There does not appear to be anything new in the situation of affairs on the oil question. The true solution of the question, which has been advocated by us for several days past, is the refining of the oil right here at home. The Oil City Derrick of this morning states that cooperative refineries are to be established at once at Petroleum Centre, Rossville, Reno, and at Parker's Landing. Once this plan carried into successful operation, and it will effectually squelch out the Refiner's Combination for good.

The Petroleum Producers' Council was still in session at Oil City, on Saturday. With the exception of passing resolutions to telegraph to New York denying the reports that the wells were to be started up, they do not appear to have transacted any business of importance.

In this connection we may state that the movement organizing to build a refinery at this point is having its effect on the Combination. It has been understood among oil men for some time past, that the Combination were endeavoring to get control of the Herman, Cornell & Co. refinery at this place. This they were unable to do as the gentlemen owning that refinery do not put any faith in the promises of the ringmasters of the Combination. The probability of the building of another refinery by the producers, so agitated the ring that we understand they made another offer for that refinery, this morning, naming a much larger sum than heretofore offered, and were refused. Messrs. Herman, Cornell & Co. propose to run their refinery independent of any combination, and their doing so will not interfere with the producers' refinery, therefore, let the building of that be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

Let the good work go on!

Looks like Winter today.

The rumor having been circulated in Oil City and elsewhere that the wells owned by Capt. F. J. Keffer and others, located on the Dazell Farm, had been started up and were pumping, we are authorized by Capt. K. to emphatically deny the story. During last week he has been engaged in putting up a 500-barrel water tank on his lease, and one of the rigs was started up for the purpose of pumping the tank full of water. This is probably where the story originated.

On Friday evening last, the brothers of Petroleum Centre Lodge No. 715, I. O. of O. F., enjoyed their annual supper, at the Central House, at the conclusion of the regular session. Owing to the nonarrival of the District Deputy the newly elected officers were not installed. The supper had been ordered for that evening, however, and the brothers could not go back on it and we doubt if they would have done so, as it was gotten up in mine host Cross & McOmber's best style, and was partaken of with great relish by those present. We are happy to state the lodge is in a flourishing condition, and as the long winter evening's approach no doubt a renewed interest will be manifested in its meetings.

Saturday, October 12th, was the day observed by the Jewish people as Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement, on which the young and old fasted, from sunset to sunset, and passed the day in the synagogue with prayer. On that day the Minister and some of the more orthodox members of the religionists wore robes of white linen. After this comes, on October 17th, the Harvest Feast, or Succoth, on which, in their prayers, they offer thanksgiving for the fruits of the earth. The feast lasts nine days, on the first and last two days of which divine services are held.

The Rev. J. T. Oxley, of North East, occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church, yesterday forenoon and evening, delivering two very able and eloquent sermons. He was greeted on both occasions with a large number of his former parishioners and friends who had assembled to greet their old pastor.

We trust he may be induced to pay us another visit soon. He can always rest assured of a hearty welcome.

The Republicans of Oil City jubilate this evening.

Yesterday was a quiet day indeed. Not a well was pumping in this vicinity.

Capt. J. E. Ray, Superintendent of the Central Petroleum Company, left for New York, yesterday morning.

It is stated that the present management of the Erie Railway has decided to remove the names, monograms, pictures and all other traces and remembrances of Jay Gould and James Fisk, Jr., from the engines, ferry boats, palace coaches, and other property of the company. If they could remove all traces of their spirit from the management of the company it would be still better.

The Shepherdstown (Va.) Register gives currency to a rumor that during the war a Federal quartermaster, who was hotly pushed by the enemy, buried some $60,000 in gold and greenbacks under a large white oak, about a mile from Shepherdstown, and that a few nights ago he came along and dug up the buried treasure and took it away.

A Cincinnati youth, guided by the advice of a fortune-teller, sought to make a girl love him by means of electricity working from under her chair. When the time came she sprang into the air about three feet and when she came down she landed in her lover's hair and took about two handfuls and then told him she hated him. No match.

