

On the Hyde farm there · three wells pumping respectively 75, 20 and 12 Barrels daily. A new well was completed day before yesterday which is making a fine show. Six wells are in various stages of completion, and a large number of new zigs are going up.

Fellows Mail, on Thursday evening of each The average depth of the wells is 840 to 850 feet, thereby proving the territory to be superior to the down river territory as far as not having to drill as deep by nearly ized. half, is concerned. From what we know of the territory we incline to the opinion that the wells on the Tare and Upper Bennehoff Run territory will prove as good and more lasting than asything yet struck in the down river territory.

The gentlemen above named have the rig already up for their first well, and the engine and boiler was being moved yesterday. Drilling will commence Monday or Tuesday

Mr. Edward Fox, of Titusville, has a well going down in the same vicinity, which is now nearly 500 feet deep.

Land and leases are being rapidly picked. up thereabouts, and the probability is that developing will be active the present summer and fall in the new elidorado.

Titusville and Petroleum Centre will be mutually benefitted in consequence.

BY ETHEL LYNN.

Robbed on the highway boldly, Robbed in a ruthless way: Robbed without cry or parley, Robbed in the open day!

This I remember only: A strange and subtle spell; A glance like summer lightning, And voice like silver belt.

I gave no cry nor struggle, Called not for aid aloud; Sought not the law's protection, Nor pity from the crowd;

But gave, quite unresisting, The treasure I have lost; Nay more, forgave the robber Whose path my own had crossed.

"Six feet," strong and stalwart, Captured by "five feet one;" Bound by a tether finer Than ever spider span!

My captor were a bonnet Misty and blue and small, Outside it, rose or feather I cannot tell at all.

But pearls, and stars, and roses, And curling rings of gold, Were somewhere 'twixt the bonnet And throat-tie's silken told-

And words with silver echoes Rang as the passed me by, And then my heart unguarded, She bore off bodily.

Twas thus the robber met me, One sunny Saturday-Robbed me in open daylight, Upon the broad highway.

Woman and Wine.

A writer in Scribner's Monthly used the following strong language, which will be responded to by the women who have suffer, ed all over the land:

Of the worst foes that women has to encounter, while stands at the head. The appetite for strong drink has spoiled the lives of more women-rulaed more hopes for them, scattered more fortunes for them, brought to them more shame, sorrow and was much respected by all who knew him. bardship-than any other evil that lives .-The country numbers ten thousand-nay, hundreds of thousands-of women who are widows to-day, and sit in homeless weeds because their busbonds have been slain by strong drink. the Tarr Run territory, day before yester-There are thousands of women who dread to hear at the door the step that once thrills ed them with pleasure, because that step has learned to reel under the influence of the seductive poison. There are women grouning with pain, while we write these words, from bruises and brutalities inflicted by husbands made mad by drink. There can be no exaggeration in any statement made in regard to this matter, because no buman imagination can create anything worse than the truth, and no pen is capable of portraying the truth. The sorrows and horrors of a wife with a drunken husband, or a mother with a drunken son, are as near the realization of helt, as can be reached in this world, at least. The shame, the indigpation, the sorrow, the sense of disgrace for berself and her children, the poverty-and unfrequently the beggary-the fear of violence, the lingering, life long struggle and is now plain. - [Emlenton Friend. busbands, are enough to make women curse wine, and engage unitedly to oppose it everywhere as the worst enemy of their

One of the members of the present New Zealand Parliament met with a curious aceldent in his tender infancy. He was carried off, as the story goes, by a large female monkey in Cape Colony, South Africa .-Three months afterwards he was rescued by a party of hunters, who discovered him in the arms of his abductress, who was tenderly nursing him. This was strange enough, but the narrative is incomplete as it stands. A touching sequel, in vindication of the Darwin theory, should have been added, and it is this: Since his accession to parlinmentary dignity the grateful member has bunted up, literally speaking, his wild The weather of yesterday was the warm- loster mother, and had her placed under the charge of competent instructors, with the pleasing result that now, at the ripe age of a couple of hundred years, she hangs around the school house lisping ba-be-bi-bo-bu ---Little Japanese parasols, apparently made There is notherng like telling the truth when of straw, are the latest novelty bawked one commences a romance.
