A Wicked Youngster.

St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Cedar Falis Iows, has been without a minister for some time. Last Friday week it was announced by the young man, D. W. Burlingame, in charge of the church as sexton, that on Sun day services would be resumed. .The Cedur Falls G-zette tells what sappened on Sunday and how the people feel about it, as Accordingly the congregation assembled for worship, and at the time for worship who should appear from the vestry but the boy Burtingame in his white robe, who immediately began to officiate. Rerely devines so electrified an audience as on the occasion. To a part of those present, who were strangers, he was supposed to be a young collegeate who had been authorized to gend services, but to those who knew the young stripling, if the angel Gabriel with his trumpet had suddenly appeared they could not have been more surprised and dum founded. A part immediately left the church, and it is said that one of the vestry men, as he passed tout, was so chagrined that a "righteous indignation" laduced him to swear, if not right out in meeting, just outside the door, at the boy's presumptive desecration.

A choir of young misses, who had been training a week or more, furnished the music for the occasion. The young devine went through the usual exercises of prayer with little imbarrassment, and, turning to the Bible, gave out for his text from the passages, "Let your light softbine," etc .-Dwelling but a moment or two upon the text, he launched forth into an exportation on the necessity or employing a paster, and the shame that it was to the church that it should remain unoccupied After continu/ ing in this strain for a short time, he cosed tre services with the usual benediction, "Glory to the Father."

It has been toe theme of much comment as to way a boy could have the auracity to thus desecrate the pu put; but the answer was given by him to his comrides the next morning that "It was too d-bad that such a nice little church should be without a paster" We cannot without our pencil, do justice to the occasion, and, therefore with turns facts, as they occurred, ank our readers to draw upon their imagination for a scene that has never been heard of for desecrative impudence and ludicrons "onerk" in the Datk or Middle Ages, of ever before to tals ever-wonderful and progreenive present.

The officers and members are justly indige nant at this digrace o he chirch and hepnever again to bear the comiliation which the boy's action and brought upon them

Matrimonial felicity seems to be improving in California if we may judge from die vurce statisties. In the year 1856 the number of divorces greated in San Francisco were more toen two per cent, of the whole number of lamilies-being one hundred and ten in a population of one thousand family lies. The pest year the number of diverces in that city have been two bundred and thirty-one in a population nearly four times that of 1856, thus the divo ces were only a titte more then double. Of the divorces granted the inst year three fourths we e b.uught by wives. There, as here, there are "favorite" divorce judges; one jadge in San Francisco granting as many divorces as all the other judges combined. The facility with which divorces are greated depends, here as elsewhere, upon the pecul or views the judge may have upon the sacredness or the secularness of the merriage contract.
