POLICE.—The Commonwealth vs. Mickey Mike. The defendant was arrested on oath of A. Stokes, of Crawford county, on a charge of stabbing with intent to kill. This is the stabbing case which took place April 5th, a report of which was published in the Record of that date. The defendant was arrested Saturday night at a house at the mouth of Benneboff Run. The evidence was exceedingly conflicting, through out, a part of the witnesses swearing that Stokes was the man who had the knife instead of Mike. Several witnesses swore that Stokes was too drunk to know whether he had been cut or not, while others testified to hearing Mickey Mike say he would "cut Stokes and a guts and liver out." The result of the hearing was that Justice Reynolds held the defendant in the sum of $300 to appear at Franklin to answer the charge at the April Term of Quarter Sessions.

Falling to procure the requisite security he will be taken down to-night.

The correspondent of the Oil City Derrick was in town on Saturday. In his report this morning he feelingly alludes to the fact that there is a "temperance sabob" in town. The proprietor informs us the aforesaid correspondent dropped into his saloon and called for a "big drink of whiskey." He failed to procure it, hence the intimation. We might add that liquor cannot be procured at any of the hotels or saloons in this town. Local option settled the bill for good.

The New York Herald's Havana special says the Captain General states that two letters from Céspedes were found on its correspondent, O'K. Key, and he was treated as a spy.

We received a call this forenoon from our friends, Messrs. J. F. Villa, S. B. Villa, & Col. J. H. Rice, the well known proprietor, manager and advance agent of the Agnes Wallace Comic Opera Troupe, who are to appear at the Opera House, this evening.— We have had the pleasure of meeting Mr. S. B. Villa several times heretofore and have always found him an honorable, high-minded gentleman both in a business and social point of view, and the same may be said of Mr. J. F. Villa and Col. Rice. Of Mr. Villa's abilities as an actor we need say nothing, as he is well known as a first-class star both in the profession and outside.— Miss Agnes Wallace, the gem of the Wallace Sisters, is the leading lady of the troupe. She is too well known to all theatregoers, and outsiders for that matter, to need any recommendation from us. We would advise all to attend this evening, as it will amply repay them for their time and money.

Petroleum Centre was the scene of a cock fight on Wednesday last, which gave the Record a chance for an item. When the town is unusually dull the Record gives full reports of all the "battles" held in the numerous houses of ill-fame which abound "on the creek."—Jamestown Journal.

The report of which said balls appear to "strike a tender and sympathetic chord" in the bosom of the local of the Journal. We have an indistinct remembrance of the evil doings of one Root, at one of the aforesaid balls at Titusville, while the aforesaid Root was connected with one of the Titusville papers, and of hearing it said that the aforesaid Root was root-ed out of the ball for bad conduct. Don't go back on your sporting female friends, Journal, "by the memory of the past."

The young gent armed with a bottle of bourbon, of doubtful proof, and a piece of calico hanging to his arm, who stopped to lubricate near the Boyd farm bridge, the other Sunday, and both got jolly drunk; so much so that they had to be helped out, is known to us. Don't do so any more, or we will give you a first class advertisement, with full name and particulars.

Arrangements have been finally concluded on the completion of the Northern Pacific Railway to a practical connection with the waters of Puget Sound.

The New York Evening Post printing and newspaper establishment was sold last week for one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. No species of property has advanced more rapidly in value during the last few years than newspaper establishments.

Chicago's Police Commissioners have decreed that if a policeman shall drink even one glass of liquor when on duty he shall be discharged.

Mr. Geo. W. Swift, better known as "Doc" Swift, has disposed of his billiard room, and left town this forenoon for his home at Rochester, N. Y. He is one of our oldest citizens, and bears with him the best wishes of a host of friends for his future welfare. Good luck to you, Doc.

Some striking carpenters in Brooklyn made threatening demonstrations yesterday against a party of men at work, but left on the appearance of the police.

The sixth annual reunion of the Sixth Army Corps will be held in the Temple of Music, New Haven, on the 14th of May.

A New York drummer arrived at the capital of Kentucky the other day, and one of the first things that met his vision was a party of a hundred or more mountaineers, who had come down with raft, stalwart and rough looking fellows, accented after their usual style. "Good God!" exclaimed the new comer, "I thought Bragg's army had left, or I would have gone on."

A gentleman lately returned from Washington says that rheumatism is prevalent among the government officials there, and he attributes it to the fact that they use too little red flannel in proportion to their allowance of red tape.

It is known at Salt Lake that Brigham Young will resign the Presidency of the Utah Central and Southern Railroads and accompany a missionary company to Arizona, which will be large, as it is intended to be employed in building Tom Scott's Southern Pacific Railroad. Emigration will be promoted, in order to increase the mission, as the political control of Arizona is looked to.

