The Literary Society will not meet this evening. Adjourned to meet Thursday evening, on account of the absence of the President.

The special train on Saturday night conveyed a large number of people to Titusville to attend the Rubenstein concert.

Friend Davis informs us that the Central House is doing a good business at present.

The Columbia farm is producing about 300 barrels per day. The Company have several new derricks up and will commence drilling soon.

Butler county oil field appears to be the rage at present. A good many are talking of moving to that point the coming spring. We incline to the belief that the excitement at that point will prove similar to that of Pleasantville—very short lived. We would advise those who talk of leaving in a hurry by moving to that point. There's many a slip twixt the cup and lip.

The Crocker well, located on the flats, about a mile below this city, struck on Thursday last, at a depth of six hundred feet, was flowing on Saturday at the rate of two hundred barrels daily. Give us the flats in preference to any territory along the river, for producing oil.—[Titusville Courier.

The Pittsburgh Gazette says: "Reports were excluded from the meeting of liquor men at City Hall yesterday." It is evident the "quer men of Pittsburgh know the fallacy of the reporters of that city.

We have given the particulars of the shooting affray, which took place at Pittsburgh, after the prize fight, in which Harrison and Fairchild, both well known in the oil regions, were victims of each other's hands. It was supposed Harrison was severely if not mortally wounded, but the following from the Dispatch of Saturday, says not so, as Harrison is missing. "Mention was made in day before yesterday's issue of the fact that an information for assault and battery had been made before Alderman McMaisters against the man Harrison, who was shot during the fracas at the Rush House last Monday night. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of one of the Alderman's officers, but supposing the accused to be in a critical condition from his wound, no effort was made to secure his arrest. On inquiring for him at his boarding house last night, however, it was stated that he had left the city for parts unknown yesterday morning. From this fact it would appear that his wounds are not so serious as supposed, or else that he was exceedingly anxious to get away."

Plumer Items.

Our beautiful snow has gone. Business is looking up in Plumer. The school boys crowd have dissolved. Our young friend, Mr. L. L. Calbertson, has made his appearance on the street once more, after a very serious sickness of some four weeks duration. The evening writing class has been discontinued. Mr. O. O. Calbertson has returned from the Butler oil field. He reports things favorable in that section.

Rev. Graham, who exhorted so successfully in this place, is conducting a like series of meetings at Pitohole with unprecedented success.

The school boys crowd enjoyed the last sleigh ride of the season.

Miss host Alden, of the Plumer House, contemplates removing from this place as soon as a suitable location is secured. His removal will leave a vacancy in our midst that cannot easily be filled.

On Friday night, some person or persons did willfully and maliciously break in, "go through" and "clean out" a store owned by Mr. J. W. McClure. Goods to the amount of $250 were confiscated by the thieves.—The loss will be heavily felt by Mr. M.

Can any person throw light on the church robbery. We give a statement of the facts as follows: Some time within the past two weeks the missionary box of the U. P. Church was broken open and over $200 taken therefrom.

On last Friday, a young friend of ours visited the Public School of this place, for the purpose of witnessing the regular proceedings of the day, consisting in part of Essays, Dialogues, &c. He had earnestly seated himself, when he was commanded to leave the room. As he had conducted himself in a very gentlemanly manner and had given no cause whatever for such treatment, he thought it strange that a teacher should vent herself with the power to eject visitors from the school building, especially on a purely private and personal spite. If we have ever said or written anything that we are sorry for in regard to the management of the Plumer School, we are willing and ready at any time to make reparation therefor.

More anon.

The Scranton Times says that a game of curling was played Wednesday afternoon at Pittston, and was one of the most exciting of the season. The contestants were a rink of the Pittston club and one of the Barns club. After some very fine playing on both sides, the latter were declared the victors by a majority of three shots.

The Titusville Herald has the biggest kind of enterprise. Local Option items having ceased to be of interest, on Saturday that paper published an obituary notice of Queen Victoria. That lady is not dead, but will no doubt appreciate the notice. "The first daily" is ahead yet.

The citizens of Petrolia are erecting a lock up to provide quarters for the unruly. This is as it should be.

They talk about a "man with a silver horn" up in Jamestown. Down here anybody can get a horn with dirty scrip.

Parker Oil Field.

GREYCE CITY.

The well on the McCelland farm still continues to yield large quantities of oil. The Morrison well No. 2, it is said, has increased from 50 to 55 or 60 barrels per day. A monster iron tank, a short distance below town, the largest we think in this entire oil district, is fast approaching completion.

The Gordon well is said to fill up with mud or sand, in consequence of which it has not been yielding more than 25 or 30 barrels daily.

Collins Brothers struck the sand in a new well located near the old Morrison well, on Friday of last week, since which time large quantities of oil have flowed therefrom at regular intervals. The indications are that it will prove a good well.

Fleming Bros., are drilling a well on the Jamison farm, at Greyce City, and succeeded in penetrating the third sand at some depth on Sunday last, when oil at once commenced flowing from the hole in large quantities. The indications thus far go to show that the well will equal any which have heretofore been struck in the vicinity. The hole, it is said fills to some extent with salt water—hence it is necessary that the sand pump bailer should be used at regular intervals. This is the excuse given by the workman for prosecuting their work on Sunday.

We are accustomed at this time of the year to effecting appeals for charity for some of the many ills that the flesh is heir to. But here is an appeal founded on a heartrending want. Mr. Frank Buckland, writing about the baby hippopotamus, at the English Zoological Garden, plaintively asks: Will nobody give him an ivory or india rubber ring? Here is a case of real distress! We have sorrowful interest; we have sad tales of distress, and even now and then a story of some poor wretch that is starved to death. But then he is only a pauper whom nobody owns; whereas this baby hippopotamus is very valuable property, and so we must be minutely informed how "he allows Prescott, the keeper, to tickle his ears" (as if a man mightn't tickle his own ears if he likes); how "he opens his great mouth quite wide, and delights in having his gums rubbed"; and a great deal more. The only wonder is that a daily bulletin is not issued. Mr. Buckland is sorry to say that the baby rhinoceros is dead. And so are we, though we shall not put on mourning, our only consolation being that we shall now be spared some gushing writing on his progress towards the youth of rhinoceroshood that we should otherwise have had.

A great source of wealth to West Virginia, which has been rendered accessible by the completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, is the inexhaustible forests of the finest timber that the sun of heaven ever shone upon. Already portable saw-mills can be found in the midst of these forests in the vicinity of the road, sawing into plank, and fitting for the builders' use, trees that have been standing for centuries waiting for the woodman's ax.

Shipbuilding was never more active at Detroit than at the present time. The extremely cold weather of the winter, some what retarded operations, yet the work has progressed favorably. Ten steam vessels, three tugs and seven sailing vessels are now on the stocks, some of them nearly ready for launching, while a large number of others are under contract. The Tribune claims that Detroit has better facilities and can build vessels cheaper than any other place.
