CHEEK.

Decidedly the freshest and coolest offer made by the Refiner's Combination is the co-operative one. It is now being printed and talked up by the very men who led off on the "shutting down." Men whose pipe line and refining interests far exceed their producing interests at any time, and especially so when refiners can by merely shutting down a few wells of their own and a large number of their neighbor's, unload refined at 25 cents and crude at $4.25. It suits these pipe lines now their tanks have only paper oil, and these refiners, now that they have no crude, to have the producers start up right away, and sell them sixteen or seventeen thousand barrels daily at three dollars, with another dollar reserved to base co-operative dividends upon.—The first party to tank excess, the second party to secure railroad drawbacks, and when the spring export trade is opened, be ready to annul the contract under some pretext, coolly pocket the reserve dollar, and when their refined is safely unloaded, with the aid of the crude tanked in excess thro' the winter fill up again with two dollar oil. This they expect to accomplish through the agency of the Petroleum Producer's Council as it is at present constituted.

Falling in this, the LEADING OPERATORS threaten to join the Refiner's Combination on their own account, and compel the small fry who are of no consequence, only to furnish in the aggregate a good deal of cheap oil, to sell at the price, either the oil they pump or the wells they have been compelled to shut down on account of low prices.

Our true policy is, now that we are shut down to keep so, all of us, everywhere, till November 1st. Let these pipe lines, who have gone outside of their legitimate business of common carriers, to speculate and overring, and buy their paper oil on which they charge strange of course—oil that they long since got the money for and oil that if we hold out they must pay for—and by means of which they have been able to ruin firms in business here of good standing. Let them, we say, be compelled for once to pay their honest debts or go under.

Let us, in every district, get ready to refine our oil, based on individual enterprise alone. Wealthy men like McCray, Woods, Adams, Payne, and others in this district, can not only refine their own product, but find ample compensation in refining their poorer neighbor's oil. So it will be everywhere.

We do not need yet that the Refiner's Combination or Petroleum Producer's Council shall assume the management of our private affairs.

The producers meeting, yesterday, reported elsewhere in full, was very harmonious in its session. The old Eleventh District is at the front of the battle and proposes to fight it out.

Liquor and Murder.

The feeling in Chicago in regard to the frequency of barbarous murders in that city seems to intensify among the orderly classes, and this feeling is to take shape on Monday evening next in a second mass meeting to consider the cause of the present demoralization. The call for the meeting has been signed by many of the best citizens of Chicago, and it is intimated that they will seek to enforce a more stringent enforcement of the present laws regulating the sale of liquor. The evidence in most of the recent murder cases in that city shows that drunkenness was at the bottom of the murders committed; and hence, probably, the determination of the respectable classes among the Chicago people to check, by legal means, the spread of the influence of intoxicating drinks.

A Maine gentleman named Brick, having an unfortunate proclivity to get himself in his hat, has publicly notified all liquor dealers that he will prosecute to the full extent of the law any one who sells to him any intoxicating beverage.

Meeting of the Producers of the Eleventh District.

The Producers of the Eleventh District, pursuant to a call of the President met at the Grant & Wilson club rooms, Petroleum Centre, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, Capt Kaffer in the chair, and J. A. Vera elected Secretary. Mr. Kleckner reported action of the Producers Council at Oil City and read the circular from the Petroleum Producers' Council, as follows:

OIL CITY, Oct. 10, 1872.

Dear Sir—The Council of the Petroleum Producers' Association, now in session, feeling the importance and necessity of uniting the entire body of producers into a full and perfect organization for our present and future success and mutual protection, hereby earnestly call your immediate attention to the following suggestions, and trust they may be promptly acted upon:

1. Perfect your organization by appointment of suitable committees to see that every producer in your district be enrolled as a member at once.
2. In order that the Association be not crippled for want of funds see that the membership fee be promptly paid.
3. Secure suitable rooms for the transaction of your business and hold frequent meetings.
4. Divide your districts into sub-districts so that every producer may be reached, and secure full statistics as to the number of wells (if any) that may be pumping or drilling.
5. Forward as soon as possible to Fred. Winsow, Recording Secretary, full lists of members, giving number of wells controlled by them; also names of such producers as decline to join your association, and such other information as you may deem of interest.

WM HANSON,
Chairman of Council.

On motion of Mr. Payne the chair appointed a committee representing different localities in this district to canvass and procure signatures of Producers to form a permanent organization, and also to report names of such producers as decline to join the association.

Messrs. N. H. Payne, Kleckner, Epy, Adams and Reynolds constitute this committee.

The resolution passed by the Council and known as the Kerns resolution was read, discussed and unanimously adopted, as the sentiment of the Producers of this district. This resolution is as follows:

We unite in believing the price of crude oil must be fixed by the producers; that the question of price is governed by the supply, and that the true policy is to be pursued in regulating the production, that which will work the greatest benefit to the greatest number is, under the direction of the Council, to suspend now or hereafter, as necessity may require, all drilling operations for such period as in their judgement may be requisite to regulate the supply and demand,—days notice to be given of the suspension, and—days notice of the resumption of drilling operations, and the Council hereby recommended to the producers of each district prompt action in considering the suggestion, to the end that they shall pledge their support to the Council in carrying out this plan or reject it, and would suggest that each district convene on Monday next at 3 p. m. for that purpose.

On motion of Mr. Win. Thompson the resolution of Mr. Patterson, of the 13th district, was unanimously adopted by this district as an expression of views on the "Sunday question": viz:

Resolved, That in compliance with the recommendation of the General Council, we agree that a list should be made by each of us as to the results of a suspension of pumping operations on the Sabbath day, and that when the experiment proves not essentially injurious, that such well owners will thereafter shut down throughout each Sunday, and that the results of each experiment shall be reported to the Association. In cases of reported injury, the Association may appoint a committee to investigate the facts.

On motion J. A. Vera was authorized to act in Mr. Walker's absence as a delegate from this district to the Producers' Council at Oil City.

On motion the chair appointed Messrs. Payne and Adams a committee to procure a room for future meetings.

On motion adjourned to meet at same place next Thursday (17th) at 4 o'clock p. m., at which time committees on signers for permanent organization will report.

E. J. KEFFER, Pres't.
J. A. VERA, Sec.

The number of launches in August on the Clyde were considerably below that of August, 1871, and 1870, and even 1869, and it is admitted by Glasgow journals that without a substantial reaction in the coal and iron markets, there will be a great decline in iron and shipbuilding.
