The Wall Street Journal of Sept. 7th

In our issue of May 25th last, we stated that a new institution, under the title of the New York Loan and Indemnity Company had organized, and taken offices at 229 Broadway, corner of Barclay Street, N. Y. We have now to state, that the Company are about commencing business, on half of the authorized Capital of $1,000,000 baving been subscribed and the remainder being now offered to capitalists. The character of this Company is unusually liberal, as it not only authorizes the carrying on of the business of a Trust, Sale Deposit and Warehouse Company, but it also incides the transportation of a General Banking Business. The Committee consists of H Business. The Committee consists of H. Van Dyck (who was for many years United States Assistant Treasurer in this City), George H. Bissell and A. McKinney, who are all well known Financiers.

Mr. Geo. H. Bissell, one of the gentlemen spoken of in connection with the above financial scheme, is the well known President dent of the banking institution that bears his name, in our town. Mr. B. Is one of the most successful fluspolers in the country. and no better man could be found to fill this responsible position.

The McPherson failure will be remember ed by our readers. The creditors held a meeting in Parker's Landing Wednesday, when it was found that the Habilitles foot up to the nest little sum of $160,000, while his assets are only $40,000. The hardest blow falls on the laboring men who depend on him for bread to feed their families.

Mr. J. H. Luther, is putting up a large addition to his machine shop on the Funkville Flats .

RIG BURNED.-The Irwin well, on the Eddinger farm, little Turkey run, caught fire on Friday night last, and three tanks of oli, with the rig, were totally destroyed .-It is not known positively how the oil became ignited, but it is supposed that it was caused by some person passing near the tanks with a lighted lantern -in fact, the report is current that a man was seen at the moment of ignition, but suddenly disappeared, whether escaping, or being caught in the flames, is unknown, as no trace of him has he escaped. The total loss is estimated at $4,000. J. W. Irwin, of Petroleum Centre, and others are the owners -[Petersburg Progress.

Those big trees at Mariposa and Calavers, are not the best that California can do, after all. They have found one at Visalia forty feet in diameter with the bark off, and the bark had six feet of thickness. It is strange that these stender saplings have been over looked so leng.

The king of Bermah's wife baving died, the bereaved monarch secludes himself and occupies his time in staring at a lot of skulls and other ghastly objects. He also cause the late queen's food to be placed for her daily, and requires that she be spoken of as sleeping, not dead.

The review of the 20th Division National Guards of Pennsylvania, which is announced to occur on the 19th of this month, at Erie, will be quite an important event.

Corry is to have a blast furnace and rolling mill, work to be commenced at . once .-The city gives $50,000 in bonds to the company building the manufactories.

Persons desiring to attend the Erie Annu. al Conference, at Akron, Ohio, can go at excursion rates on the A. & G. W.

Letter From Brown Farm.

CHERRYTREE OIL BELT, Sept. 11, 1872.

MR. EDITOR:—A. G. Oliver completed another well last Saturday, which promises to be a good six barrel well. It was drilled by the same men who made the good time on the last well. But they beat their own time as well as any other on the run, or we believe in the region, completing the well in 17 days. It is about 820 feet deep with about 200 feet of large casing. Who beats Brown farm time?

Powers & Griffith will flaish another well

G. W. Ibrig will complete one this week. S. El lott & Co., have overcome the crev ice difficulty and will soon fintush their new well.

Daniel Crocker has commenced drilling. J. B. Painter & Co., bave connected to their large boller and are putting their wells in order to run steady.

Oliver, Markie & Co., bave another well drilling.

Joseph Moorhead has recently moved from the Pierson farm to the Painter lease on Brown farm.

James Duncan has also moved from the Hess farm bere.

A new road to Kane City is soon to be completed.

The new school house at Kane City presents a fine appearance, and surpasses anything in the country for location. The citizens intend putting a large bell on it. Mr. D. Kinny, mayor of Allemagoozelum was at the Catholic fair at Rynd Farm yesterday, and one Dehaven thought to amuse himself at the expense of Mr. K. by giving him a slight tap over the peeper, after which Mr. K. sat down, surveyed the situation, and then shouted "To the rescue," to a Brown farm lad, who came and put a Dolly Varden head on said Dehaven in less than no time. Triffling with the mayor of that city is a serious matter.

We understand the People's Stage Line is line must soon knock under.

Mr. Williams who had bis leg broken by the recent runaway, is rapidly recovering. Busices on the Lake farm is quiet. But one well drilling.

Quite a number of wells are being drilled on the Run, and altogether it is one of the most inviting places to operators in the region.

SAND ROCK.

A Young Lady Persuades a Modest and Innocent Widower to Elope with Her.