The Reed House, Erie, is to be rebuilt.

The situation of the oil men is at this time better than at any time previous. Oil is up, credits are better, and the temporary embarrassment of many have been relieved for the present, by the simple assurance that oil will command their own figures. Almost without exception the oil men are faithfully adhering to their pledges, not to produce any more oil. It is true that some have so far dishonored their names as to pump after night, foolishly supposing that they were unseen. This will not do. As guardian of the great world of operators the Producers' Association will take in hand any and all persons detected in "stealing a pump," as an operator emphatically remarked, at the last meeting of the Association. Everyone must see that it is better to acquiesce in the situation for the time being than to attempt to fight public opinion. There are honorable men among us and they control this movement. At the same time there are rogues and knaves, who accord with the majority simply because they can by that means, obtain advantage which by any other means would be inaccessible. Let every one labor to ease his neighbor, in this time of need, and there will not be a shadow of doubt as to its success. We earnestly hope that all will stand true to their pledges, and show to other districts that we can, and WILL resist oppression, come in whatever form it may.—[St. Petersburg Progress.]

The Hottest Summer on Record.

The Meteorological records of the Pennsylvania Hospital at Philadelphia, which go back to 1790, show that the summer which has just closed with the month of August, has been the hottest ever known in the history of the city. The mean temperature of June, according to the record, was 76.62 degrees, or less than three-quarters of a degree below that of June 1870, the warmest corresponding month on record. The mean temperature of July was 82.81 degrees or a degree and a third above the mean for July, 1792, 1838, 1868, the highest previous. And now we find the mean temperature of August to have been 81.04 degrees which is greater by over half a degree than the mean for August 1863, the highest known previous to the present year. Taken together we find an average mean temperature for the three summer months of 79.98 degrees, which is three-quarters of a degree above the figures for the summer of 1870, which heretofore enjoyed the distinction of being the hottest known in Philadelphia.

TENTH SEMI-ANNUAL CONVENTION INDEPENDENT ORDER GOOD TEMPLARS OF THE NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT OF PA.

CORRY, PA., October 1, 1872.

To the Lodges and Temples, I. O. G. T. in the Counties of Erie, Crawford, Warren Venango, Forest, Mercer, Elk and McKean:

The Tenth Semi-Annual Convention I. O. G. T. of the North-Western District of Pennsylvania, composed of the Lodges and Temples to which this call is addressed, will convene in Titusville, at 10 o'clock, A. M., on Thursday October 24th, and continue in session two days.

Each Lodge and Temple is entitled to two delegates at large, and one additional delegate for every twenty-five members, or fraction of that number in exercise, in good standing. All members of the Order in good standing are entitled to seats in the Convention, but only accredited delegates have the privilege of voting. Request is especially made that all the officers, and as many of the delegates as possible, be present at the first session.

Blank reports will be forwarded to each Lodge, to be filled out and presented at the Convention.

It is expected that the usual arrangements will be made with the Railroad Companies by which delegates paying full fare in coming, will be retained free. The specific arrangements made will be announced hereafter. All communications on this subject should be addressed to the Secretary A. M. Martin, Corry, Pa. Lodges will confer a great favor by reporting to him (as soon as possible, the number of delegates and members that will attend, and the route that will be taken.

It is earnestly desired that this Convention shall be the largest attended at any ever held in the district. The Temperance cause has assumed a significance which renders it one of the vital questions before the American people. It already enters largely into the political discussions of the day, and is destined to be an issue on which men asking for position must stand or fall. The passage of the Local Option law by the last Legislature of our State, opens a new field for temperance labor in Pennsylvania. Within six months after the meeting of this Convention, the question of "License" or "No License," will have been passed upon at the polls. It is of the utmost importance that the advantage gained by this legislation shall not be lost through lack of proper organization. Just at this time is needed the earnest cooperation of every temperance man and woman, and this Convention should be characterized by such an attendance, and such a zealous effort to aid in the onward progress of the cause, as will render it a marked era in the history of the movement in this district.
