TORPEDO PATENT SUITS.
Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKean, at May Term of the Circuit Court in the above case:
In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania—R. A. J. Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer—No. 1—May Term 1873.—In Equity.

November 23, 1872. Bill filed and subpoena issued. Subsequent notice of application for preliminary injunction served.
December 23, 1872. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised in the premises, the injunction awarded as prayed for, and denied it was.
January 14, 1873. Injunction issued, and on the 24th day of January indorsement served personally and by copy.
May 21, 1873. Bills issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction and duly served.
June 23, 1873. Indorsement attachment in this case made due to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised in the premises, the Rule is made absolute, and the sentence of the Court is, that the said Nicholas, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of ten days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.

June 20, 1873. Commitment issued.
The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No. 3—stated the Rev. Patent, for increasing the productiveness of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in sinking Alexandria Hamar in exploding torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Hamar was also committed in the case No. 5, No. vander Term, 1868, as before stated.

The Court McKean, J., after delivering his opinion in the Hamar case, proceeded to sentence Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following oral opinion:
In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with the same offense, I am entirely satisfied that there was no infringement in the Hamar well in fact. As I have indicated to the world in the course of the argument, the presence of fluid in the well, whether derived or not, is an infringement of the patent, and a breach of the injunction of the Court.
Mr. Roberts, by his patent uses as one of the principal elements of his invention the dynamite, and wherever there is a fluid sufficient in a well, as the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to operate as tampering, whether it comes there naturally or is put there artificially, his patent is infringed. This was clearly the case in regard to the Hamar well.
But Mr. Geyer seems to have been misled by Hamar, who told him that he merely wanted to make an experiment, and I do not think, this being the first time, that he ought to be very severely punished.
He also is indebted entirely to contentment and endeavor to pay the costs of this proceeding, and bring an injunction in the Hamar well for the same purpose, and I think it will be the best of all courses, because, if this case for contempt is not settled, we will be not supposed to impose such punishment as will lead to make the desires of the Court effectual.
