McCray Hill, Wm. McCray farm, Daisey farm, Maple Shade Oil Co., and Watson, Potts & Keffler wells, started up this morning.

At the sound of the whistle, at 10 o'clock, every walking beam on McCray Hill commenced moving at the same time.

The wells have not been injured, and in many cases show improved production.

Cherrytree wells started up this morning. Production not injured.

This solves the shutting down problem as far as this section is concerned, and proves that the wells can be shut down for a long period without injury.

How are you Refiner's Combination, and how do you do?

Morris Herron, formerly with S. Sobel's clothing house, has branched out and opened a clothing store of his own, on Washington street, three doors above Christie's drug store. He has laid in a large and select stock of fall and winter goods, comprising everything in the line of men and boys clothing and furnishing goods. "Which the same" he proposes to sell cheaper than any house on Oil Creek can afford to do. Read his advertisement and pay him a call.

What is going to happen? The Titusville papers of this morning are silent on the Abbott Harley pipe line question. Those great and good men, Messrs. Abbott and Harley, the fathers of the pipe lines, how the people do sympathize with them.

The bankers of the oil region hold a convention at Oil City, this afternoon and evening, to consider the financial plan presented by the Council of the Petroleum Producers' Association and such other subjects as may be presented.

Rev. D. Patton preached at the Presbyterian Church, yesterday.

Friday is Halloween.

Strange things happen in ten years.—Fortunes are made and lost, while one goes up, he who was up finds the level. We are led to these remarks by the following reminiscences: Ten years ago we knew a man who was a poor utility actor, doing his little biz for only nine dollars a week in one of the eastern theatres. He worked hard, but couldn't get ahead, and he became a good deal discouraged about things, and couldn't eat much, and his friends got worried about him. One day, while reading the Tribune, this poor young man saw one of Horace Greeley's articles advising young people to "go west, where fortunes awaited them." The poor player rolled this bit of advice over his mind, like it was a delicious morsel, and he pawned all his clothes and stage jewelry and scraped together barely enough to take him to the rich lands of the west as a sort of steerage passenger. That was ten years ago, you will remember, during which time we had lost track of that young man, and imagined that he had committed suicide, or died one of those unnatural deaths which are so common out there. Judge of our surprise when, on last Saturday, the bronzed features of our long absent friend greeted us in our sanctum, and the hard hand of the returned one clasped ours in true Western fashion; the poor player sat down and recounted to us the perils and dangers he had passed through in his wild western life, and in a voice tremulous with emotion, he concluded his touching narrative by asking if we could lend him a quarter! We were never so taken down in our life before, and, like our returned friend, we don't have the same faith in the teeming lands of the West we once had.

DIED.—At the residence of N. H. Payne, Sunday, Oct. 27th, Miss ELIZABETH McCABE, aged 27 years.

The circumstances connected with the death of this young lady are more than ordinarily sad. But little over two weeks ago, a brother—James McCabe—died of that fell disease, typhoid fever. With that devotion which only a sister can show, she took care of her brother during his illness, only to contract the fever herself. Every thing that could be done to arrest the disease, but it was fruitless. Kind hands, however, smoothed the path of the sufferer to the brink of the mystic river, and closed her eyes lovingly when life's fitful battle was over. A large circle of friends sympathize with the doubly bereaved relatives in their affliction.

The remains were taken to East Arcadia, N. Y., for burial.

NOTICE.

A special meeting of the Producers Association will be held at the Grant & Wilson Club room to-morrow, (Tuesday,) at 3 p. m. to appoint a Trustee to receive first instalment of subscriptions to Capital Stock of the "Petroleum Producers Agency." Messrs. N. H. Payne, Walker, Espy and John Reynolds are authorized to obtain subscriptions. By order of the PRESIDENT.

Tomorrow evening there is to be a grand Republican rally, at Sobel's Opera House. The meeting will be addressed by S. H. Miller, of Mercer county, and J. H. Osmer, of Franklin. Should the weather prove favorable there will be a torchlight procession and salute of 37 guns. All are invited.

