A series of experiments will be made the coming Autumn to ascertain, if possible, the causes of steam boiler explosions. So far the nature of some explosions remains a mystery, in spite of all the researches of experts. The experiments will be conducted under the authority of Congress, one hundred thousand dollars having been appropriated for the purpose and the President requested to cause the necessary investigations to be made.

Do not forget the concert to be given by the Mozart Musical Society, at the Opera House, this evening. We can assure all who attend a rare musical treat, as the programme is composed of a large number of beautiful pieces of vocal and instrumental music.

P. S.—We learn that Prof. Wilder of Boston, an accomplished teacher of music, arrived in town this afternoon in company with Mr. Blake, who will take part in the concert tonight. This will form an extra attraction to attend the concert.

There is a new candy firm in town. Doc. Hievely bantered Charley Williams after this fashion: That he, Hievely, would purchase and pay for two pounds of candy provided Williams would distribute the said candy to every child he met the length of the street, Doc. to accompany him and see that the programme was carried out. Charley allowed that he never was and would not be bantered. Accordingly the purchase was made and the new firm started out to fulfill the agreement.

Modern Lo—"the poor Indian of un-tutored mind"—is an unmitigated liar. But in Bible times it seems it was not so, for in St. John 16:23, we read: "Lo, speakest thou plainly, and speakest no proverb."

It is the general opinion that the pestiferous potato bug succumbed to last winter's frigidty.

One of the parties to the murderous duel at Richmond is dead. Mr. Mordecai, one of the two, least in fault, has died of his wounds. The other party, Mr. McCarty, is badly wounded, but will probably live to commit murder again. Mr. Mordecai was a young lawyer of promise and connected with one of "the first families of Virginia."

We would call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of R. A. Lozier, proprietor of the new confectionery store and ice cream saloon, two doors above Sobel & Auerbach's dry goods store. He has the largest and finest stock of confectionery in this place which he is selling at remarkably low rates.

The following is a report of the number of paupers, cost of keeping, &c., in Cornplanter Township: Number of paupers in Cornplanter Township from March 1st, 1872, to December 26th, 1872, 67

Billy Spear has fitted up several rooms over his saloon as an ice cream parlor, and desires us to announce to the public that he will open the same tomorrow. He proposes to keep on hand the purest and coolest of ice cream, and respectfully invites his friends to pay him a call.

Mrs. Carman and Miss Henderson will sing several new pieces at the Concert this evening.

The new well of Irwin, Egbert & Woods, on the Pierce farm, is now testing with a good show.

Some tradesmen think it would be a good plan for them to send in their little bills on postal cards to customers who are dilatory in coming down with the cash.

Somebody advertises in the Bloomfield, Illinois, Pantagraph for the whereabouts of a missing man "of weak intellect."

A motion for the establishment of reciprocal trade with the Sandwich Islands has been made in the Canadian Parliament, in the hope that by some such legislation the growing commerce of the United States in that quarter may be subverted.

The average value of the products of manufactures per head of the population by the census of 1870 was, in New York, $179; in Pennsylvania, $202; in Connecticut 300; in Massachusetts, $380; Rhode Island, $513.

Captain Hall leaves a wife and two children, who have been living in Cincinnati. The wife was on the cars, en route for New Hampshire, to visit her mother, who is dangerously ill, when informed of her husband's death. The son is a boy at school. The daughter, about sixteen years of age, was overwhelmed with sorrow.

The Connecticut House has already before it a resolution condemning the salary grab. The people of the United States are farther along than this. They have considered a similar resolution and passed it with a most unparalleled unanimity.

The completion and occupation of the first building in the burnt district was celebrated in Boston last week, the building being a plain substantial brick edifice, four stories in height.

We bear a rumor to the effect that within a short time several trains on the Oil Creek Railroad are to have no stopping points between Oil City and Titusville. We give the rumor for what it is worth, but presume it to be untrue. It would be a very foolish move to say the least.

The first shad caught in the Sacramento river has been preserved in alcohol by the California Academy of Science.

Less Desamisados (the shirtless), the new Red Republican organ in Madrid, clothes itself with curses as with a garment.

Chicago has concluded to raft her timber across Lake Michigan. A lot that is wanting is plenty of logs and steam power, and reliable weather reports.

At a meeting of women in Rochester to take action and counsel upon their oppressed sex, Miss Susan B. Anthony advised women who are property holders to refuse to pay taxes until they are allowed representation. Miss A. said that she knew a woman in that section who had for six years refused to pay any taxes upon her property.

The paper manufacturers of the South are making a very good article from the leaves of palmetto.

A Michigan clergyman has added new attractions to his services by attacking theaters and circuses, and allowing the representatives of those institutions who happen to be in his audience an opportunity of replying.

