Citizen Tom Malloy called on us to-day, with a marriage notice, insisting that he had been married the evening before to Miss Julia Rice. Fearing that Tom was joking, we refused to publish his notice "first class, as of course," when he left making all kinds maledictions and threats. He says Julia is from Buffalo and he from Tonawanda, and by this marriage they are united. No cards.

Flourishing—Tom Snowdon is now dispensing all kinds of the best of liquors and cigars at the old stand formerly occupied by Owen Gaffney. Tom is mixing a new drink called the "Washington City Cocktail," the body of which is "sweetened rice." Its awful good. Try it. Tom has renovated the old place and fixed it up with a set of "yellow furniture," and it looks as if everything was in the "rear and the yellow of the leaf." "It is very affecting."

There came near being a disastrous fire last evening, at the candy stand of Hopkins Bros., on Washington street. It appears they had turned down the lights, looked up the store and went home, leaving it unattended. In the meantime one of the lamps became heated and exploded, and but for its timely discovery by a passer by another disastrous conflagration would undoubtedly have resulted. We are of the opinion that considerable carelessness was displayed by the boys in thus leaving their place of business unattended. Too much care cannot be exercised in this matter.

The editor of an Ohio paper is both under-taker and journalist. He says: "We buried fifty-nine persons last year."

The United States is the only great nation which has paid off any considerable portion of its debt within the last five years.

The following letter from a bereaved widow to a lady friend is said to have been recently picked up in Brooklyn: "Darling John died last night. Congestion of the lungs. Our loss is a gain. I will meet him on the other shore. I have ordered the loveliest mohair for the funeral, made with poison, and trimmed with real point lace.
Loss covered by insurance on the ten; yes, plan; will be paid in sixty days. I know you sorrow with me. We had four doctors at two dollars a visit. Aunt Maria will not go into mourning, because she has bought her fall and winter things. Her tonnet is raw.
There is a balm in Gilead but my heart is nearly broken. Send me a cut paper pattern of that sacque of yours."

An Affecting Scene.

Edgar—Adieu, my life, my love!
Pauline—Say't thou adieu?
My mind misgives me, Edgar; a strange fear sits like a heavy dumping here, my life! And whither goest thou in this strange haste?

Edgar—Nay, ask me not. You rack my soul with sorrow.

Pauline—Speak, Edgar, I must know.

Edgar—Well, if I must, Pauline, to Foxburg.

Pauline—To Foxburg? Horror! no! no!

Edgar—Yes; by the Allegheny Valley railroad.

Pauline—Nay, then, farewell forever—all is o'er.—[Pittsburgh Leader.

The fruit prospect of the year is not promising of great results. It is probably—yes, almost certain—that the frost down below zero ever so far, killed the germ in the fruit buds, so far at least, as peaches are concerned, and the cherries, pears, apples, and even the bush and vine fruits, have not come off uninjured. For particulars the reader will see "Addi's column, where the whole story is told as to fruit conditions hereabout. We learn from our Michigan exchanges that the peach crop in that State has suffered, and as the intense cold has been regardless of sections, we imagine destruction of peaches will be the summer development all over the North-But we have this consolation, that the fruit trees will, meanwhile, be making a good ready for the hereafter, and while consumers may smack their lips in vain for the rare ripen, and fruit growers may grumble over depleted purses, it is certain the Lord of Creation knows what is horticulturally best in the long run.

A writer in Appleton's Journal thinks hissing at theatres allowable, provided the audible mark of disapprobation be directed towards those who really deserve it. He says: "At the theatre let people indignantly hiss the musicians who come stumbling noisily into their places in the midst of the important scene at the close of each act.
Let them hiss late comers, who heedlessly bustle into their seats, to the disturbance of the whole assemblage; hiss the men and women who rush from their places before the play is over; hiss relentlessly hiss the sbattering and noisy groups so often assembled in the private boxes."

They are having a "high old time" investigating a schoolmaster case in one of the public schools in San Francisco. It is charged by subordinate teachers that a Mr.
True is not a fit principal of the Grammar school. Among the witnesses was a female teacher who testified that Mr. True was in the habit of coming into the school room without knocking, that he carved his lunch with a big dirty jack knife, and that she had seen him eat jelly with his fingers. It did not appear in evidence whether after eating his jelly he licked his fingers or whipped them on a napkin or handkerchief; until that fact is established it is evident that the case cannot be properly decided.

probabilities are that this district will vote in favor of Hoense.

The license question appears to excite more interest than any other issue. The

NOTES OF THE DAY.

Maine has produced 472 barrels.
Montreal had only one murder last year.
Four New York houses are sending straw bats to Japan.
Iowa will burn 6,000,000 bushels of corn this winter.
Chicago paper speaks of suicide as a fool kills.

England exported over $10,406,000 worth of ale and beer last year.
A convict in the Michigan State Prison has written a novel.

Fifteen New York actresses have recently joined the church.

