THE

TORREY PATENT

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer

The following is the decision rendered by McKennan, J., May Term of the Circuit Court above cited:

In the Circuit Court of the United States, for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—In Equity. 1873.—In Equity.

November 21, 1868. Bill filed and issued.

Subpœna and return of service thereof. Preliminary injunction served.

December 16, 1868. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised, the premises, the injunction awarded as prayed and decree filed.

January 14, 1869. Injunction bond approved, 20th day of February following for argument and by order.

May 26, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue against him for violating injunction heretofore duly served.

June 2d, 1873. Rule for attachment to be made absolute came on to be heard, and after argument, both pro and con, the Court being fully advised of the premises, the Rule is made absolute, and it is the sentence of the Court that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of ninety days, and that he pay the costs of the proceeding.

June 2d, 1873. Commitment issued.

The injunction in this case was for the infringement of the Roberts' patent of No.—(calling for the improvement), for increasing the productiveness of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in the use by Alexandra Hamar in exploding torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Hamar was also committed in the Second November Term, 1868, as before stated.

The Court McKennan, J., after delivering his opinion in the Hamar case, proceeded to render to Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following oral opinion:

In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with the same offence, I am entirely satisfied that the defendant, in the Rouse well at least, as he intimated to the counsel in the course of the argument, the presence of fluid in the well, whether fired or not, is an infringement of the patent, and a breach of the injunction of the Court.

Mr Roberts, by his patent uses as one of the principal elements of his invention fluid to [illegible] wherever there is fluid sufficient in a well at the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to cover the [illegible] whether it gets there naturally or artificially, his patent is infringed. That is clearly the case in regard to the Rouse well.

But Mr Geyer seems to have been misled by Hamar, who told him that he merely wanted to make an experiment; and I do not think that during the first time, that he ought to be very severely punished.

He also is adjudged guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for ten days. I hope this will be the last of these cases; but if the matter comes to our notice again we will be constrained to impose such punishment as will be sufficient to make the decree of the Court effectual.