The charitable people of Holyoke, Mass., who have supported an old Irishman all winter, have lost much of their faith in human nature since learning that he has paid $6,000 cash for a house and lot.

Already before the trees are in leaf, gossip runs upon the summer resorts. As usual, Newport is to be "top side." Thibber will resort the wealthiest and respectable, the diplomatic crops, the operative star now in perigee, and great numbers of "professional and literary people."

The first experiment in illustrated daily journalism would seem to have turned out surprisingly well. The New York Graphic asserts that its circulation is now larger than that of any evening newspaper in the United States and more than double the combined circulation of any two evening papers printed in New York city.

Westward the star of suicide takes its way. New York has hitherto done the heaviest business, but Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Cleveland now compete with her.

The eleventh commandment, delivered expressly to Congressmen who have aspirations, "Thou shalt not brag!"

Glycerine has been suggested as a de-oxidant for steam boilers, and it has the property of attacking the residue of lime precipitated by the expositions of the free carbonic acid in boiling and redissolving it.

Michigan is going to treat its convict with consideration. Hereafter they are freed from the humiliation of wearing stripped garments, and can correspond with their friends. The State also provides for their education, and gives each one, when discharged, a suit of clothes, ten dollars in cash and such money as he may have earned by over work.

The cotton estimates at the South range between 3,750,000 bales and 3,850,000 bales while at the North they vary between 3,800,000 bales and 4,000,000 bales. We always look to the South for the lowest estimate, and to the North for the highest; and probably the truth may prove to be somewhere between these extremes.

Boston has seventeen public baths this year, and they will remain open from the 1st of June until the end of September. The cost last year was $40,565. Five of the houses are for girls and women. Pittsburg has none.

The Modocs are like the Irishman's flea; you put your finger on them, and they are not there. The troops surrounded the place where the Modocs had taken up their quarters—and the Modocs were several miles away.

A petition is being circulated in New York for the recall of the British Consul General Archibald, from that port. It is claimed that his interference in matters not strictly within the line of his duty has caused embarrassment to the shipping interest.

Eight new iron furnaces are building on the line of the Selma, Rome and Dalton Railroad.

Boston has been operating the theatre business and now it is found expedient to cut down the number of establishments.

An exchange statute in England there is a law forbidding a man to marry the sister of his widow after she is dead. In this country there is no law that effect, but the custom is not a common one.

Obituary of a Western Editor.

Ye editor sat in his rickety chair, as worried as worried could be, for ye devil was grinning before him there, and "copy!" ye devil said he.

Oh, ye editor grabbed his big quill pen, and it spluttered ye ink so free, that his manuscript looked like a war map, when,—"Take this," to the devil spake he.

He scribbled and scratched through the live-long day, no rest or refreshment had he; for the devil kept constantly coming that way, and howling for more "cop-ee."

Day after day he scribbled and wrote, a saying the whole countree; while ye devil kept piping his single note, "A little more outside cop-ee!"

And when ye boys in ye new-room beat the sound of unequal fray, the voice of a blow and a blasphemous word, "He's raisin the devil!" say they.

And oft when a man with a grievance came in, ye editor man to see, he'd turn his back with a word of sin—"Go talk to ye devil," said he.

And ever and oft, when a 'proof' of his work ye proprietor wanted to see, "Ye proof shall be shown by my personal clerk; and must go to ye devil," said he.

And thus he was destined through all of his life, by th' spirit tormented to be; of hunger and poverty, sorrow and strife, always close to ye devil was he.

Ye editor died. But ye devil lived on! And the force of life's habits we see, for ye editor's breath no sooner was gone, than straight to ye devil went he.

The experiment recently made in Ohio of placing women at the head of all the schools below the high schools is pronounced a decided success. The instruction and discipline have been as good as formerly, there have been fewer difficulties between teachers and, fewer complaints have been made by parents against teachers.

Buffalo Tentons have called an indignation meeting because German is not to be taught in the public schools.

The demagogue who heads the strike of the Rhode Island operatives, now threatens a run on the savings banks if their demands are not complied with. This reveals the character of the man, and if he attempts to have his threat carried out the sensible portion of his followers will abandon him.

Our war melodies, especially the later ones, which responded to the popular mood with the most fidelity, are being taken up by the English lower classes. The farm laborers unions are making campaign songs out of them. "When Johnny comes marching home again," and "Tramp, tramp, tramp, etc." are particular favorites.

It is said in illustration of the great velocity of the winds in Wyoming Territory, that a gentleman in Cheyenne, losing his hat in the street, rushed to the telegraph office and telegraphed to Denver, Col., requesting that his hat might be stopped there, but was immediately informed that it had gone by, travelling southward.

The streams of Virginia are very much swollen by the recent rains, and already great damage has been done. There are fears that the floods will be as disastrous as those of 1870.
