JAMES WILSON, M. W. JAMES S. WHITE, Rec'r.

Another Big Well.

Our townsman, Mr. S. A. Woods, is once more in luck, as the following dispatch explains:

Greece City, Pa., July 25—10:30 a. m. Ed. Record:

Woods and Ripley well No. 2 doing two hundred and fifty barrels per day. Greece City not played out.

Wm. P. BLACKMON, Supt.

Mr. Woods is at present in town and from him we learn that the well struck the sand yesterday afternoon, and that for the first seven hours and a half it flowed fifty-seven and a half inches in a tank the dimensions of which we did not learn, but the amount of oil was 130 barrels. ...

We congratulate our friend Woods on his good luck. May it continue.

Old "time's rocks" himself, Quartermaster Alf. Myers, of St. Petersburg, is in town today. Alf. is as jolly and good natured as ever, in fact the "old well" never looked less a wolf than at present. ...

The new well owned by the Columbia Bros. and located on the Pierce farm, upper Bensehoff Run, was torpeded yesterday and the production materially increased.

Joe Herrick, is a pilgrim en route to the Celestial City, otherwise Kane City. He dominates Rousesville as the Stough of Despond, from the fact that he "stopped off" there and was compelled to turn street walker for the want of a bed. ...

We are informed from reliable sources that the Warren & Venango Railroad Company are only awaiting the result of the decision in the injunction served on them by the Oil Creek Railroad, to go ahead with the work of building the road down the Creek. ...

"Where are the men of '76?" shouted a stump-orator "Dad," responded a sad looking man to the middle-aged...

We have been favored with a copy of the Bismarck Tribune published at Bismarck, Dakota Territory. This is located at, if not the "end of the world," at least the end of civilization in the direction of the Rocky mountains.

Bismarck is an enterprising little town of about three hundred inhabitants, but growing fast. Its society is not the most select, but the men are all enterprising, and able to run several establishments at once, even if they are of different characters, as witness the following item from the paper:

Limp Jack is Secretary of the Sunday school organization at Jamestown. He is a finely educated man and a thorough saloon keeper believes that it requires something in addition to the whiskey interest to build up a town.

The editor denies the following item published in the St Paul Dispatch:

On each side of the clergymen, faro banks were in steady operation, and though the players were quietly intent on their business, yet the rattling of their ivory chips was distinctly to be heard in the pauses of the prayer and sermon. ...

He says that church was held in a hall originally erected for a gambling saloon but now used for all public purposes. He also says of a man who shot another; "although a gambler, he is very much of a gentleman."

The visitors at the printing office are very select, as we read that among the callers, was "Bear's Ear, a noble red man, who looked over the presses with a great deal of interest."

Buildings go up very rapidly in Bismarck. People who have lived through the winter in tents are now erecting houses. The following item will give some idea of the buildings there and how they are "rushed up": The Tribune building 29x30 was completed Wednesday morning; by Saturday completely enclosed, windows, doors, and floor in and the office, including a Taylor Cylinder Press and a Quarter Medium Gordon Jobber, set up ready for business, and one and a half columns of type for the paper set.

And thus the new city is built up. One year ago the first building was started, and now seventy are erected, and in two months hence, it will boast of 2,500 inhabitants.—Yankee energy, perseverance and enterprise is developed everywhere, and soon hundreds of such towns will be springing up along the various railroad routes of the great west.

We have neglected to mention the fact that those of our subscribers who do not desire to pay the increased postage can be accommodated at this office, in other words they can get their papers here free of postage.

The carrying trade over the Oil Creek Railroad at present is immense, especially in coal and lumber.

A domestic row case from Plumer was to have been before the Justice this morning, but was continued for one week at the request of the defendant. When it comes of we shall report.

Col. Whittensy, we are pleased to learn, is doing a thriving business in the manufacture of Valve Cups. The cups made by him are by far the best in the market.

The Union City Oil well.

The Times says the rig is nearly completed to sink another well at Union City. The well is being put down under the supervision of Captain J. D. Phillips, an old prospector who thoroughly understands the business. ...

The water well which was put down three weeks since by Messrs. Poor & Stranaham is still producing oil in small quantities, despite the weight of seventy-two feet of water in the tubing, which naturally has a tendency to render the oil modest and reticent. ...

That there is oil here, and that of the most valuable quality, is demonstrated beyond doubt. A fourteen-foot well recently sunk in the yard of a private house, situated some ten rods from the site of the new oil well, produced a considerable quantity of this heavy oil, and it "crops out" at various places in the valley of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad at this point. ...

Old Joe — was a quiet old man, but somehow too fond of the bottle. When in cups his ideas tended toward theological matters, which he always avoided in his sober moments. It was Saturday afternoon (Connecticut banking day) and his good wife wanted some wood for the oven.

"Joe, I do wish you would go and split some wood; here it is nearly two o'clock, and the fire isn't made.

Joe went out to execute his commission, and fearing his physical condition was weak, marched to the neighboring tavern to fortify himself thereto. He returned home utterly oblivious to all things save his pet theories. Seating himself on a chair, he said:

"I say (hic) Jane, do (hic) you think (hic) the Lord (hic) means to burn us all (hic) up in fire?"

His venerable spouse, being exceedingly irate, did not answer. Again he repeated the question. Still on ominous silence.

"Wife, do you think the Lord means to burn us all up in fire everlasting?"

"No!" said the now thoroughly aroused housewife; "no, you old fool, not if he waits for you to split the wood!"