Our clerical friend, Rev. D. Patton, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Society of this place, but now located at Pine Grove, Butler county, paid us a call this forenoon. He is looking well and his many friends in this section will be glad to learn his health is much improved, and he bids fair to yet do good service in the Master's vineyard.

Eliza Pert got on the rampage again Saturday night, and when in front of the Grant & Wilson club rooms, while the oil meeting was in session, delivered a speech on Ireland, declaring that Ireland should be free from the centre to the sea, or she would know the reason why. At the conclusion of the oration, Eliza declared her intention of going to bed on the sidewalk, and commenced undressing for that purpose. The oil meeting adjourned about this time, and she devoted herself to abusing the crowd roundly for not aiding in securing the freedom of Ireland.

The police ought to have been around and arrested her, as the affair was a very scandalous one.

See advertisement of the Wallace Sisters; They appear at Sobel's Opera House, Oct. 31st and Nov. 1st.

District No. 7 started to-day. The famous Sands well never ceased flowing, it flows by heads twice in twenty-four hours, about 100 barrels.

The Green well, 60 rods further south, on adjoining farm is completed. It is a wet hole and it is thought when the water is exhausted it will prove a good well. $12,000 was offered for the half interest and refused.

Meeting of the Producers Association of the Eleventh District.

The Producers' Association met Saturday evening, Oct. 26th, pursuant to adjournment.

Minutes of preceding meeting read and approved.

Chairman of committee on constitution reported a draft thereof for action.

On motion report accepted, and vote being taken upon the Constitution, Article by Article. Each Article—after alterations as suggested or adopted—was on motion approved, after which the Constitution as a whole was adopted. On motion, the Secretary is authorized to publish the Constitution in the PETROLEUM CENTRE DAILY RECORD, and to have 100 copies struck in folio form, after the regular election of officers (Nov. 2nd.)

Circular letters handed in from Sec. of Producers Council, in reference to procuring subscriptions in cash and in oil, at five dollars, to the Capital Stock of the PETROLEUM PRODUCERS AGENCY, and asking that a meeting be appointed for next Tuesday afternoon to that end; also that statements be procured of amount of oil in hands of pipe companies. On motion received, and requests be complied with. On motion a committee of five consisting of N. H. Payne, L. P. Walker, Jas. Adams, Geo. P. Espy and Jno. Reynolds were authorized and furnished with proper blanks to solicit subscriptions to above stock. On motion adjourned to meet Tuesday Oct. 29, at 3 P. M.

LOADED DICK.—It would seem as if the producers were throwing loaded dice. Corruption has been found again in high places, this time where it was least suspected. To put it mildly, a discrepancy has been discovered in the management of some of our pipe lines. It appears that they have been running "short," and the result of course is that oil supposed to be in the company's tanks is sold to a dealer, and when he looks for his purchase it is not there.—Then the question arises, "where is it?"—The pipe line company has simply been speculating in other men's oil, and sold it, expecting to replace it before it is called for. The stopping of production has prevented them from doing this in all cases, and the discrepancy—some would call it fraud—has been made apparent. This presents another front to the many sided combination against the producers, and will bear looking after.

A few weeks ago a Swede died of a fever at Pittsfield. This happened, we believe, on Wednesday. After keeping the body a day or two in the house the odor became too strong for even a Swede, so it was thought best to remove it to a vacant house a few rods away. Either to test the feasibility of Christ's command to "Let the dead bury the dead," or from pecuniary motives the corpse was allowed to lay there until Sunday, when the men being free from work, it was taken some eight miles to a Cemetery and given a hasty burial.—[Corry News Era.]

Germany claims that she will soon be independent of America as regards petroleum. The crude material has been recently discovered in Galicia in great abundance, and extensive preparations are making to fit it for market. In one single village twenty refineries are in operation. As yet all the production has been from surface boring, but when the wells are sunk to the depths of those in this country the production, it is estimated, will be sufficient for the supply of a large part of Europe.