A Toland (Conn.) woman was born, and married and died in the same room.

English farmers import damaged or otherwise aged American cheese to fatten hogs.

Clay Centre, Kansas, is to be rechristened Rawlins, after the late Secretary of War.

The city of Hiogo, Japan, has 2,000,000 inhabitants, and only ranks number two at that.

The Boston Advertiser says it gives its readers six miles of continuous reading a year.

The New York Central Road pays a man $3,000 a year to keep the car door locks in order.

A St. Louis girl lately poured hot water instead of coals of fire on the head of her truducer.

The amount of money on deposit in the ten savings banks of San Francisco is reported at $42,474,935.

A Cincinnati burglar recently broke into a hair store and stole $3,000 worth of long and lovely hair.

Bonnets are tending again to the old cylindrical form, and a revival of the coal scuttle shape is imminent.

Four Pugilists have sued a Jersey City paper for libel. Even Jersey City fighters have a reputation to sustain.

Two engineers on the Galloway farm got into a dispute, last Monday, as to which knew the most about running an engine, from words they came to blows, and we are informed by an eye witness, that when they were separated the face of each was checkered up like a Dutch cupboard, and the dispute still undecided.

On last Monday afternoon a boiler at one of Asper's wells, on the Galloway farm exploded with terrific force, blowing the front out of the engine house. Fortunately the men employed upon the well discovered that the boiler was going to "make an accession," and retreated to a safe distance.
The boiler was a worthless one and the engineer has been expecting it to "explode for some time.

The Antwerp Pipe Company, at Fullerton, Clarion County, of which Capt. H. M.
Hughes of this city, is the efficient Superintendent, is one of the best managed institutions of the kind in the oil region. The pipelines of this company extend from Fullerton to all points in the St. Petersburg district, and in a few days they will have ninety thousand barrels of iron tankage completed at Fullerton station.—[Venango Citizen.

OIL NEWS.—The Howard well on the Weller farm, still produces 25 barrels per day.

The Emulsion Pipe Line Co., are building a pump house on Turkey run, below the bridge.

Messrs. Dickey & Patterson have bit the "belt." They struck a 20 barrel well last week on the Weller farm, just outside of Turkey Run City.

The Van Vleck well on the Weller farm, will be down by the middle of next week, and the enterprising owners Messrs. M'Con-nell & Van Vleck will reap a reward of their patients and perseverance. The well should have been down two months ago, but "circumstances" prevailed.

Book and Gaily have just completed a new well, and started to tube yesterday.
This well is down about 200 yards from the last one they put down, which proved to be a "dry hole," and about a hundred yards from the Heeter well, one of the best in that neighborhood. They were no fadica-tions that it would be a "big strike," but it will probably be fully tested before our next issue.—[Petersburg Progress.

It's wonderful how many patriots are willing to serve their beloved country in Cornplanter township, even though it be but a path master. There is a charm attached to office holding in this township none but the initiated can explain. In the meantime taxes are on the increase.

The revival meetings in the Methodist Church continue to be held nightly. Quite a number profess to have experienced a change of heart and a determination to become better men and women. May they have courage to hold out faithful.

MOLLY DARLING.

Won't you tell me, Molly darling, That you love none else but me,
For I love you Molly darling,
You are all the world to me.
O, tell me darling that you love me, Put your little hand in mine, Take my heart, sweet Molly darling, Say that you will give

CHORUS.

Molly, fairest, sweetest, dearest, Look up darling tell me true,
Do you love me, Molly darling, Let your answer be a kiss.

Stars are smiling, Molly darling, Thro the mystic veil of night;
They seem laughing, Molly darling; While fair Luna hides her light.
O! no one listened but the flowers, While they hang their heads in shame,
They are modest, Molly darling, When they hear me call your name.

CHORUS.

Molly, fairest, sweetest, &c.

I must leave you, Molly darling, Tho' the parting gives me pain,
When the stars shine, Molly darling, I will meet you here again—O, good night, Molly, good bye loved one, Happy may you ever be—
When you're dreaming, Molly darling, Don't forget to dream of me.

CHORUS.

Molly, fairest, sweetest, &c.

The Dayton Journal feels relieved when twenty-four hours pass without a new railroad project being broached in that city.

Passing through the lubricating oil field near this city last week we were surprised at the number of new wells going down and new rigs going up, in the face of the fact that oil is worth only $1.80 The operators appear to think they can stand it at this price, and most of them speak encouragingly of the prospect of an early rise in the price of oil. The fact that wells can be put down here at one third the cost in the lower oil field, and the certainty of obtaining paying wells, is undoubtedly stimulating production to a great extent. The desire to get oil out of the ground is so great that a large number of wells which have heretofore been shut down on Sunday now continue pumping.—[Venango Citizen.

Washington was born Feb. 22, 1732, in Butter and cheese are almost indispensare nutritious and healthy; but an inordi-these troubles.