The Welland Ship Canal will be opened for the passage of vessels between Lakes Erie and Ontario on the 21st instant.

Judge Kelley announces his intention to advocate, at the earliest possible moment, a system of free banking based upon our national bonds.

Baltimore Councils have ordered the preparation of a memorial to the State Legislature asking the extension of the city limits.

Pleasurelovers will bear in mind that Miss Agnes Wallace, the gem of the Wallace Sisters, will appear at Sobel's Opera House, this evening, in the celebrated burlesque drama of Clorinda, the Girl of the Period. Speaking of her the Columbia State Journal says:

"The Agnes Wallace Troupe commenced their engagement at the Athenaeum last night. Miss Wallace appeared as Prince Poppetti in "Clorinda," and gave a specimen of the dash, music and poetry of motion that has secured her a leading position in the burlesque and comic opera business. Her long golden hair shows to good advantage, and there are few ladies that can boast that all they wear is their own. Mr. Sam B. Villa in his female characters cannot be excelled, and can burlesque a prima donna in fine style. His singing is really splendid, and he assumes the airs and graces in a fascinating manner. The comedian, Steve W. Ashley, ranks among the best in the profession, and as the Irish Emigrant, study, he is a superior vocalist."

Miss Lizzie Ballentine displays a high order of talent in her roles and wins the favor of all by her evident desire to please. Miss Sabra Deshor gave proof of extraordinary powers of theatrical delineation. Miss Ada Harcourt and in fact all the ladies are pleasing in the parts assigned to them.— Mr. Frank Edwards is a first class song and dance artist. Prof. Hill and Mr. Ellis are the best of musicians, and everything is done in a manner that cannot fail to please all who have a taste for the drama.

The police have received orders to prosecute all persons who are found with slings in their possession.—[Boston Globe.

As it is said there are over three thousand grog shops in "prohibition" Boston, the arrest of all persons who have "slings in their possession"—gin, brandy and whisky slings—would make the police business lively.— Perhaps it refers to the young Davids of Boston who sling stones in the streets.— We notice the "sling" nuisance is appearing in our streets—it is not only an annoyance but a danger, and should be suppressed.

A letter upon alligators of the St. John's river, Florida, in the New York Sun says, the guests at the hotel at Enterprise—which is up in the alligator region of the St. John's—"sit upon the verandah hour after hour polishing alligator teeth with sand paper and buckskin." These teeth, gold mounted, make very pretty watch chain charms. Visitors to Florida, further down the river,—that is Northern Florida, for the St. John's has the eccentricity of running up North—have another amusement, the polishing "sea beans." A sea bean, so called, is like a small sized horse chestnut, though more the shape of a large fat lima bean. They are picked up on the coast and permit a very high polish. Visitors are too lazy for any greater exertion than the polishing of these beans. First the rat tail file is used and that followed by sand paper. As the bean is a poor thing to get hold of, it slips in delicate hands and lady fingers catch the rasp of the file. Every now and then one hears the long drawn inward inspiration, u-g-h, and knows by instinct that a rat tail file has made itself too familiar with the tender fingers of some hand not used to labor. But the filing and the rubbing must go on as if the proceeds of the labor were necessary for daily bread. Pocket loads of teeth and beans are yearly brought out of Florida, and we imagine the demand for these articles keeps a large force employed, during the fashionable vacation, in manufacturing them, though every purchaser is guaranteed his bean floated from the far off Mediterranean and his tooth was taken by the salesman himself out of the alligator's mouth.

Spring, with dainty foot and ankle, steps lightly over the golden line that parts the seasons. She shivers a little, glancing backward at the snow and snow and ice, and the big rain rains, then smiles ahead at the soft air full of a filtered gold, the singing of birds, the fragrance of flowers, and the aroma of new mown hay.

The Massachusetts Association of Classical and High School Teachers held its sixth annual meeting in Boston, Saturday, when papers are promised by President Elliot, Professor Agassiz, and other prominent educators.

There is some difference of opinion among navigators acquainted with the "iron bound coast" east of Halifax, as to the force of the easterly current there, but they are agreed in this, that far better lighthouses are needed than the Dominion government affords.

Local Notices.

CHANGE.—The firm of Meuse & Armstrong long engaged in the flour and feed trade in this place, have disposed of their store and business to a gentleman from Titusville, who takes charge on Monday next. We are sorry to lose these gentlemen from the business interest of the town, but are pleased to learn that it is not their intention to remove from this place. They desire us to return their sincere thanks to their patrons for the liberal patronage extended them during the past two or three years. They also desire us to request all parties indebted to them to call and settle at once as their books must be balanced within the next few days.

The local option law must be enforced. From and after this date and up to the day the local option law goes into effect, I will sell all kinds and brands of wine, liquor at retail at wholesale prices, as by law must be closed out. Now is the time so purchase a little vital for home use.
