The Jackson Democrat is the name of a new paper published at Clarion, Pa., by Messrs Porter and West, formerly of the Independent Democrat, Tionesta, Pa. The paper looks well and starts in apparently with a fair share of advertising and other patronage. It also is filled with original and selected reading matter. We wish our friends Porter and West success in their new enterprise.

The Oil City Telegraph has made the citizens of that place a fearful lecture on getting drunk on Christmas. According to the article in question the entire male population of Oil City was inebriated on that day. It does not speak well for the morals of the Oil Cityians to have their faults published broadcast after that fashion.

It now transpires that the early train which it will be remembered was two hours late in passing this station, made connection at Corry with the early train on the Cross Cut Road, consequently those who left here on that train escaped the dreadful accident at Prospect Station. This will be good news to the friends of several who until now were supposed to have been on the ill fated train.

Stanley, since his failure as a lecturer, will apprentice Kalula where he can learn

The following are the resolutions adopted by the Petroleum Producers' Council with reference to reducing the production: Resolved, That from the 25th of December to the 1st of July next, gas drilling be done throughout the entire oil regions, except in the case of wells actually drilling at the date first named, and that local associations be notified to this effect.

Resolved, That we recommend that the use of torpedoes, benzine, and all other artificial means for increasing the production of pumping wells be discontinued during the same period as far as practicable.

Resolved, That we recommend that work on wells now actually drilling be suspended for twelve hours each day.

Resolved, That the Council refer to the several district associations the recommendation that the pumping of all wells whose production exceeds ten barrels per day be suspended twelve hours in each twenty-four until otherwise directed by the Council.

A California artist has upon his easel a picture that will commemorate a California Sunday of 1849 in the mines. The design shows one miner writing a letter home, another washing his clothes, another reading to two listeners, three are enjoying a horse race, one of them, drunk, is swinging his husskin purse to encourage the racers, and from the mouth of the purse the gold dust is flying, while two of his friends are trying to hold him, and in the middle of the picture is the great feature, to wit: a cabin filled with miners ending about at cards by having a promiscuous fight.

Whilst we are freezing with cold and buried in snow, California is rejoicing in plenteous rains that promise a bountiful harvest. But then our snows may do as much for us as the rains for California.

By a lucky incident only were the entire corps of officers of the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburgh Railroad saved from the disaster which befel the passengers of the ill-fated train at Bructon on Tuesday afternoon.— They were all on the train as far as Mayville where they stopped to decide a question concerning the settling time of the road, upon which there was a difference of opinion. Had it not been for this incident, the road would probably have been without an officer to manage it.—[Corry Republican.

The present cold weather extends over a greater extent of country than has been known for years. We hear of a large number of people being frozen to death in different sections of the country. Numerous other casualties are reported such as railroad accidents, &c.

On and after Monday, December 20th, two daily trains, except Sunday, will be run between Buffalo and Titusville via Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, Dunkirk, Warren & Pittsburgh, and Warren & Venango Railway.

Test wells are being put down in every township in Butler, and the surrounding townships will no doubt soon follow the example. The plodding citizens of Butler put down these wells upon the co-operative system. Every person in a township has stock in these wells. A driller lately sued a gentleman, who had engaged him to put down a well, for his pay. When the trial came off at Butler it was ascertained that about five hundred stockholders were participants in the suit and interested in the well, and had all been sued and were present. In case of a good well the interests would be small; for 'dry holes' this plan would be as good one.—[Parker Transcript.

At Foxburg, we understand, the oil is being pooled at present.

We notice our old friend, Mr. J. M. Dick-a demoralizing effect on new comers. So far it has not affected him apparently.

A Highway Marriage.

Today, Thursday, while the cars on the D. W. & P. Ry were at Frewsburg an Irish elderly lady came on board and demanded her daughter who was in company with a respectable and well dressed man. Her plea was that her daughter, who was only "sweet sixteen" had left her bed and board and "gone and done it,"—got married without her consent. The young girl whose name was Hennessy, left her home a month ago in company with a young man named McMahon, aged 39, to visit her sister in Dunkirk and while away from home wishing to keep the holidays went and got married in Westfield by the priest there. The mother was informed of the affair the same day, and feeling rather slighted in not being invited, and her son asked for, went off to her priest to inquire if the marriage was legal.
The priest informed her it was not, and consequently the parent "went for" the girl while on her tour to her happy hunting grounds near Garland. The scene was a rich one indeed. The couple swearing they were married, and the mother swearing they were not for her priest told her so. The mother endeavoring to take her "child" home and the "child" clinging to her "old and master." She had no idea of their being parted so soon: "no not for Sarah, if she knows it." The cars were well on their way before the first lesson was over bearing bride, groom and mother. The mother determined to stick "closer than a brother," to her daughter until she was satisfied that the priest in Westfield had married them.— At last accounts the new made son and the mother were using the wings of lightning to either confirm or deny the marriage. Thus ends the second lesson. Girls beware of these naughty, naughty men; and never O! no never leave your mamma!—[Fiduciate