[From the Kansas City Times, 30.]

A romantic case of Leap-year love, elopement and matrimony happened recently in a neighboring village, which shows what a woman can do when she rises above the conventionalities that hamper her sex, and makes a practical demonstration of the theory that Susan B. Anthony and other gentlemanly old maids are forever scolding about. A young lady of lawful age age, and, as she avers, sound discretion, tired of eingle loneliness, and believing in the right, of her sex, made more emphatic by leap year privileges, and restive under the strength of Economite regulations regarding celibacy saw, admired and conquered a willing captive of the storner sex, but diffident disposition. He was a widower, and wearted of his lone condition, but never told his love. She was a maiden, with a plous but cross father. She looked not nor cared for his consent, but bravely invited the object of her choice to a secret marriage, as a strategic movement against the deacen's pposition. Having married they met frequently and secretly, but eventually the old man got wind of their marriage, and laid in ambuscade in the garden last Thurs day, armed and equipped with a poker, to be laid upon the man who had stolen away his daughter's affections. He had not long to wait. The recent widower and the late lover, but now happy husband, went into the garden at ten o'clock in the evening to meet his wife, when the trate old man with the domestic iron implement rose up, laid the poker about the head and shoulders of his sou-in-law with all that uncompromising energy for which trate fathers of marriageable daughters are so remarkable. A new silk but was ruined, but the beaver acted as a belinet to a certain extent, and so far as a but could do it, faithfully protected the head of its owner, who faltered not a moment ere be used all due dilligence in taking his departure from the angry

On the following day the daughter of the descen confessed all, which only added fuel to the flame of the old gent's anger. The pastor of the village, under whom the deacon had for many years officiated, interposed soothing words, but the wrath of a deacon is not easily appeared. Still there were no more blows except the beaviest blow of all, which felt in the shape of the arrival of the lawful husband in a carriage, and the departure of the young bride. Now sorrow broods over the heart of the deacon, and it is to be hoped the late widower and his fair young bride may live happily during their

The Weller farm on the east side of Turkey run is being leased and operations will very soon be commenced.

The Magrew well continues to pump 20 barrels per day. Since the striking of this well six new wells have been started on this farm (Keating) all of which are located between the well and Neely farm which lies directly north .- [St. Petersburg Progress.

CRISTAL WEDDING, -A pleasant gatherng in the patiers of Fox's Hotel, on Chau. tauqua Lake, occurred one evening last last week, to celebrate the Crystal Wedding or fitteenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. Henry I. and Mrs. Kate E. Beers, of Rouseville. Wm. A. Collins, Esq., of the Pittsburgh Chronicle, made the opening address, to which Mr. Beers responded in fitting terms. Congratulations to the bride and groom by the company followed. After this the company were favored with choice vocal music by Miss Maggie McMullen, of Titusville. A son of Mr. Beers, who had apidly gaining ground and that the old arrived that evening from a tour in Europe, presented Mrs. Beers with an elegant set of coral jewelry. The affair was an exceedingly pleasant one.

> A remarkable coincidence. We find in New York paper and advertisement wherein a man and wife seek to obtain a gentleman and lady as boarders, and in addition to recelving board and full wages, the gentleman boarder will be expected to fill a waiter's place and the lady act as cook. The advertising man and wife say they can furnish satisfactory references. We also see in one of our city papers an advertisement wherein a situation is wanted "by a lady as cook "or general housework in a small family." Now these advertisers should come together. As far as we can judge, the wants of the two advertisers solves the servantgal question, and if so great joy will come to the afflict-

Strange Scenes at a Camp Meeting.

The National Association for the Promotion of Holiness has just closed a nine day's camp meeting at Richmond, Me., the closing scenes of which, as described by the ever the unsanctified may think as to their value in the way of promoting holiness .-After singing a stiring song, the president appounced that the hour had arrived for the last act of the religious drama. The president, vice president, and two other clergymen, then arm in arm, four abreast, took the line of march around the stand .-About a thousand joined in the procession As they marched they sang some of those wild, pathetic songs this sect is so famou

Twice around the enclosure the great pro cession slowly tramped to the music of the song. After the second tramp around, a ring was made, the men forming a line facing the ctrole. The sisters, now in single file slowly passed along the waiting line of men, shaking each by the hand as they passed, many of the more excited sister throwing their arms around some faverite brother's neck, and giving him the kiss of holy love. After the last woman had pass ed, the last brother in the line followed in behind, the line of men thus doubling on on itself. Here some of the men followed the example of the sisters, brother klesing brother as they passed. The shouts and amens, and hallelujas were hearty and frequent. Perhaps a thousand persons witnessed this unique scene.

Remember the county fair.
