Consumption has its origin in a secretions and corrupt state of the blood, hence the falling of the red corpuscles with each breath, and the resulting weakness, etc. To cure consumption we must first catch the blood in its early stage, and then purify it.

THE TORPEDO PATENT SUITS.

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKean, at May Term of the Circuit Court in the above case: In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania—R. A. L. Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—No. 1.—May Term, 1873.—18 Equity.

November 27, 1872. Bill filed and subpoena issued. Subpoena and notice of application for preliminary injunction served.

December 13, 1872. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised in the premises, the injunction awarded as prayed for, and decree filed.

January 14, 1873. Injunction dissolved, and on the 29th day of January indictment served personally and by copy.

May 22, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction and duly served. June 24, 1873. Rule for attachment in this case came on to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised in the premises, the rule is made absolute, and the sentence of the Court is, that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of ten days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.

June 26, 1873. Commitment issued. The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No. — (called the Egg Torpedo), for increasing the productiveness of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in using Alexandria Hamar in exploding torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Hamar was also committed in the case No. 3, No. 10,000,000, as before stated.

The Court McKean, J., a fair collector of his opinion in the Hamar case, proceeded to advise Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following opinion:

In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with contempt, I am entirely satisfied that there is no infringement of the patent in this case. It is clearly the case in regard to the Hamar well. But Mr. Geyer seems to have been misled by Hamar, who has found him, and he merely wanted to make an experiment, and he did not think he was the first time, that he ought to be very sorry punished.

He also is advised guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding, and orders an attachment in the amount of ten days. I hope this will be the last of the case, because, if the matter comes to our court again, we will be constrained to impose such punishment as will tend to make the decree of the Court effective.
