A meeting of the producers of the Elevator's District, is called for this afternoon, at the Grant & Wilson club room, to take action on the proceedings of the Petroleum Producers' Council, and to decide as to whether they will join the said Council. The proceedings will appear in full to-morrow.

The great excitement at Oil City at present is in regard to the well owned by Mrs. Sands, struck a day or two since, and which continues to yield oil largely, despite the efforts of the committee of the Seventh District to have it shut down. Mrs. Sands is a female woman and don't propose to be shut out if she knows it, consequently the male gender are in a quoddy. They held a meeting yesterday afternoon, passed resolutions, threatened all kinds of bad things, but in the face of all the well continues to produce oil. Shut her down, gentlemen, whether "the Widow" desires it or not.

Uncle John Hulbert, of the McClintock House, knows the component parts thereof, how to mix it to suit the taste, and just the quantity needed on a cold day. Thomas and Jeremiah.

The New York end of the Combination continues to send wild cat dispatches over the wires in the vain endeavor to break down the suspension movement and lead the producers to believe it will be a failure. You can't come it, gentlemen of the Combination. The producers will not allow themselves to be manipulated by a ring of sharp-shooters any longer. They are wide awake to the situation, and propose to make the thirty day movement a success, despite the efforts of the ring to the contrary.

A young lady of seventy summers recently tried to elope with a man of twenty in Albany. She was captured by a policeman and returned to her home.

A correspondent from Bully Hill sends us an account of a race in drilling between two contractors' gangs, which was by the completion of a well on Monday last by Parker Brothers, who won by finishing a well in twenty-four days and four hours. What we care to know is not how quickly these wells are drilled, but why are they drilled at this time. We understand that kind of business was to stop for the present.—Oil City Derrick.

If the correspondent of the Derrick was half as good at telling the truth as in seeking to mislead the public, and if the Derrick man had inquired into the matter, they would have discovered that the wells alluded to above were completed on the 30th day of September, and were shut down without even being tested. The Parker Brothers are heart and hand in the shutting down movement, and although they have a number of contracts on hand, do not propose to do any more drilling until the present question is settled.

The oil manufacturers have stopped working their wells very generally in Western Pennsylvania, to the special discomfort of their employees, who do not relish a suspension of pay.—[Age.]

The above from Tilton's Golden Age is a good fair sample of the understanding that papers outside of the immediate region have in regard to the recent shutting down movement. We would say to the Age that the employees do not complain and that the majority of them are not losing pay. We do things differently here.—Tidoute Journal.

We know of several cases in this vicinity where the well owners keep their workmen on full pay during the suspension. The Columbia Oil Company pay their workmen half wages. Cornen & Beers give their men half pay. The Central Company keep nearly all their men at work. We would advise the Age man to book himself up a little better before he undertakes to touch up the present movement again.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the Grant & Wilson Club at their rooms on this Tuesday evening, October 16th. A general attendance is requested as business of importance is to be transacted.

Meeting convenes at 7 o'clock sharp.

A Jersey paper tells a very interesting story of a little boy in that State. He was climbing an apple tree, and when upon the topmost limb he slipped and fell to the ground. He was picked up and carried to the house in an insensible condition. After watching by his bedside through many weary hours, his mother perceived signs of returning consciousness. Laying over him she asked if there was anything she could do for him, now that he began to feel better. Should she bathe his forehead, or change his pillow, or fan him? Was there anything he wanted? Opening his eyes languidly, and looking at her, the little sufferer said: "Yes, I want a pair of pants with a pocket behind."

It is asserted upon the authority of the contractor for removing the debris from the Lindell Hotel lot, in St. Louis, that the other day his workmen turned up twenty feet below the surface, a burning mass of fire which had been buried for over five years.

Here is an interesting and suggestive fact: An advertisement asking for a Protestant girl to do general house work in a small family, appeared two or three times last week, in two of the Boston papers having the largest circulation, but elicited not a single response.

THE UNION PETROLEUM CO.—[The wells of this company resumed pumping on the 5th inst., and were visited by a committee of the producers Association who requested their superintendent, Mr. Hinder, to again shut them down. He replied that he had instructions from the company in New York to continue pumping, and could not grant their request. Since then Mr. Hinder has been to the city and consulted with the company, but could not induce them to unite with the producers in the suspension movement, though he took with him a strong letter from the association of this district.—The company reply in language anything but respectful, and call some of the best members of the association very hard names. As we go to press (Friday afternoon) the producers are holding a meeting to determine what action they will take in the matter, but we trust they will not resort to violence. It seems to us that the company wishes them to do so, and believes that it can prosecute the offenders and obtain a large sum for damages, thereby making money where it would lose by complying with the producers' request. If the wells must be shut down by force we trust that it will be done in such a manner that the company will sustain no loss by it except that caused by non-production.—[Pennsylvania.]

A druggist up town, says the St. Louis Globe's New York letter, who is about forty three and a bachelor, met a young woman, very comely, graceful and clever, two years since, and was so charmed with her that he proposed marriage two weeks after his introduction. She accepted, and he was happy for six months, until he discovered by accident that she had been divorced from three husbands since the war, and had two others before, from whom she had separated without legal proceedings. He taxed her with the facts, and he did not deny them. She said he had never asked her about her antecedents, which was true. Instead of five and twenty, as she had supposed, she is ten years older, and, though winning in the extreme, appears to be a regular adventuress. When he told her he must leave her, she replied she was entirely willing, that there were hundreds of men who would be only too glad to marry her. He has gone, no one knows where; though, from what I have heard, she will not be long without another lord.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.

By the President of the United States of America, a Proclamation.

Whereas, The revolution of another year has again brought the time when it is usual to look back upon the past, and publicly thank the Almighty for his mercies and his blessings, and

Whereas, If any one people has more occasion than another for just thankfulness, it is the citizens of the United States, whose Government is their creature, subject to their behests; who have reserved to themselves ample civil and religious freedom and equality before the law; who, during the last twelve months have enjoyed exemptions from any grievances or general calamity; and to whom prosperity in Agriculture, manufactures and commerce has been vouchsafed.

Therefore, by these considerations, I recommend that on Thursday, the 28th day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship and there make their acknowledgments to God for his kindness and bounty.

In witness whereof I here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 11th day of October, in the year of our Lord 1872, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-seventh.

The Pennsylvania Petroleum Railroad.

This company is going ahead in dead earnest. The contract for the docks at Erie has been let to M. R. Barr, and work was commenced yesterday. The company owns twenty water lots on the Lake shore at Erie for the accommodation of their elevators. The contracts for the Bear Creek Railroad, on the Shenango and Allegheny river, were also let on Wednesday. This is a part of the Pennsylvania Petroleum Railroad Company's enterprise and extends from Greenville to Harrisville, a distance of thirty-two miles, leaving about twenty-five more miles to build to the road opening the vast coal and oil fields of Butler. Near at home, the Cambridge division of the Pennsylvania Petroleum Road, from Titusville to Cambridge, is nearly all graded, and several miles of track have already been laid out to Cambridge. The Pittsboro division, to Pleasantville, is nearly all graded and ready for the track. Work is progressing with rapidity between Titusville and Enterprise. The piers on Pine Creek are being constructed, and those over Oil Creek will soon be built.—[Herald.]