It is said that there is only one real Chinese woman in the United States, and she is the wife of a San Francisco merchant. The olive-eyed females so common among the Mongolians of the Pacific slope are all of Tartar extraction.

A Cincinnati colonization firm has purchased a large tract of land in Northern Louisiana at three dollars an acre, and between one hundred and fifty and two hundred persons will shortly leave Cincinnati to work the land.

The postal railway service has been increased during the last year 10,000 miles.

The Chicago postoffice now ranks second upon the books of the department at Washington in regard to business transacted.—By this is meant the business which shows a revenue—but it is stated that more work is done at the Chicago office at times than at any other postoffice on this continent.

The south side of the Arkansas river is reported to be lined for one hundred and fifty miles with vast herds of elk, buffalo, wild horses and deer.

Train going north yesterday did not arrive until 11 o'clock, owing to a land slide on the Valley Road.

PETERSBURG ITEMS.—There's every indication of a reduced yield of oil during the coming month. Although many new wells will be struck, we do not believe that they will materially increase the production.

Turkey City, or Gimlet Town, will be the centre for operations during next spring.—There are few wells starting at present, and it is probable that most of them will shut down for the winter.

The wells that were started up yesterday are, as yet producing but little oil. It will require some time to test them, but it is probable that they will not be as productive as heretofore.

On Thursday morning, the Mutual pipe line drew off the last tank of oil with which it is connected, thus cleaning out the entire district, draining it completely. The operators have now a chance to make a new start and need not fear being "full" for some time, unless indeed oil should reach $6, when we would expect to find a number of them in that condition.

The I. O. O. F. have organized a lodge in St. Petersburg, and will commence the erection of a building at once.

There is a strong effort being made to organize a refining company, the location of whose works is to be at, or near Fullerton Station. The west end of St. Petersburg would be preferable.

The Molly well, on the Robinson farm, in the Parker district, owned by W. D. Robinson, has been pumping during the whole of the thirty day's suspension, when not a walking beam in sight was moving. Remember this producers.

A. S. Palmer is putting up two iron tanks at Foxburg, for storage of surplus oil.

The projectors of the American Volunteer published by D. Lowry & Co., Pittsburgh, have demonstrated their ability to furnish a first-class literary paper. It is the equal, and in many respects the superior, of any of the illustrated story papers published. Its contents are of a high order of literary merit free from partisan or sectarian bias. The Volunteer numbers among its large list of contributors, Edna Dean Morris, T. S. Archer, Amelia Howard, W. A. Taylor, Jule Archer, Bartley T. Campbell, Mrs. Flora A. Haley, Capt. Charles Ford, Mrs. Houghton, Lieut. H. L. Worth, and a host of other names well known to the reading world.—The Volunteer is furnished at $3.00 per annum. Send for specimen copy. We are authorized to receive and forward subscriptions.

"Photoglyptic is the name of a discovery by a Mr. Woodbury, a chemist of London, which, it is supposed, will take the place of photography. The process is the same, except that gelatine is used upon the plate which takes the picture.

The Chicago shoemakers are on a strike. Not only do they kick against low pay, but they propose to strike for better pay. They say that their employers have no soles, that they are awl united for their rights, and will welt anybody who tries to make them go out in their resolutions.

The Oregon Legislature has indefinitely postponed a proposition to establish female suffrage in that State.

Cotton is king again. At least the market reports indicate that it "commands" a great deal of money all over the country.

Responses to the appeal for aid for the emigrants from Alsace and Lorraine are said to be coming in from all quarters.—The French Relief Society has information that the migration from these provinces to America will exceed fifty thousand persons.

The young ladies' question—is he married.

Oil Creek was booming yesterday.

A disgraceful fight occurred at the upper end of town, Saturday night. We have the names. Next time they will be published.

A Franklin Centre correspondent of the Girard Cosmopolite has the following: One of our merchants, aged 60 or 70 years, was married recently to a young and blushing bride of 18. The young bloods of the place chastised them in due and ancient style last Monday night.
