Last evening we attended the revival meeting, now in progress at the Methodist Church. The meeting was largely attended and much enthusiasm was manifested in support of the good cause of religion. While many may differ with them in regard to their particular belief, there is no doubt but that much good has been done by these meetings, not only in the way of leading disbelievers to the throne of grace, but in reviving many who had backslid. It does one good to attend these meetings, and to learn the oft-repeated tale of the "milk and honey" who "died that we might live."

And then through grace to see His face,
And dwell with Him in glory.

The meeting of the Literary Society, in the School House, last evening, was largely attended. The exercises were of a very interesting nature, consisting of declamations, dialogues, recitations, &c.

A Lancaster man, in a great hurry to finish his dinner on Friday, attempted to swallow a large piece of meat, and narrowly escaped choking to death. One person ran a spoon/handle down the suffering man's throat, while another gave him a heavy blow on the back, which dislodged the meat and saved his life.

A railroad indignation meeting was held in Tidoute, on Friday evening, at which resolutions strongly denouncing Senator McCure's proposed amendment to the free rail road law were adopted.

Citizen Masley's married life does not appear to be very smooth. His bride, so called, administered a severe beating to him with a cane. Tonawanda biters had no effect whatever on the bride, as despite his roaring in regard to Niagara Falls and Buffalo being united by marriage, the blows fell thick and fast on his devoted head, until he made Rome howl with his cries to be let alone.

Billy Morehead, who does the agreeable at the Dolly Varden Saloon, is considerably of a genius. Although not a Yankee clock peddler, yet he can repair clocks as well as the next one. Recently he has devoted himself to doctoring up a clock to make it appear like a colored lady of fashion. By the use of a cork leg, wax nose, and a profusion of silks and satins done up in paint, he has made a presentable looking wench. It can be seen at that saloon in full dress and good running order at any time.

One of Sawley's livery teams ran away this afternoon, creating considerable excitement. They ran at a break neck pace over the Egbert flats and up McCray Hill. No one was in the cutter at the time of the run away.

A new well located on the Lamb farm, between this place and Titusville, on the new territory, is making a fine show. It is now twenty feet in the sand and has 600 feet of oil in the hole. Indications are good for a big well. Should this prove the case a large scope of new territory will be opened up.

Oil, both crude and refined, sold cheaper in New York, yesterday, than has been known for years. The probabilities are that it will go still lower. Meantime the oil regions never experienced so hard a time financially as at present. This will be the case until the production is reduced to the law of supply and demand.

The Savannah Republican becomes classical in referring to the burning of an old negro in his shanty. "We doubt not the poor and desolate old man was snatched by the fire from the lingering tortures of a death by starvation; or, it may be, that he had died already from the combined effects of exposure in the morass and exhaustion from the want of food, and that the home that was consumed above him was but the funeral pyre that accident or superstition ignored."

The Appeal tells of a Memphis lady who wrote to a New York matrimonial agent for a husband. The agent transferred the letter to a crusty old bachelor, who in replying to it, accidentally substituted for his own photograph that of a pet orang outang. The lady answered: "There is certainly not much personal beauty about you, but you appear to have an honest, manly face. I accept."

The excitement on the McClelland farm the past week has been intense. On Sunday night about dark they penetrated the sand rock, when the well commenced to flow at the rate of 50 barrels a day. On Monday morning drilling was resumed and continued until noon, when the flow of oil and pressure of gas prevented further operations. Tanks were erected as quickly as possible, and in twenty-four hours from casing the well it flowed near 400 barrels of oil actual measurement. This well is located about 1 1/2 miles Northeast from Greece City.

Preston and others are putting down a well on the Young farm, about 80 rods Northwest of the McClelland well. It is now 1000 feet deep.

Today the Young farm was the scene of another display of the Herculean art of proving 'right of title'. It is hard to tell which will be winner in this case; suppose it will depend on the bounty paid for recruits.

The Lambing and Angell well at Stevensons, (formerly Brinker's) mill is nearly completed, being now below the boulder. The gas in this well is so strong that it throws the salt water clear over the derrick, and the weight of 12,000 feet of it in the hole. — [Eminton Sun.

The native Sandwich Islanders are fast going the way of all flesh. A very late census shows that while for the last six years the births on the Islands of other than from the native parentage exceeds the deaths, yet the deaths among all classes exceeds the births, and at the same rate of deaths over births the native will become extinct within thirty years.

A St. Louis Judge disbarred a lawyer for retaining too much. The lawyer kept from his client all that had recovered for his client. If it were a cause for disbarring lawyers that they take the meat and hand the client the shell we fancy the legal profession would not be as crowded as it now is. Some clients have cause to congratulate themselves that beside losing the money recovered of their debtors, they are not called upon to pay costs beside.

The Lowell, Mass., Courier relates the following story of a vacant house: "There is near the Boston and Lowell Railroad in Somerville, a handsome brick house, just discernible from the cars as they enter a cut on the road bed, which has a romantic history. It was built by a rising young lawyer of Boston who was engaged to be married. He had fully furnished the house, in anticipation of soon making it his home with his young wife, when the engagement was broken off, for reasons which if they could be related, would greatly add to the romance of the story. The disappointed lover shut up his new house, just as it was declaring it should not be opened as long as the would be bride should live. That was nearly twenty years ago; and the furnished but untenanted house still stands closed, just as it was prepared to welcome its expected mistress.