The eloquence which is inspired by the exhilarating atmosphere of the Rocky Mountains has merits of its own. The following specimen was the speech of a member of the Oregon Legislature, lately delivered on the subject of appointing a State geologist:
"Mr. Speaker, Fortunately or unfortunately it has been my province to live in a mining country during the biggest part of my life, but eventful existence. Fifteen years ago I considered myself a geologist. From my earliest infancy I have been possessed of an overmastering impulse to explore the bowels of the earth. But, sir, Mr. Speaker, the bowels of the earth are hard to get at, and a man who would study the subterranean anatomy of the universe must pull off his boots and socks like the prophet of old, saying reverently: 'This is holy ground; there's bulion in these diggins!' [Prolonged applause.] Sir, for fifteen years I have consecrated myself to the investigation of the minerals that underlie the Pacific coast. I have traversed the coast with the most learned geologist of this and the old world, and we have come to the conclusion—reluctantly and unanimously—that this 'ere kentry has rocks in it you can't find 'em in the text books."

Petroleum Producers' Association.
Members of the Petroleum Producers' Association are hereby notified that the Executive Committee, appointed this day by the Council of the Association, is ready to receive, through the local agents appointed by the several District Associations applications for the sale of oil, under the contract with the Petroleum Refiners' Association, approved the 23d inst.

Local agents will please send to Fred Winslow, Secretary, Oil City, Pa., a statement of the oil placed in their hands to be sold by the committee. Local agents will report no oil for sale unless the same is at the time in their respective districts and owned by the party offering the same for sale. All parties enjoying the benefits of the arrangement shall bind themselves to sell their oil exclusively through the Association.

The committee will make an equitable allotment of the amount sold daily.

Further Particulars of the Disaster.

MAYVILLE, N. Y., Dec. 27.
The snow blockade which threatened last night to cut off for some days connections with the outside world, was temporarily raised this morning. A train which left Corry at eleven a. m., yesterday reached here at seven o'clock.

It brought a number of people looking for missing friends and relatives, and their inspection of the four remaining bodies, or remnants of bodies, resulted in the identification of two, viz: Jane Gardner, mulatto, of Port Robinson, Ontario, but recently living at Titusville, and Mrs. Green.— Jane Gardner is the one who had the most clothing on, and was one of the most easily identified.

Mrs. Charlotte Green, of Spring Creek Pa., was identified by a Mr. Butterfield, from the same place. There was nothing left of her but her trunk and a small piece of her head.

She was recognized by a breastpin, which closely adhered to the frozen flesh, and also by a little piece of clothing between the shoulder blades.
There are now two trunks remaining, one undoubtedly, Mr. Orville Swift, of Corry.— There is a difference of opinion as to the sex of the other, but as no woman is claimed it is thought it may be Frank Green. Dr.
Chase is strongly of the opinion, however, that it is a woman, for the reason that there is plainly to be seen the mark of a chemise band around the breast and back, below which the body was baked while above it was little burned. There are also little bits of melted steel, it is supposed from a sawset, found buried in the flesh. If this should be claimed as a woman Mrs. Green was entirely consumed.

The injured are doing very well, with the exception of Ticknor, Cook and Flanders.
The two former remain about the same.

Flanders is worse and will be obliged to have one of his feet amputated before morning. He may possibly survive the operation, but probably will not recover.

Six bodies were taken away to-day, viz:
Those of Joseph Curtin, Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Charles Metz, Kitty Riley and John Cardot.

Five bodies still remain—those of McCarlin, Rankin, Mrs. Green and two unrecognized.

The little boy has been identified as belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Green. His grandfather came here today and claims, and will take care of him if allowed to. A great deal of interest is manifested in the boy and several people want to adopt him.

There are no further application for missing friends, and this hoped the list of the dead is now completed.

Coroner Minien took Conductor Flanders's autopsy statement, and will not make it public until after the inquest commences.
He swears that the train was running not over six miles an hour, as the rules require when on trestle bridges, and was under perfect control; and he did not know that the tender truck was off the track until they were on the trestle, and finally that he thinks no one was to blame for the accident.

Butter and cheese are almost indispensiare nutritious and healthy; but an inordi-these troubles.
